SENATE VOTES TO CALL GUARD

DEWEY TO MAKE WILLKIE-M'NARY SPEAKING TOUR

Plans Midwest Drive Against Machines.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 8 [Special].—Wendell L. Willkie announced today that Thomas E. Dewey, New York prosecutor and his opponent for the Republican nomination for President, would campaign in the middle west soon for the Willkie-McNary ticket, taking as his theme the relation of political machines to good government.

"I have asked Tom Dewey to go into action very early in the campaign," said Willkie, "and he has agreed to do so. I have asked him specifically to make some talks on this subject in the middle west."

Willkie said that no dates or itinerary had been worked out for Dewey, but that Chicago and its political machine would undoubtedly come in for a major share of attention. Willkie added that he, too, would have something to say on this subject of New Deal political machines during the campaign. He said it with a smile, as if he relished the task ahead of him.

Plans to Tell People.

"I want to make it crystal clear," said Willkie, "what sort of political machines are at present controlling the Democratic party, and their relation to good government. The American people will be told about this early in the campaign."

Willkie's selection of Dewey, an expert on the relation of gangsters and government, who has already pointed out that Ed Flynn, Democratic campaign manager, once as sheriff appointed the notorious "Dutch" Schultz a deputy, shows clearly that this subject will be a theme song of the fall campaign, and Willkie is anxious to get started on it.

Plans Stay in Indiana.

Dewey will not begin his new western invasion until after the Willkie acceptance speech on Aug. 17. Willkie's own plans for the period between that day and the opening of the campaign tours in September are still indefinite. He said he would "loaf around" his old home in Indiana for a few days and then did not know just where he would go. Those who have seen his daily schedule of "loafing" here know that he will be active wherever he goes and that no vacation is possible for him.

Willkie had been invited to attend the reunion of his old army unit, the 325th field artillery, in which he was a captain in France, at Kokomo on Aug. 16, but he said he did not see how he could accept. He plans to spend the night before his notification in Rushville. He said he was still considering the invitation to attend the Chicagoland Music festival at Soldiers' field on the night of the 17th, but had not yet decided.

Willkie continues to have a stream of callers from Texas and is being urged every day to campaign there actively. He will undoubtedly go to Texas, as well as Oklahoma, during the later stage of the campaign. In the meantime the antithird term Democrats are organizing Willkie clubs and independent groups. Richard Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa, Okla., Tribune, and Henry J. Haskell, editor of the Kansas City Star, were among the callers today. Col. R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from Texas, and Hastings Harrison, a Texas Democratic leader, were other callers.

Confers with Texans.

Last evening Willkie saw John Phillips of Dallas, a Republican, and John A Purse Jr., also of Dallas, an Independent. He also talked with J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture of Texas, and with Wesley W. West, publisher of the Austin Tribune and the Dallas Journal. West said there had been a big change among the working people of Dallas and Austin during the last two weeks, in favor of the Willkie-McNary ticket. His papers, he said, would announce for Willkie.

McDonald, who was reëlected two weeks ago in the Democratic primaries for a sixth term in office, said:

"Millions of good Democrats will vote for Mr. Willkie because of the third term tradition and because of Senator Charles L. McNary, who was the author of the McNary-Haugen bill so generally approved by farmers."

O. K.'S MEASURE 71 TO 7; IT NOW GOES TO HOUSE

Foes Raise Doubt of Constitutionality.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The senate today passed a resolution giving President Roosevelt unprecedented peacetime power to order the National Guard into active federal service for a period of one year. It also authorizes him to send it into foreign lands within the limits of the western hemisphere or overseas to the territories and possessions of the United States, including the Philippine islands. The vote on final passage was 71 to 7.

Alva B. Adams.

The resolution, which now goes to the house of representatives, also authorizes the President to order the reserve and retired personnel of the regular army into active service for a period of one year.

Constitutionality Challenged.

Senators opposing the Guard mobilization resolution challenged its constitutionality on the theory that it places the war-making power in the hands of the President, whereas congress alone has power under the constitution to declare war. They challenged its constitutionality on the additional ground that congress has power to provide for calling out the militia only to execute the laws of the United States, to suppress insurrection, and to repel invasion.

Supporters of the resolution argued that it gives the President no war-making power with respect to the National Guard which he does not possess already as commander in chief of the army, of which the Guard is a component. They conceded, however, that under existing law the President can order the National Guard into federal service and make it an integral part of the regular army only after congress has declared a national emergency.

Provide for Resignations.

By a vote of 39 to 38, the senate rejected an amendment by Senator Alva B. Adams [D., Colo.] to forbid the President to send the Guard troops anywhere outride the conti-

LAKE SPEEDBOAT DASH SAVES COUPLE AFTER BLAST FIRES CRUISER

A real estate dealer and his woman companion were rescued by park police in a speedboat last night when the 30 foot cabin cruiser My Lady burned after an explosion in the lake off Randolph street, 500 feet from shore.

Richard T. Davis.

Those rescued were Richard T. Davis, 1513½ Hinman avenue, Evanston, whose real estate office is at 5252 Broadway, and Mrs. Ruth Gilbert, 35 years old, a divorcée, of 1452 Oak street, Evanston.

Davis leaped into the water while Mrs. Gilbert slipped overside, clinging to a rope attached to the rail. She shouted that she couldn't swim. Flames were creeping forward when Policeman Robert Hoffman, Life Guard John Crowley, and Pilot Jack Wuest arrived in the speedboat and took Davis and Mrs. Gilbert aboard. They were taken to the emergency hospital at Navy Pier.

Observers put the cruiser's value at $22,000, but Davis said his loss would be $3,500. The boat, reduced to a smoking hulk, was towed to the end of the pier by coast guardsmen and the fireboat Fred A. Busse put out the fire. Davis blamed the explosion on leaking gasoline.

British Beat Back 800 Hitler Planes

GREATEST AERIAL BATTLE IS FOUGHT OVER CHANNEL

German Airmen Pour Thousands of Bombs on Convoyed Ships.

Claims of both belligerents in yesterday's "greatest air battle" follow:

BRITISH—53 German planes downed; acknowledge loss of 16 fighter planes and considerable damage to shipping.

GERMAN—34 British planes downed; 15 British ships sunk, 12 by bombs, and 3 by speedboats; loss of 3 planes admitted.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Germany tonight hailed the reported destruction of 34 British warplanes in battles over the English channel and England as its greatest aerial victory since the capitulation of France and the beginning of the drive against England.

In addition to this smashing success against British air power, the Germans said their bombers had sunk 12 English merchant ships and that their speedboats had sent three other enemy vessels to the bottom within the last 24 hours. In all this action, the Germans said, only three planes were lost.

Attack at Night.

The speedboats did their attacking during the night, the German high command said, destroying one 8,000 ton tanker, and two merchantmen of 5,000 and 4,000 tons each. Three other ships were damaged and a small tanker was set afire "despite violent fire from enemy destroyers, patrol boats, and armed merchantmen," the Germans asserted.

The 12 English ships destroyed by bombers were attacked in the English channel today. The ships, traveling under a heavy convoy, totaled 55,000 tons, it was said. Seven other vessels in the same convoy were damaged.

It was during this attack that five of the 34 British planes said to have been downed during the day were accounted for. One of the three German planes admittedly lost was shot down in this engagement with British fighter planes trying to protect the convoy.

Numerous Other Fights.

The 29 other British planes claimed to have been shot from the sky were bagged in numerous other engagements.

Germans who have read and heard that big attacks always start with major air battles are wondering whether today's engagements indicate the beginning of the decisive drive against Britain. They know that small but thoroly trained special forces will be used for the attack on England, and therefore they assume there will be no unusually noticeable outward evidence when the actual campaign starts.

Diplomatic circles declare that since Aug. 1 it has become more difficult than ever to obtain permits for foreigners and even Germans to enter or leave Norway and Holland. The great value the Nazis attach to the "war of nerves" is known. Nazis have been masters in the art of striking at the crucial moment.

Believe Moment Is Near.

To judge by reports in the press, quite a number of German reporters believe that this moment is near.

The German provincial press published a special proclamation to the German people by the Nazi party, warning them that "the activity of enemy planes will increase considerably." It reminded the population that the "National Socialist party bears the burden of responsibility for this war and therefore it expects every member of the German communities to make all the necessary sacrifices—everything by the party—everything for the party."

LONDON, Aug. 8 (AP).—A mighty aerial invasion hurling 800 Nazi bombers and fighter planes against Britain's outer defenses was beaten back over the English channel today in 14 hours of fighting.

After announcing that 53 of the German raiders had been shot down and acknowledging the loss of 16 of their own fighter craft, the British indicated the severity of the Nazi air assault by admitting that several ships in the channel had suffered considerable damage and that a number of survivors had already been landed. Authoritative sources said they believed 10 other German planes probably never reached home.

More than 100 trained German pilots, observers, and air gunners were declared to have gone down to flaming deaths.

Loose Thousands of Bombs.

The Germans appeared in numbers unprecedented for this war, attacking over and over again all day long in forces of 80 each, and loosing thousands upon thousands of bombs. British fighter planes, meeting the greatest assault ever made on these islands, threw up for the mainland a shield which was not broken.

Tonight, as the air ministry still was assembling the record of the gigantic engagement, the raiders struck back thru the darkness in apparent determination to give Britain's defenders no rest. German planes were heard over Wales, along the southeast coast, over towns in the southwest, the Midlands, the strait of Dover, and the northeast. One home was demolished and a few persons injured, some fatally.

There were indications, too, that this new visitation was being repaid on a big scale by the royal air force. Late tonight radio stations in 10 German and German controled cities, including Berlin and Hamburg, fell silent—a normal indication of the presence of hostile airmen.

Heavy Attack on One Convoy.

In the last three of the day's main attacks on British shipping, the Germans loosed 150 dive bombers and fighters at one convoy. Of the tentatotal of raiders shot down, 19 were dive bombers and 34 fighters.

Residents along the south coast who watched the great battle over the channel said bombs dropped almost continuously from daybreak on.

"The British fighters," said one, "kept the Germans so busy, tho, that all the bombs I saw fell into the sea. We saw planes dropping, too. I myself saw one crash into the sea in flames. Two others came down further along the coast.

Crashes in Flames.

"There was a burst of raiding in the morning and then again in the early afternoon. Then there was a lull. But just when we were getting ready for tea a third raid started on a convoy in the channel.

"We saw a British fighter and a German plane circle around each other at a great height, and soon the Nazi began to turn and spin down. It crashed in flames into the sea.

"We saw a dive bomber suddenly appear overhead with its wing damaged. A British fighter roared down and forced the German to land in a field. The crew was captured."

The vast air raids followed a series of darting attacks by German torpedo boats upon channel shipping. In these stealthy assaults the British acknowledged the loss of three coastal vessels and damage to several others, but reported they had sunk one speedboat and damaged another.

Air Laboratory May Come to Curtiss Field

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—Strong possibility that the Curtiss-Reynolds airfield at Glenview, Ill., will be chosen as the site for the government's new 8½ million dollar airplane engine research laboratory, construction of which is part of the national defense program, was disclosed today by Representative Ralph E. Church [R., Ill.].

He said members of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, authorized by congress to select the site for the laboratory, will visit the field next Thursday to inspect its facilities.

Funds for the laboratory are provided for in the supplemental national defense appropriation of June 26. Besides selecting the site, the NACA is authorized to draw the plans and contract for construction.

Navy Wants the Field.

The committee already has ruled that the only sites it will consider are those adjoining or on an air field owned or operated by the federal or a municipal government. Title to the Glenview airport is now held by the Curtiss-Wright corporation but, it was learned, the navy is interested in acquiring the field and has started purchase negotiations with the company.

Church said three appraisers have been directed to put a value on the property and are expected to report to the navy department next week. Taking over of the field by the federal government would enable it to qualify as a site for the engine laboratory.

As a member of the house committee on naval affairs, Church has been a leading advocate of locating aircraft industries inland where they would be more secure in case of emergency. In coöperation with the Chicago Association of Commerce, he sponsored acquisition of the Glenview field by the navy even before congress decided upon construction of the airplane engine laboratory.

"Glenview is an ideal site for the laboratory," Church said. "Great Lakes Naval Training station is in the immediate vicinity."

Church added that there was an abundant supply of skilled labor and technological experts in Chicago and Waukegan. He also noted that the new Technological Institute of Northwestern university is expected to be open in 1941. This institute was made possible by a gift of $6,735,000 from the Walter P. Murphy Foundation, and quarters for it are under construction.

"If we can get the navy to acquire the airfield at Glenview," said Church, "I am confident the airplane engine research laboratory will be put there."

Confirms Negotiations.

New York, Aug. 8 [Special].—Reports that the navy department has begun preliminary negotiations looking toward acquisition of Curtiss-Reynolds field at Glenview, Ill., was confirmed tonight by an official of the Curtiss-Wright corporation.

IS PIGEON AN INVALID OR JUST LAZY? 'DOLE' HALTED TO FIND OUT

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 8 [Special].—Buster, a pigeon, was Minda Pruitte's pet for 10 years.

Eight months ago his throat was injured and he was unable to pick up food. Since then Miss Pruitte has fed him by opening his beak and pushing corn and sunflower seeds down his throat.

Miss Pruitte was taken to a hospital yesterday after suffering a stroke. She left Buster with her brother-in-law, Alexander P. Liddell, who suspects the bird has been on relief so long it has lost its initiative. He thinks Buster is fully recovered, can pick up his own food if necessary.

"I'm going to see if Buster won't eat in the usual way—when he gets hungry," he says.

Windsor Gets Curtsies, Wife Smiling Bows

British Seize U. S. Mail

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 8 (AP).—British censors removed 120 of 700 bags of mail today from the American Export liner Excalibur which departed from its regular course to land the duke and duchess of Windsor.

(Pictures on page 3.)

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 8 (AP).—Thousands of cheering Bermudans greeted the duke and duchess of Windsor following their arrival today from Lisbon, Portugal, aboard the American export liner Excalibur.

The ship made a special stop here so the royal couple could proceed more directly to the Bahamas, where the duke will serve as governor.

Particularly hearty was the Bermudans' greeting of the duke. He appeared to be as popular with the islanders as he was with the crew of the Excalibur, for whom he ordered a festive round of beer before the ship docked.

A Question of Etiquet.

While the crowds at the Royal Yacht club were cheering the official greetings already had begun. The question of etiquet display in deference to the duke and duchess had been settled by leading matrons of the islands.

Two of these leaders, Mrs. Hastings Brooke, sister of Maj. Gen. Denis Kirwan Bernard, governor of Bermuda, and the wife of Admiral Sir Charles Kennedy-Purvis, set the precedent.

In greeting the former King Edward VIII. at the yacht club they chose to curtsy. But on being presented to his wife, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield, they did not curtsy. They bowed and smiled pleasantly.

Passed Off Gracefully.

No awkward pause followed their marks of social distinction between the former king and his American born duchess. In a moment the two social leaders were chatting affably with the duchess.

Windsor himself, tanned and boyish looking in a gray suit, tab-collared shirt, and white shoes, snapped to attention while an honor guard gave the royal salute and played "God Save the King."

He inspected the guard. Then the duke and duchess rode to Government House, their residence while in Bermuda.

Buenos Aires Has Coldest Day of Winter—31 Degrees

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 8 (AP).—Buenos Aires had its coldest day of the winter today—31 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit.

one of the numerous fights, remarked that the sky was "literally black" with Nazi planes.

In three encounters, this squadron of Hurricane fighter planes reported having sent 21 German craft crashing into the sea. Describing part of the battle, the squadron leader said:

"We climbed to 16,000 feet and looking down saw a large formation of Junkers 87s [dive bombers] approaching from the sun, with the Messerschmitt 109s stepped up behind to 20,000 feet. We approached unobserved out of the sun and went into the attack on the rear Junkers before the enemy fighters could interfere.

Five Seconds of Gunning.

"I gave a five seconds burst to one bomber and broke off to engage two Messerschmitts. There was a dogfight. The enemy fighters were rolling, diving, and zooming. They were painted silver.

"I fired two five second bursts at one and saw it dive into the sea. Then I followed another up in a zoom and caught him as he stalled.

A flight lieutenant of the same squadron reported as follows:

"I was forced to retire owing to engine failure, but dived on a Junkers. After a three or four second burst it went into an inverted dive and crashed. My engine started again so I went after another Junkers and attacked him before he was able to make his attack on the convoy. He dived into the sea at high speed. After that, my engine stopped for good and I only just got back to England."

Downed by Polish Pilot.

Two Nazi raiders were shot down by a Polish pilot who was in action with a British fighter command for the first time. With the help of fellow officers, the Pole told how it happened:

"I was attacked," he said, "by three Heinkels who seemed to be working to a plan—one flying alone and the other two as a pair. If you attack a pair, the single one tries to get on your tail."

So, he explained, he tackled the single Heinkel and watched it go down smoking. The two others, he added, flew away. Then, in the last battle of the afternoon, he got a Messerschmitt fighter.

One Spitfire squadron carried the battle over the French coast. Its men reported chasing seven Messerschmitts over the channel and destroying six of them. Then as a last salute one pilot fired at a German motor torpedo boat off Calais.

"Several of the crew," he remarked, "fell overboard."

LONDON ADMITS 'SUB' IS LOST IN MEDITERRANEAN

LONDON, Aug. 8 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that the British submarine Oswald, which had been operating in the Mediterranean, as considered lost. The Italian high command announced the sinking of the Oswald earlier this week. The Oswald was a vessel of 1,475 tons built in 1928. The admiralty communique said:

"The Italian communique has stated that 52 officers and men, including the commanding officer, of this submarine are prisoners of war and unhurt. The total complement of the Oswald was five officers and 50 ratings [enlisted men]. The next of kin have been informed."

British Liner Believed Lost.

RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 8 (AP).—The 7,769 ton British liner Kemmendine is 21 days overdue here and must be presumed lost, an official communique said tonight.

Swedish Steamer Sunk.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 8 (AP).—The Swedish steamer Atos, 2,161 tons, was sunk Aug. 3 on a voyage from Glasgow to Scandinavia, according to a broadcast by the Scandinavian radio today. The steamer was presumed to have been torpedoed, the broadcaster said. Twenty-seven men of the crew of 28 were rescued.

ARMY'S 150 PLANE AIR ARMADA ENDS MASS MANEUVERS

Selfridge Field, Mich., Aug. 8 [Special].—The 150 plane army air corps armada, which completed four days of air maneuvers at this field and over eastern Michigan, returned today to Langley Field, Va.

The program of maneuvers was curtailed in its final day, so that Brig. Gen. Arthur N. Krogstad, commanding officer of the second wing, general headquarters air force, and his staff could test out the army's largest bomber, the 35 ton B-15, on the return flight. The maneuvers were designed to give newly commissioned air corps officers experience in the problems of operating comparatively large forces away from home airdromes.

"We have been talking about a 50,000 plane force," Gen. Krogstad said. "That means that we will be taking off with 1,000 planes at a time instead of the handful you saw here. We cleared 113 planes from this airdrome in 27 minutes, but we are not proud of that. It has been done faster."

SEEK TO FIT OUT 21 CITY AIRPORTS FOR WARPLANES

New York, Aug. 8 [Special].—In a move intended to bolster the defenses of the United States the war department has requested that 31 city airports in New England be fitted for air corps use by the Work Projects administration in coöperation with the Civil Aeronautics authority. These projects would assume priority over all others under the plan, it was reported reliably here today.

The CAA regional airport section office in New York already has started plans moving, it was said, so that actual construction may be completed before frost makes labor impossible. Thirteen of the airports are in Maine, nine in Massachusetts, five in New Hampshire, three in Connecticut, and one in Vermont.

Transformation of the municipal fields into landing spots for military use will necessitate lengthening of all runways to a minimum of 3,500 feet, hard surfacing them and installing boundary lights, facilities for control towers and radio beacons where needed.

BRITISH FIGHTERS GET PAY BOOST —FOR BEER TAX

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 8.—An ingenious method for softening the blow of heavy taxes on beer and tobacco as they affect the fighting forces was announced by Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood in parliament tonight. Rejecting demands for duty free drinks and smokes for the army, navy, and air force, Wood announced an increase in pay all around by 6 pence daily [almost 10 cents]. The increase will cost the treasury about $36,000,000 for each 1,000,000 men, Wood estimated, and will bring the weekly wage for a private soldier up to $3.50 exclusive of special allowances. Popular brands of cigarets now cost about 30 cents for 20, against 20 cents before the war, and beer is 20 cents a pint against the prewar price of 16 cents.

INDIA—A GIANT FABULOUSLY RICH, BITTERLY DIVIDED

Offers Vast Reservoir of Wealth, Men.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The giant patchwork known as India is a confusing complex of racial, religious, cultural, and political rivalries over which Britain gradually gained dominance in the 17th and 18th centuries.

India's size and difficult geographical nature make for lack of unity. However, it is rich in man power and natural resources.

With 6,000 miles of land frontier and 5,000 miles of seaboard, India has an area of more than 1,808,000 square miles, and a crowded population of more than 350,000,000.

Millions Present All Shades.

These millions—between one-fifth and one-sixth of the earth's population—present all shades of social and economic variation, from fabulously rich maharajahs to poverty stricken "untouchables."

With the blood of many races in their veins, these people speak more than 200 languages and dialects and practice many religions, some of them bitterly antagonistic to one another.

The vast Hindu group has 240,000,000 adherents in India, the Moslems some, 77,000,000.

India is divided politically into a British India of 11 provinces, which are governed by representatives of the crown, and a native India of more than 560 states, ruled with varying degrees of authority by native princes who hold their power thru treaties and alliances with Britain.

Eight Provincial Governments Quit.

The conflict between the great Hindu majority and the militant Moslems, who provide some of the best fighting men in the British Indian army, and that between the native princes, who depend largely on British support to hold their thrones, and the independence seeking masses led by the Congress party, have further complicated Britain's problems.

Eight of the provincial governments controled by the Congress party resigned early in the war because of dissatisfaction with Britain's promise of post-war dominion status. The British governors had to take over.

The Indian princes have strongly supported the British war effort out of their wealth, drawing on some of the largest fortunes in the world. Indian troops, especially Sikhs and Gurkhas, form an important part of the British "middle eastern command," arrayed in Egypt, Palestine, and East Africa for defense of the empire's lifeline to India and the orient.

Ajax, Cruiser That Fought Graf Spee, Is Back at Sea

LONDON, Aug. 8 (AP).—The admiralty announced tonight that the cruiser Ajax, one of the ships which disabled the German pocket battleship Graf Spee off the coast of Uruguay last December, is back in active service at sea.

ENGLAND OFFERS 'PARTNERSHIP' TO INDIA FOR WAR AID

Bids with 'Free' Status for Wealth, Men.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The British government today made a bid for the wholehearted support of India in the war whereby India eventually will take its place with a "free and equal partnership" in the British commonwealth.

L. S. Amery.

In holding out to the 350 million subject people of that fabulously wealthy possession the prospect of independence after the war, Britain said the government trusts "that for the period of the war . . . all parties, communities, and interests [in India] will combine and coöperate in making a notable contribution to the world cause which is at stake."

The offer was announced simultaneously by the viceroy in India, Lord Linlithgow, and in the house of commons by L. S. Amery, British secretary of state for India.

Immediate Action Proposed.

An immediately greater voice for the Indians in governing themselves was authorized by the British government which promised and proposed immediate introduction in the viceroy's executive council of a "certain number of representatives of political parties," as well as establishment of a "consultative committee" comprising Indian leaders.

Britain's offer of "partnership" in return for the vast supplies of Indian gold, materials, and manpower came as the British Isles awaited the long threatened German invasion and Italian forces smashed at Britain's lifeline in Africa. The offer was interpreted authoritatively as going beyond even the dominion status which the government last October proposed for India after the war.

Clement R. Attlee, government spokesman in commons, said the new policy probably will be debated in commons next Wednesday. In addition to additions of Indian representatives to the viceroy's council, the proposal would establish a war advisory council on which Indians would be represented. Also it was promised that "full weight" would be given the views of minorities in any constitutional revision.

Reactions in India.

The new gesture for India's assistance in the war was heard with caution by Nationalist leaders in India, but drew favorable comment from the Independent and Liberal party heads.

Since the war began, the powerful All-India National Congress has refused to coöperate in the British war effort, demanding complete independence as a primary condition for this support. Reports from India tonight said "non-Congressmen declare it [the British proposal] would be welcomed by all those who favor unconditional support for Britain in the belief that India's hope is to be bound up with British victory."

Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the Congress party, said in Bombay that he had been invited to confer with the viceroy and would have no comment until then. Other leaders of the independence movement remained silent, one of the leaders, Mohandas K. Gandhi, saying any statement from him would be a presumption in view of his comparative retirement from public affairs.

Hint Refusal of Help.

Some Nationalist newspapers, however, said the Congress party was not likely to consent to participate in the war, since immediate independence had not been promised, altho it was indicated that a new constitution was considered. Leaders in India's long fight for freedom weighed this part of Britain's statement, "His majesty's government . . . will most readily assent to the setting up after the conclusion of the war, with the least possible delay, of a body representative of the principal elements in Indian national life in order to devise the framework of the new constitution, and they will lend every aid in their power to hasten decisions on all relevant matters to the utmost degree."

Britain Against Coercion.

However, the statement stressed that "the British government could not contemplate the transfer of their present responsibilities for the peace and welfare of India to a system of government whose authority is directly denied by a large and powerful element of the Indian national life. Nor could they [the government] be a party to coercion of such elements into submission to such a government."

Hope was expressed in the statement that from the concessions now offered, "new bonds of union and understanding will emerge and thus pave the way towards the attainment by India of free and equal partnership in the British commonwealth, which remains the proclaimed and accepted goal of the imperial crown and British parliament."

SOMETHING NEW! BALLOONS GUARD BRITISH CONVOYS

BY GUY MURCHIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 5 [Delayed].—The British navy sprang a new defensive weapon on the German air force today. It used a sea going balloon barrage to escort a convoy and it may have proved this the answer to German dive bomber attacks on convoys, the last of which occurred on July 25.

The Tribune correspondent had the good fortune to arrive in a sea coast town alone a few minutes before a convoy passed the point. The silvery balloons moving along above the ships could be counted. The usual warship escort accompanied the cargo vessels, while aircraft also helped to defend them. That the Germans attacked the convoy was indicated by the rapid booming of pompom guns and coastal antiaircraft guns just after the last vessel faded into the haze.

The shooting lasted only about a minute. Since there was no report of damage to the convoy, it may be assumed the balloon barrage was successful in keeping the dive bombers at an altitude from which they could not bomb accurately. The seagoing balloons doubtless will be used again.

REVEALS BRITAIN FEELS WAR WILL NOT END SOON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, today told the house of commons that the "government is satisfied the war is not going to end in the immediate future." The occasion for his remark was an attempt to persuade industry that the temporary loss in production caused by the training of skilled labor is essential to insure accelerated production later.

Bevin urged employers to make special provisions in their factories to train men as more and more will be needed when the government armament industries reach peak levels. Already the government has set up 19 special schools which are expected to turn out more than 100,000 trainees yearly. Bevin urged private concerns to pay particular attention to this, saying it was an essential factor in bringing production to its peak.

Owing to the shortage of skilled labor, it was announced that 3,200 men were released from the army between June 10 and July 11 to work in aircraft and armament factories. This makes a total of 30,000 now working in industry who otherwise would be in the fighting services.

LONDON HEARS GERMAN TROOPS REACH BALEARICS

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Reports received tonight that German troops have been landed in the Balearic islands were regarded by observers here as pointing to possible attempts by the Rome-Berlin axis powers to drive a wedge between the British Suez [Alexandria] and Gibraltar fleets and, with concentrated attacks at both ends of the Mediterranean, cut off their exit. The Balearics lie south of France and east of Spain.

Duke of Aosta, viceroy of Ethiopia.

Reports from Spain said the Madrid press has intensified the campaign for the return of Gibraltar to Spain. This time the Spanish papers were reported declaring "the rock" vulnerable to attack from both sides of the strait and the strait itself.

Expect Effort to Take Malta.

In the Mediterranean it is believed Italy's strategy demands an attempt to take Malta, Britain's mid-Mediterranean naval base between Sicily and Italian Libya, and also Cyprus which lies between the Italian Dodecanese islands and Haifa, the sea terminus of the pipeline to the Mosul oil fields.

It is believed here that the present Italian drive in British Somaliland may be either a diversion intended to draw British aircraft and troops from other fronts, or an attempt to push the British out of East Africa in order to strike at Aden and attempt to bottle up the Red sea at the southern end, the straits of Bab-el-Mandeb.

If Italy were able to control Bab-el-Mandeb, the British fleet in the eastern Mediterranean might be blocked—as a preliminary for a campaign against the Suez canal, Egypt's cotton and grain, and the Palestine pipelines.

Halted 30 Miles Inside Border.

The Italian columns driving into British Somaliland from Ethiopia halted after their capture of Hargeisa and Oadweina "as anticipated" a communique of the British middle eastern headquarters at Cairo reported tonight.

Hargeisa and Oadweina are roughly 30 miles within Somaliland, and back of them is a range of difficult hills which are indicated as the main British defense line protecting Berbera, the capital of Somaliland.

Zeila, the Somaliland port which was given up without resistance to another Italian column led by the duke of Aosta, viceroy of Ethiopia, is regarded as unimportant. If the Italians attempt to advance from Zeila to Berbera, they will have to pass over an extremely difficult 150 mile coastal road vulnerable to air attacks and within range of British warships.

The same strategical considerations are said to apply also to the defense of Egypt and the path to the Suez canal. Italian forces moving from Libya would have to pass over hundreds of miles of desert to reach a source of water and a supply base in Egypt.

Hope to Link Empire.

ROME, Aug. 8 (AP).—Officials here exultantly claimed tonight that the Italian capture of the British Somaliland port of Zeila had opened the way to a consolidation of the British and French Somalilands under Fascist arms for an attack on Aden, Britain's protectorate 140 miles across the Gulf of Aden.

Italian armored columns in British Somaliland were declared today to be well on the road to Berbera, the biggest port in the protectorate, accompanied by bombers.

ENGLAND SHOULD FEED OCCUPIED 'ZONES: GERMANY

Nazis Deny Hitler Said Food Is Assured.

BERLIN, Aug. 8 (AP).—Britain is responsible for feeding the populations in countries occupied by German troops because she is responsible for their entering the war against Germany, Dienst Aus Deutschland, authoritative commentary, observed today.

The article said it was written in reply to British press assertions that Germany was responsible for the care and feeding of persons in the occupied areas and that Adolf Hitler had declared in his last speech that "the feeding of Europe is assured."

"Hitler spoke not of an assured European but of an assured German supply," Dienst Aus Deutschland said.

Welfare Groups Active.

Activity of German welfare groups in the occupied areas, it said, showed that Germany is attempting to secure provisions for these peoples, but nevertheless, "English propaganda is guilty of a dangerous mistake" in substituting European for German in Hitler's statement.

This was done, Dienst said, "to justify the inclusion of former English allies in the blockade."

The commentary said the American Red Cross already had confirmed that shipments sent to persons in the occupied areas were being received without delay thru German coöperation.

It added that the Germans, however, want to oppose any attempt to shift "responsibility for the appearances of shortages" in these regions.

5,000,000 Refugees in France.

PARIS [via Berlin], Aug. 6 (AP).—[Delayed.]—Richard F. Allen, Red Cross official in charge of distributing food and clothing received from the United States on the relief ship McKeesport, estimated today there are about 5,000,000 refugees in the part of France unoccupied by the German forces. He added that there are between 1,000 to 2,500 Americans in the area.

Allen, who drove to Paris from Marseilles despite difficult travel conditions in both unoccupied and German held France, said three-quarters of the food and clothing received on the McKeesport had been distributed to the departments in the unoccupied territory.

39 ITALIANS DIE IN ARMS PLANT BLAST AT GENOA

ROME, Aug. 8 (AP).—Two explosions in the Tiatenza munitions factory near Genoa killed 39 workers and injured several hundred today. The cause of the blasts, which almost completely wrecked the factory, was not announced. Barracks near the factory were seriously damaged. Windows in many nearby houses were broken. Undersecretary of War General Ubaldo Soddu and other officials left Rome at once to investigate.

Three Killed at Lecco.

LECCO, Italy, Aug. 9 [Friday] (AP).—An explosion in a munitions factory here today killed three persons and injured six. The blast occurred in the percussion cap section of the plant. Lecco is on the Swiss frontier, directly north of Genoa.

Swiss Forbid Gasoline and Oil Fuel Exports

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 8 (AP).—The Swiss federal economy department today banned the export of gasoline and oil fuels, save for ten litres [about two and two-thirds gallons] in the tanks of automobiles crossing the frontier.

RUMANIA MUST GIVE UP LAND, PREMIER WARNS

Nation Told It Has to Yield to Germany's Orders.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 8 (AP).—Premier Ion Gigurtu told his countrymen tonight that Rumania must give up some territory to Bulgaria and Hungary on Adolf Hitler's orders, but warned his government would refuse Hungary's full demand for most of Transylvania.

Breaking the news to the Rumanians that their kingdom, already stripped of Bessarabia and northern Bukovina by Russia, must offer further amputations, he insisted that Hungary at most would get only a small strip of Transylvania just big enough to allow all Hungarians to leave Rumania and all Rumanians to return home. Hungary, it has been reported, wants 75 per cent of Transylvania.

Bitter Negotiations Intimated.

He intimated negotiations with Hungary would be long and bitter and advised both Hungary and Bulgaria—the latter claimant for the return of southern Dobruja—to be moderate in demands as the best means of preventing trouble.

In her own interest, he said, Rumania had found it necessary to follow a pro-axis policy—a policy that "imposes painful sacrifices."

As to Hungary, he declared, the dispute "could be easily regulated" by the latter's acceptance of population transfers and of economic collaboration. But, he went on, if Hungary insists on territorial cession from Rumania, she must be prepared to agree to a complete transfer of minorities.

Dubruja Conference Delayed.

He explained, by referring to his recent meeting with Hitler at Salzburg, why Ruman would be compelled to give up something to Hungary. Hitler, Gigurtu said, had ordered Rumania to come to terms with both Hungary and Bulgaria, altho leaving the details to the three countries directly involved.

Gigurtu expressed confidence that Bulgaria's claim on southern Dobruja would be settled "before long."

While the premier spoke Bulgarian and Rumanian negotiators had been scheduled to assemble at Craiova, Rumania, for a conference on Bulgaria's demand for southern Dobruja, but dispatches from there tonight reported that, while all was in readiness for the conference, the conferees had not appeared. There were reports that the meeting might be held after all in some remote country town, but not in Craiova. Officials said, however, that they expected the delegates would meet within 48 hours.

[The German wireless credited the Bucharest radio with a report that Rumania is ready to cede to Bulgaria the Dobruja districts of Durostor and Caliacra but is unwilling to cede all of the territory. The report said Bulgaria would be asked to let Rumanians in that country return to their native land.]

WAREHOUSE FIRE RAGES IN LONDON IN RAID BLACKOUT

LONDON, Aug. 9, Friday (AP).—A spectacular fire in a Thames side warehouse near London's tower bridge during the blackout early today illuminated a great stretch of the River Thames.

The glow from the fire could be seen for miles. Flames leaped 160 feet into the air. Searchlight beams were focused on a plane which circled over the fire zone apparently on patrol in case the glare attracted German raiders.

The blazing warehouse was owned by a provisions company. Cause of the fire was not known immediately.

18 Americans from Estonia in Finland on Way Home

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 8.—Eighteen Americans arrived in Helsingfors from Estonia today. They will leave soon for Petsamo, where they will board the steamer American Legion for New York. Soviet authorities in Estonia refused permission to six other Americans to leave that country. Transit visas likewise have been withheld thus far from 107 Americans in Lithuania and 30 in Latvia. They want to sail on the American Legion, too.

PROTEST JAP BAN ON U. S. IMPORTS IN NORTH CHINA

TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 8 (AP).—American merchants here, acting thru the United States Chamber of Commerce in Tientsin, appealed to the state department today for support against Japanese restrictions on imports from America. The chamber is understood to be appealing directly to President Roosevelt to protest in Tokio "these further encroachments on trade in North China."

Altho the restrictions were announced June 27, information as to how they are supposed to operate is not yet available. All applications for permits to import American goods are denied.

Some weeks after the launching of the new restrictions, authorities of the British concession in Tientsin yielded to Japanese demands and closed the United States Marine radio station operating there.

DUCHESS WILL BE "YOUR GRACE" IN BAHAMA ISLES

NASSAU, Bahamas, Aug. 8 (AP).—How do you address the Duke and Duchess of Windsor?

The duke will be "Your Royal Highness." The duchess will be "Your Grace."

Colonial officialdom, long worried by this and other social questions raised by the duke's appointment as the Bahamas' governor, revealed today that London had let the proper forms become known. It means that the American born duchess will be denied the title of "Her Royal Highness" that the the duke's brother and successor refused her in England after Edward VIII. abdicated.

The duke is not to be addressed as "Your excellency," the title given other governors.

British Quiz Ex-U. S. Aid and Beautiful Russian Girl

LONDON, Aug. 8 (AP).—Tyler Kent, former employé of the United States embassy, and Anna Wolkoff, beautiful Russian dressmaker, were questioned by the investigating magistrate in Bow Street police station today as secret hearings were resumed on charges against them under the official secrets act. After a hearing, the court clerk said the case had been adjourned until a meeting of a special court Aug. 19.

JAPS EXPECTED TO THRUST SOUTH WHEN NAZIS MOVE

Expansion Reported Keyed with Next Blitzkrieg.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 (AP).—Japan, following her self-proclaimed destiny of dominance in "Greater East Asia," was reported tonight to be hastening preparations for a lightning drive in tthe direction of French Indo-China and the Netherlands East Indies.

Trustworthy foreign sources predicted that Japan's big southward push would be geared to Germany's blitzkrieg machinery, now tuning up for the threatened invasion of the British Isles, and would start within 48 hours after the Germans start.

Such timing would take advantage of diversion of British attention to home defense. Britain stands as the only belligerent defender of the rich East Indies and Indo-China, territory of the German vanquished Netherlands and France.

Recent Moves Noted.

If Adolf Hitler fails to move it was believed the Japanese would proceed more slowly and more cautiously, but further efforts to extend Japanese influence were regarded as inevitable.

Foreign informants in Shanghai said both the Japanese army and navy were speeding preparations for the southward push. The Japanese "southward" fleet consists of 30 ships, mostly cruisers and destroyers, and one aircraft.

Naval and land forces of both Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies are almost negligible.

French Indo-China would confront sea and air forces and probably overland advances from Kwangsi province, southwest China.

100,000 Troops on Islands.

More than 100,000 Japanese soldiers are believed concentrated now in Hainan and Formosa.

Back of all the Japanese negotiations with Indo-China is the Japanese wish for a right of way thru French territory for war supplies into China's Yunnan province.

The attitude of the Tokio government is not known except for recent pronouncements by members of Premier Konoe's government as to Japan's future rôle of leadership in "Greater East Asia."

However, the Tokio government is believed by foreign sources here to be in favor of forceful steps. The belief is growing in Japan that, regardless of who wins the European war, the victor will not be inclined to hand over far eastern colonies to Japan out of sheer generosity.

Indications of Action.

Along with the expansionist stirring of the Japanese empire, came these related reports:

TOKIO—One hundred and twenty-six members of the Japanese diet's 466 members adopted a resolution urging the government to take "all available and effective measures to drive British influence from East Asia."

HANOI, FRENCH INDO-CHINA—Gen. Issakua Nishihara, head of a Japanese economic mission, was reported flying back to Hanoi after consultation with Premier Konoe in Tokio for continuation of economic negotiations.

Resist Japanese Demands.

A stiffening of resistance to Japanese wishes appeared in announcement of a decision to reopen transit routes thru Indo-China for Chinese exports which by agreement had been halted a month ago.

One explanation of this display of French resistance to Japan was that the Vichy government, with Berlin's approval, favored putting a brake on the Japanese.

BRITISH BAR JAP VESSELS IN NEW HONGKONG FEUD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Aug. 8.—Emphasizing Britain's changed and stronger line of action in the current Anglo-Japanese controversy, Hongkong authorities have adopted a counteraction for the detention of the British river steamer Fathan, bound for Canton, by refusing permission to the Japanese ships Kaiji Maru and Shirogane Maru to enter Hongkong harbor.

British authorities claim the tieup of the Fathan was in violation of the Anglo-Japanese 1939 Pearl river agreement.

RED RELATIONS WITH U. S. TALKED OVER IN CAPITAL

Welles Has Parley with Envoy.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The United States of America tonight appeared to be seeking friendlier relations with soviet Russia.

Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles asserted that he and Constantine Oumansky, soviet ambassador, had discussed many questions involving relations between the two countries during two conferences which they held within a week.

The discussions, he said, proceeded in a friendly and constructive spirit on both sides with a view to adjusting any differences as equitably as possible. At the same time, Welles declined to comment in any way on Japanese press reports that the American government had asked Japan to define more clearly its attitude regarding French Indo-China.

Two Applications Denied.

The maritime commission yesterday authorized two American owned tankers to take cargoes of motor gasoline to Russia. This was linked in some quarters with what was called the government's apparent effort to smooth out trade and other difficulties with Moscow. The commission denied applications for two other vessels to take steel and oil to Japan.

Welles, when asked for comment on this, asserted that he told the press about 10 days ago that he understood charters would be granted for American ships to go to ports where no danger was involved. He said Vladivostok was a port where no danger of hostilities existed at present, while belligerent activities did exist along the Chinese coast.

Trade Treaty Renewed.

Another event which has taken place since Welles, two weeks ago condemned the Russian acquisition of the three Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, was renewal of the annual trade treaty with the soviet government.

The treaty was renewed this week, altho with a reservation that Moscow would not be required to fulfill its estimated purchases if American export restrictions under the national defense program proved too severe.

TIGER GIRL AND PAL FLEE FROM DWIGHT PRISON

Steal Dresses, Get Over a High Wire Fence.

Eleanor Jarman, Chicago gunwoman and murderess known as the "blonde tiger girl," was the object of a state-wide hunt last night by a posse of 250 prison guards and state police.

She slipped away yesterday from the women's reformatory at Dwight, in Livingston county, 100 miles southwest of Chicago. She was serving 199 years for murder. With her fled Mary Foster, a former bank robber's moll who was sentenced to 1 to 10 years at Dwight for larceny.

The Jarman woman earned her sobriquet early in her criminal career for her brutal blackjacking of holdup victims. She employed no violence yesterday. She and the Foster woman ran from a cottage where they had been scrubbing floors and scaled a 10 foot fence, topped with barbed wire, which incloses the grounds.

Woman Warder Suspended.

Mrs. Etta Tranbarger, the warder in whose care the women were, was suspended by Joseph E. Ragen, state superintendent of prisons, pending an investigation. She has been employed at Dwight intermittently since the reformatory was opened in 1930.

Miss Helen Hazard, superintendent of the reformatory, said the absence of the women was noticed at lunch. Their prison clothing was found discarded along a spur railroad track a quarter of a mile north of the institution. They presumably had changed into a polka dot dress and a blue jacket and skirt ensemble stolen from a staff member.

A. L. Bowen, state welfare director who was in Joliet, went to Dwight to aid in the investigation. There have been 55 escapes in the reformatory's history. All save one of the fugitives, except the current pair, have been caught.

Tiger Girl Sentenced in 1933.

The Jarman woman is 36 years old, the mother of two sons. She was sentenced Aug. 31, 1933 for her part in the holdup slaying of Gustave Hoeh, 71, owner of a haberdashery at 5948 Division street. One of Mrs. Jarman's companions, George Dale, was subsequently executed and the other, Leo Minneci, got 199 years in prison.

Mary Foster served two years in the federal prison at Milan, Mich., for bank robbery. She was sent to Dwight on Jan. 19, 1939, for stealing $10,000 in clothes and jewelry from homes where she worked as a maid.

REAR ADMIRAL WATTS LEAVES GREAT LAKES POST DUE TO ILLNESS

Rear Admiral William Carleton Watts was detached from service yesterday as commandant of the 9th Naval district and commanding officer of the Great Lakes Training station. Ill health was given as the reason. The admiral, who is 60 years old, took charge at the station on Aug. 28, 1939. With his wife, Julia, he will leave next Monday. He expects to be placed on the retired officers' list, having service of more than 40 years to his credit. Until a successor is appointed, Great Lakes will be under the command of Capt. E. A. Wolleson, chief of staff of the 9th Naval district.

REPORT JAPANESE FISHING FLEET IS OFF U. S. ISLAND

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 8 (AP).—A Japanese fishing fleet operating within sight of United States owned St. Lawrence Island was reported today by John Cross, a fisherman just returned from the island.

Cross said he saw one large boat and several smaller craft, including power launches. He said both natives and whites on the island were alarmed by presence of the fleet, which they believe to be whaling or sealing.

St. Lawrence is the largest island off the west coast of Alaska. It lies nearly 100 miles off Norton sound and is much closer to the Siberian mainland than to the rest of the United States territory.

SENATE O. K.'S CALLING GUARD; VOTE IS 71 TO 7

Foes Question Whether Plan Is Constitutional.

nental limits of the United States except to its territories and possessions, including the Philippines. Administration forces were able to defeat the Adams amendment only by means of a deal whereby Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the military affairs committee, accepted an amendment by Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the foreign relations committee.

The Pittman amendment permits any member of the National Guard with one or more dependents to resign within 20 days after being inducted into the federal service.

The senate, by a voice vote, rejected an amendment by Senator Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] to prohibit the dispatch of Guard troops to the Philippines. Senator Reynolds noted that the expressed purpose of the resolution is to strengthen the national defense, and said he did not believe the national defense could be strengthened by sending troops 8,000 miles away.

Barkley Opposes Amendment.

Other senators had objected to the inclusion of the Philippines because of the crisis in American relations with Japan, precipitated by the administration's embargo on aviation gasoline.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, opposing the Reynolds amendment, said it would give notice to the world "that we do not intend to do anything about what any other nation does to the Philippines."

Senator Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], Senator Josh Lee [D., Okla.],, and others objected to the placing of any limitation on the President's authority to send the National Guard beyond the limits of continental United States.

Will Include 400,000 Men.

When asked why the military affairs committee wrote in the limitation whereby the President may send the Guard to foreign lands only within the limits of the western hemisphere, Chairman Sheppard replied: "To notify the administration and the world that we are not going into Europe. That was my purpose."

Many supporters of the resolution voted for it on the ground that the mobilization of the 242,000 officers and men of the National Guard and 158,000 officers and men of the regular army's reserve components—nearly 400,000 in all—will make unnecessary the administration's proposal to raise a mass conscript army. The conscription bill is the senate's next order of business.

Vandenberg Explains Stand.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] announced that he intended to vote for the Guard mobilization resolution for the same reason that he would oppose conscription. "It is in accord with the traditional peacetime method of raising a citizens' army—voluntary enlistments," he said.

Senator Adams, speaking in support of his amendment forbidding the President to send the Guard into foreign lands, said the resolution without such a restriction would vest the war making power in the President.

"The constitution was drafted by men who were students of history, students of government, men who were cognizant of the things which had happened in turbulent and critical times," he said. "They did not mean to make a distinction to say that congress should merely have the power to declare war, while the executive should have the power to make war. They meant to put into the hands of congress, the representatives of the people, the representatives of the boys who must fight in wars, the power to decide whether war should be made."

Senator Reads Guard Oath.

Senator Austin read the oath taken by the Guardsmen, as follows:

"I do hereby acknowledge to have voluntarily enlisted this —— day of ——, 19—, as a soldier in the National Guard of the United States and of the state of ——, for the period of three [or one] year—, under the conditions prescribed by law, unless sooner discharged by proper authority. And I do solemnly swear that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America and to the state of ——, and that I will serve them honestly and faithfully against all their enemies whomsoever, and that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and of the governor of the state of ——, and of the officers appointed over me according to law and the rules and articles of war."

Decisions of the federal courts, including the Supreme court, have held, Senator Austin declared, "that the Guardsman is a part of the army of the United States and as such enjoys exactly the same rights and is under the same obligations as every other man in the army of the United States. Every one of them under the law, until this joint resolution shall be enacted, is bound by his contract and his oath to the same degree and to the same obligation to serve on foreign soil if called upon or ordered to do so."

Present Law Is Cited.

Supporters of the Adams amendment agreed that this theory is correct after the guard has been ordered into federal service, but recalled that under existing law the Guard cannot be ordered into federal service in peace time.

War department officials testified that only about one-fourth of the Guard—3,930 officers, 53 warrant officers and 55,426 enlisted men—will be mobilized initially. These units include four infantry divisions and various coast artillery antiaircraft and harbor defense regiments, as well as observation squadrons. If the conscription bill is passed, however, the war department intends to mobilize the entire National Guard within 30 days to prepare for the training of conscripts.

Tank Corps Chief

Brig. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, chief of newly created armored force of United States army, as he prepared to leave Chicago yesterday by plane.

Brig. Gen. Adna R. Chaffee, chief of the newly created armored force and commanding general of the first armored corps, based at Fort Knox, Ky., paid a flying visit to Chicago yesterday to inspect plant facilities for production of $2,900,000 worth of Diesel engines for light and heavy tanks.

Gen. Chaffee and his staff visited the Buda company plant in Harvey, which is undergoing a $600,000 expansion to handle the army contract, and watched production of the Guiberson Diesel engine.

Gen. Chaffee also inspected the Diamond T Truck factory at 4517 26th street, whose trucks are under consideration for the armored forces.

"Production of material for the armored force is coming along very well on all the light elements," Gen. Chaffee said. "I would like to see more speed in production of heavier elements, but I think that will be expedited."

INTERVENTIONIST GROUP WILL PUT ADMIRAL ON AIR

One of Members Admits Asking Radio Time.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—Francis Pickens Miller, a member of the interventionist group in charge of agitation and propaganda for the Roosevelt administration's project to release 50 or more destroyers to Great Britain, admitted today he requested the allotment of radio time for a speech by Admiral William H. Standley next Saturday night. The retired admiral, former chief of naval operations, will speak over the Columbia Broadcasting system on "American Aid to Britain."

The proposal to sell American naval vessels to Great Britain has been denounced by noninterventionists in congress as a belligerent act that would plunge the United States into war with Germany. They have expressed determination to block any attempt to repeal or modify existing statutes which make the proposed destroyer deal a criminal offense.

Propaganda Is Pushed.

With the avowed purpose of conditioning the public mind and softening congressional opposition to the destroyer scheme, a group of interventionists in Washington and New York, including the so-called inner circle New Dealers in the government, is conducting one of the most intensive propaganda campaigns the country has ever known.

Members of this group include Washington society leaders, to whom the center of the universe is the British embassy, newspaper editors and commentators, especially those who studied at Oxford university as Rhodes scholars, poets, writers, and executives of organizations with some international cause.

Miller, who emerged in New York today and identified himself, states his occupation in "Who's Who" as an organization executive. He has been executive director of committees and councils on foreign relations, administrative secretary of the World Student Christian federation, field secretary of the Foreign Policy association, and assistant national executive of the student Y. M. C. A. He was a Rhodes scholar. He lives at Fairfax, Va., but recently rented office space in New York.

Refuses to Name Others.

Miller explained that his group meets from time to time "to talk things over and have a highball or two." He refused to identify the 15 or more persons who decided, at a recent dinner, to put Admiral Standley on the radio.

The allotment of time on all three national radio networks for the speech last Sunday night by Gen. John J. Pershing was requested by Joseph W. Alsop Jr., newspaper columnist and a distant cousin of President Roosevelt. According to reports in radio circles, Alsop made use of the name of James L. Fly, chairman of the federal communications commission, in requesting the allotment of radio time.

Others in the group who are most active in the propaganda campaign include Henry Luce, publisher of Time and Fortune magazines; Clark M. Eichelberger, director of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, and Archibald MacLeish, poet and librarian of congress.

FRENCH INSTALL COURT TO SEEK AND PUNISH MEN BLAMED FOR WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIOM, France, Aug. 8.—France's new high court of justice, whose first task will be to seek out and inflict punishment on those held responsible for getting France into a disastrous war, was installed in the historic palace of justice here today.

President Pierre Caous and nine magistrates and a prosecuting attorney were sworn in during a five minute ceremony witnessed only by newspapermen and a few spectators. The court took the oath of office before Minister of Justice Raphael Alibert.

Some time next week the court will reassemble and organize to begin grand jury examinations into the various groups and personalities, who are alleged either to have precipitated the country unduly into hostilities it was unprepared for or else to have contributed to its unpreparedness militarily once it was in the war.

150 LAKE COUNTY, INDIANANS, SIGN ANTIDRAFT PLEA

One hundred and fifty residents of Lake county, Indiana, ranging in age from 18 to 65, protested yesterday against the military conscription bill now before congress in a petition sent to Senator Frederick Van Nuys [D., Ind.] and to Indiana congressmen.

The petitioners urged the continuance of voluntary recruitment instead of compulsory military training. They suggested trying a modified military training plan modeled on that of the National Guard, by which those qualified could train several afternoons or evenings a week.

"We claim to represent no vast industry, no unions, no other such organization," the petition read. "We claim to represent ourselves. We claim to be loyal Americans who individually believe that there are other and better ways to prepare adequate defense than by adopting peacetime military conscription."

The 150 names were gathered in two days by Theodore L. Sendak and Louis Ade, Hammond newspaper men; John J. Mulligan Jr., East Chicago steel worker, and Mary Elizabeth Rouse, East Chicago stenographer.

5 ARE INDICTED AS SLAYERS IN UNION RED WAR

Named in Probe of West Coast Communism.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 8 [Special].—A Los Angeles county grand jury investigating communist activities today indicted five men on a charge of murder in connection with a slaying in an alleged attempt of Reds to gain control of a seamen's union at San Pedro.

The indictment was based on the killing of John R. Riley, maritime unionist, in a waterfront fight five years ago. The names of those indicted were not made public. However, one man, Brittain Webster, is under arrest on a murder charge in the case and another was arrested at Honolulu yesterday.

Further Action Forecast.

A witness before the grand jury was Charles F. North of Seattle, who described himself and Riley as leaders in a movement to oust communist elements from the Sailors' Union of the Pacific.

"We intend proceeding," announced District Attorney Buron Fitts, "against known communists under the criminal syndicalism laws. I firmly believe the evidence warrants further prosecutions.

"It seems to me it's about time that this bunch of Moscow controled and financed liberty hating destructionists be exposed to public view."

Film Notables to Appear.

The grand jury is scheduled to meet again next Wednesday to hear further testimony about communist activities. Subpenaed to appear before the jury at that time are several motion picture celebrities who were summoned earlier this week.

Film Comedian Lionel Stander appeared at the grand jury rooms today but was told, he said later, that the jury had nothing to ask him at present. He voluntarily went to the district attorney's office yesterday and asserted that he never had joined the communist party nor contributed to it.

THUMBS HIS WAY INTO FISTFUL OF LUCK—ALL BAD

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Aug. 8 (AP).—Robert Friers, 24 year old "world champion hitch-hiker" of Saginaw, Mich., arrived here today nursing a bad case of malaria and with stories of a broken romance, fights in Mexico, and further troubles.

While filming Mexican election scenes in Monterrey, he said, workers jumped on him, apparently thinking he was a spy from the rival camp. In the mêlée he lost his pocketbook, he related.

Arriving in Salina Cruz looking for the "world's most beautiful girl," he discovered she had gone to the altar the week before. Upon arriving here he smashed his movie camera while crossing a stream. Moreover, he said he was penniless.

COUNCIL TO ACT, ON TRANSIT PLAN DESPITE DISPUTE

Judge Igoe Hits Delay in Reaching Accord.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday the council transportation committee plans to submit a unified traction ordinance to the city council for passage as soon as possible, even tho transit lines' representatives may not agree to all its provisions.

The mayor said the city hopes to reach a complete agreement with the companies, but regardless of complete accord, an ordinance must be submitted to the council shortly.

"If there are still a few points of dispute, it will be up to the public to decide at a referendum," Mayor Kelly said.

Agree on Major Issues.

The mayor said points of dispute may still be resolved before a plan is presented to the council. The groups reached an accord on the chief points in the unified franchise more than two months ago, and since then have been trying to iron out "minor" matters and legal phraseology.

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe said yesterday he will rule Monday on the petition for payment of the regular semiannual bond interest of $1,818,000 due Aug. 1 on $72,718,000 of surface lines' first mortgage bonds. Judge Igoe delayed his decision on the payment beyond the due date, until Walter A. Shaw, court traction adviser, could submit an audited report showing earnings and cash balances of the lines.

Shaw's report yesterday said that interest in the six months to July 31 was earned with a margin of safety by all three companies in the surface lines' system, before deduction of 3 per cent of revenues for city compensation for use of streets. After subtracting the 3 per cent or $688,000 for the six months, earnings of the Chicago Railways company and the Chicago City Railway company fell short of interest requirements. Earnings of the Calumet and South Chicago railway were still sufficient.

Dispute 3 Per Cent Levy.

The 3 per cent compensation is a matter of dispute between the city and the lines and has been set aside in a special reserve under a court order of July, 1938, pending final ruling by the court. Shaw found that all the companies had enough cash on hand to pay the interest, in addition to the compensation reserve.

Judge Igoe remarked that Shaw's report was favorable to the first mortgage bondholders, but said he would withhold a ruling to give other securities holders a chance to file objections. He directed the lines' franchise negotiators to inform the court by Sept. 9 that they had received an ordinance or that there is no hope of obtaining one.

"It is up to the city council to pass an ordinance before this court or the bondholders of the surface and elevated lines can take any action toward unification," Judge Igoe said. "But the court thinks that 13 years is too long to run three or four street car lines. If the lines can get an ordinance, that will require one kind of court action; if not, something different must be done."

NORWEGIAN SHIP, OFF FOR BRITAIN, FIRED BY BLAST

New York, Aug. 8 [Special].—With a fire raging in her engine room and abandoned by her crew after the boiler exploded the Norwegian freighter Lista, with a cargo of war materials for England, was beached this afternoon in lower New York bay near the New Jersey shore.

The burning vessel was being towed thru Ambrose channel by two tugs and a fireboat and a police launch were standing by when the freighter's boiler let go. The explosion was of such force that it was necessary for the crew to go overside in the lifeboats. They were picked up by the tugs without casualties.

The 3,671 ton vessel, which has been trading between New York and England, sailed last night with a heavy cargo for Liverpool. Fire started in the engine room a few hours later. The Lista was built in England in 1920 and is under charter to the Cosmopolitan Shipping company, a New York company.

BLACKS to mark summer's passing

Black street and town dresses climax summer's ending, says Rea Seeger, Chicago fashions editor.

Dull, fitted costumes with revealing streamlines are especially notable. Skirts are shorter and straighter with extra fullness worked in by wizards at designing. One piece dresses of materials strong enough to withstand cleaning are often bought for wear not only this year but in seasons to come, Miss Seeger reports.

To know what's new and distinctive in the current fashion showings, read Miss Seeger's illustrated article in the Women's Features section of Sunday's

CHICAGO FASHION LEADERS PRAISE TRIBUNE CONTEST

Say They Prefer to Wear American Designs.

Several of Chicago's best dressed women yesterday joined in the chorus of approval for THE TRIBUNE'S nation-wide fashion contest and welcomed American dress design as a substitute for design from over seas.

Each of the women interviewed said she would rather wear good American fashions, if they are forthcoming, than Paris creations.

Mrs. Byron Harvey Sr., long noted for her flawless taste in clothes, expressed the opinion that all American design needs is a stimulus such as this contest.

Wants Style Center Here.

"Ready made clothes here are beautifully designed and much better than many clothes that come from Paris," she said.

"I doubt if Nazi clothes would be acceptable. The time is ripe to have the world's great style centers here in this country. We always have furnished inspiration for the Paris clothes, anyway, as buyers. American women also gave them countless ideas."

Mrs. John Carey Murphy, who has a reputation for prognosticating fashion by two years, often designing her own clothes, pronounced the contest "a darn good idea."

"I don't know why American designs shouldn't be used more," she said. "All our designers should be given a chance and bolstered up. I think this contest might do it."

Comments of Other Women.

Other comments were:

Mrs. Kimball Salisbury—"I think this is the time for American designers to show what they can do. The French have always led, but there's plenty of talent in this country."

Mrs. George S. Chappell Jr.—"I think the contest is a good idea. I think we should have American ideas, and I don't think there have been many good American designers—at least, they have never had recognition. Paris will never be the same again, I think, even if they do try.

Mrs. Michael Cudahy—"I think Americans can and should design good clothes, but I think they should have done so a long time ago. This contest should be a great encouragement."

Open to All Designers.

THE TRIBUNE contest is open to all designers, amateur or professional, living in the United States, but all designs must be original. Sketches for them must be in the American Fashions office of THE TRIBUNE by Aug. 15. Twenty-five cash prizes are offered—one of $3,000, one of $2,000, three of $500 each and 20 of $50.

Models made from the winning sketches will be exhibited at two style shows in the W-G-N studio on Oct. 2.

YOUTH WITH LOT OF CRUST RIDES INTO TROUBLE

Robert Neveau, 14 years old, likes pie.

Yesterday, when he saw a parked pie truck at State and Randolph streets he jumped in and drove the truck south in State street. At Adams street he ran thru a traffic light. At Jackson boulevard he ran into a street cleaner's cart and then crashed into a street car.

As Robert, who lives at 4643 Wallace street, got out of the truck he ran into the arms of Policeman Max Seeger. He was taken to the juvenile home before he had a chance to eat any of the 300 pies in the truck.

SEEK TO SPEED FATHER'S RETURN IN KIDNAP CASE

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday he would ask federal authorities to help speed the return to Chicago of James C. Kelsey, wealthy resident of Belvidere, N. J., who is under indictment for conspiracy and the kidnaping of his daughter, Rosanna, 7 years old.

Kelsey's wife, Mrs. Florraine Kelsey, was awarded custody of the child when her husband obtained a divorce in the Circuit court here in 1937. Later Mrs. Kelsey sought to have the decree set aside, asserting that her husband had paid a man to put her in a compromising situation to forward his cause.

It is alleged that Kelsey took the child to Belvidere in July, 1939, and has refused to return her. After much legal maneuvering Governor Harry A. Moore of New Jersey honored an extradition warrant last June 10, but a writ of habeas corpus was requested and hearings have been continued several times. Courtney indicated he was dissatisfied was the progress of the case.

CLARK TO FILE TAX FIX CHARGES WITH COURTNEY

County Assessor John S. Clark said yesterday he will send a copy of the Chicago Bar association's report on tax fixing to State's Attorney Courtney. The report, made public last week, said frauds in assessments had been perpetrated thru collaboration between "tax consultants" and deputies in the county building.

Courtney said yesterday he had no comment and could not yet say whether his office would launch an extensive investigation into the tax fixing matter.

Clark reiterated his request that the bar association make public the full report of its subcommittee, which was much more extensive and specific than the report announced A special subcommittee of the association made the tax investigation, but its report was suppressed and an abbreviated version given out.

Assailants Slug Barber; Third Attack in 18 Months

Joseph Ahmed, owner of a barber shop on the second floor at 938 Belmont avenue, was beaten with a club or gas pipe last night by two assailants who stopped him near his home at 1533 Belmont avenue. Ahmed told police he had no labor troubles and could not explain the attack, but said it was the third time in 18 months he had been slugged.

SAM KART DONS PAVING TOGA OF BOSS CARROZZO

Heir Apparent to Throne Ponders Position.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Sam Kart was doing business at the old Carrozzo stand yesterday. The mantle of authority over 25 Carrozzo unions—or most of them—had settled on his shoulders. Kart told his friends frankly he wanted to be left alone to ponder his position as heir apparent to the Carrozzo dictatorship.

Kart asked to be excused from discussing the paving racket and the question of whether the Carrozzo unions would be a factor in that situation. Heretofore, the part played by the unions was decided by Carrozzo and Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, head man of the old Capone syndicate.

Privacy Now Is Gone.

As the man at the elbow of the late Mike Carrozzo, Kart had some rights of privacy. But now that he has become the spokesman for 4,000 city employés who belonged to the Carrozzo unions, his position has changed somewhat, Kart admitted.

Carrozzo died Sunday. He was buried Tuesday. Yesterday every one was turning to Kart for information about Carrozzo's will, the amount of his estate and its disposition. Several officials estimated Mike's wealth as "in the millions." Closer friends said the Carrozzo safety deposit boxes would yield little—Mike's income was great but his reservoir was empty, they opined.

Kart was silent on these points too.

Kart is a lawyer with offices at 100 North La Salle street. His home address is not listed in the telephone directory. Back in 1932 when he sought to be a candidate for public office he described himself as "the representative of the Civil Service Laborers' league, an organization of the 10,000 civil service laborers employed by the city."

Put in Power by Boss.

Some years ago Carrozzo promoted himself to be president of an international union of paving workers and common laborers. Then he named Kart to be president of his local unions which hadn't had an election in this century and which had 4,000 city employés on the rolls.

"I don't know who is going to take Carrozzo's place," said Oscar Hewitt, city commissioner of public works, yesterday. "If Kart comes to me as the spokesmen for the members of those unions I'll recognize him as their bargaining agent."

RECOUNT BARES CENSUS ERRORS ON NORTH SHORE

Residents of the north shore suburbs of Lake Forest and Winnetka probably were right when they disputed 1940 census figures showing population declines since 1930, Frank Kilbane, assistant 10th district census supervisor, said yesterday.

The 1940 census gave Lake Forest 6,510, compared with 6,554 in 1930; Winnetka was shown to have 11,712 inhabitants, compared with 12,166 ten years earlier. Kilbane is conducting a recount. It is apparent, he said, that many householders forgot to list servants in the enumeration. There are hundreds of servants employed in the two suburbs. Anywhere they live five days a week is regarded as their official home.

A recount also is in progress in Fox Lake, in Lake county, where a drop from 880 to 829 was challenged.

REPORTS HOME LOOTED.

Edward Hosier reported to Woodlawn police last night that burglars had taken articles worth $140 from his home at 111 East 68th street. The loot included four suits of clothes, an electric razor, a brief case and an electric toaster.

TELL THREE YEAR TAKE OF SCALISE AS TRIAL NEARS

Big Sum Paid Monthly by Chicago Union.

Payments of more than $2,000 per month to George Scalise, former president of the International Building Service Employés' union, who is under indictment in New York for grand larceny, were the subject of deposition testimony taken here yesterday. The money was sent to Scalise each month from the Chicago headquarters of the union during 1937, 1938, and 1939.

The testimony was taken preliminary to Scalise's trial which opens Monday.

Murray Gurfein and Alex Dreiband, assistants to Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, represented the prosecution of Scalise. Attorneys Martin W. Littleton and David Stein were here in Scalise's defense. Thomas G. Harvey acted as commissioner to take testimony and Assistant State's Attorney William Crawford represented State's Attorney Courtney.

Tells of Sending Checks.

Mrs. Helen Cumberland, 1007 Hollywood avenue, Des Plaines, was called as a defense witness to explain the payments to Scalise. She had been employed by the union and said she sent the checks to Scalise at the direction of Paul Davis, secretary treasurer of the union who has been "missing" for several months.

"I believe it was in 1934 that I was told by Mr. Davis that under an agreement with Jerry Horan [then president of the International union and since deceased] Scalise was to get a commission of 50 per cent of the monthly per capita tax of 35 cents per member for all new members brought into the union.

"After Mr. Horan's death I was instructed by Mr. Davis to pay Scalise monthly 50 per cent of the per capita tax of all members in his territory. Originally this was called commission. Later it was called expenses and each month, after Scalise received his check, he would mail back to me an expense account in the exact amount of the check I sent."

How Payments Ranged.

Some payments shown to have been made to Scalise follow: May 1, 1938, $2,518; June 30, 1938, $3,332; July 28, 1938, $2,462; Aug. 31, 1938, $2,414; Oct. 10, 1938, $2,374; Oct. 31, 1938, $2,293. The lowest payment in 1937 was listed at $1,994; the highest at $2,239. On May 3, 1939, the Scalise expense account was $3,744.

Depositions of two other witnesses were taken last night. They are Gus Van Heck, secretary and treasurer of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union and a member of the executive board of the international, and Harry Altschuler, 512 Belmont avenue, a public accountant.

Van Heck said he never knew Scalise collected a per capita tax on all members and that, so far as he knew, no authority to do so was ever granted by the board. He denied knowing anything about a salary raise from $12,000 to $20,000 a year given Scalise last year. Board meetings, he said, were usually perfunctory affairs.

Told to Strike a Balance.

Altschuler said he had made several audits of the international's books, and that Scalise, who hired him, told him not to go into the legitimacy of disbursements but only to strike a balance with the bank account.

Scalise, who has a prison record as a white slaver, took over the union after Horan's death. Since his indictment the presidency has been given to William McFetridge, former head of the Chicago flat janitors.

MOBERG CUSTODY SUIT TURNS TO MYSTERY MEN

'I Am' Believer Quoted on Strange Legend.

Mysterious happenings in the California hills involving a people always bathed in light and plentifully supplied with gold were read into the record yesterday at another session of the Moberg child custody suit before Thomas J. Sheehan, master in chancery of the Circuit court.

Richard T. Metcalfe.

The narrator was Richard T. Metcalfe, 38 years old, 9630 South Damen avenue, an insurance company executive. Metcalfe, who disavowed any belief in the legend, quoted Mrs. Naomi Moberg as having told it to him last summer. Mrs. Moberg, a member of the "I Am" mystic cult, is fighting the petition of her former husband, Harold, to gain sole custody of their son, Robert, 11 years old.

Story of Mountain People.

Moberg, represented by Attorney Benjamin B. Davis, contends that the "I Am" teachings and such a story as the California one are evidence that Mrs. Moberg should not have custody of the boy. At previous hearings, it was disclosed that Mrs. Moberg exhorted her son in letters to follow the "I Am" beliefs.

"Mrs. Moberg came to my home a year ago," Metcalfe said, under questioning by Davis. "She told about having been to California. She said there was a people in the mountains there who always lived in a brightly illuminated atmosphere and were a thousand years ahead of the rest of the world in intelligence.

"They have been able to harness the sun, she said, and get electricity from this source. Once a year, she added, they come out of the hills, laden with gold nuggets. They buy supplies, pay with the gold, and don't even ask for change. I asked Mrs. Moberg whether she had ever seen this strange people, but she wouldn't say."

No Link to "I Am" Sect.

Out of court, Mrs. Moberg said the California story had nothing to do with "I Am" teachings.

Moberg was called to the stand for cross examination by Attorney Benjamin Vanderveld, counsel for Mrs. Moberg.

The attorneys then announced that all evidence in the case, except for one more witness to be called by Davis, has been presented. The boy, who is now in his father's home at Des Moines, Ia., is to be brought to Chicago, possibly today, for a private hearing at which Master Sheehan will try to learn which parent he prefers.

Mrs. Moberg, who is 33 years old, lives at 9253 South Damen avenue. She and Moberg were divorced in 1934, the decree providing that they were to divide custody of the boy.

WALTER MAKES A BED; NOW YOU CAN LIE IN IT, A JUDGE INFORMS HIM

If it hadn't been for the lumps in his sister's mattress Walter Vrotney would not have been in the Felony court yesterday. But, as it was, Walter was there to learn the sad news that despite his yearning for a life of ease he must sleep on a hard mattress and get to work on time.

Vrotney, who is 22 years old, lives at 4521 South Hermitage avenue with his sister, Josephine, 24, and their three younger brothers. Since the death of their parents Josephine has been in charge of the household.

Last month she took the younger boys to Fox Lake for a vacation. Thinking that was a good time to make his rest easier Walter shifted Josephine's mattress to his bed, only to find a hard lump in it.

Walter prodded the lump. Out tumbled a hoard of bills—$775 in all—representing Josephine's savings.

As Walter said later, "I'd never had a chance for a good fling." So he started out to enjoy himself. First, with a chum and two girl friends, Walter peeled off $500 and bought a car from a rental agency.

Then, with the aid of his friends and attendants in the city's bright spots, Walter succeeded in getting rid of another $164. The next day police arrested him on suspicion.

Sister Josephine hurried home from her vacation. She succeeded in selling the automobile back to the rental agency for $480.

And yesterday Judge Joseph B. Hermes suggested that she bank the rest of her savings—$591.

As for Walter, Judge Hermes learned he has a job paying $25 a week. And the sister said Walter could earn even more if he would get to work on time.

That's what Walter must do—that and sleep on a hard mattress—Judge Hermes said, in granting the young man a year's probation. And if he fails, the judge ruled, Walter will be sleeping on a harder mattress and for a longer time—in the Bridewell.

RECORD THRONG AT GRANT PARK HEARS FLAGSTAD

Acres of Music Lovers Hail Wagnerian Soprano.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The largest concert audience of the season and one of the largest in Chicago's musical history gathered in Grant park last night to hear Kirsten Flagstad, the renowned Wagnerian soprano, appear in an all-Wagner program with the Chicago Opera orchestra under Edwin McArthur's direction.

Kirsten Flagstad.

All thru the sunny day people were arriving for the concert. To pass the time they picnicked, gossiped, dozed, and read. As evening approached more thousands kept streaming onto the gateless field from street car and bus terminals, from the Illinois Central, and elevated stations, from parking places anywhere from a block to a mile away. Nobody knows how many persons were there—scores of thousands, certainly. The nearest thing to a concrete fact was the statement that never in the history of the Grant park concerts had so many automobiles been parked.

All Seats Taken Early.

All the 22,000 seats were taken early, and people began arranging themselves over the great lawns to the east and west and south. They had blankets, newspapers, or just the green grass to sit or lie upon.

When the great moment arrived and Mme. Flagstad was introduced, the whole fieldful of people—acres and acres of them—joined in a tumultous greeting to her.

The dignity and placidity of her appearance [suggestive of the Nordic demi-goddesses with whom so much of her professional life has been concerned] made an immediate impression. This impression was deepened when she began to sing Senta's ballad from "The Flying Dutchman" and when her strong, brilliant voice was carried triumphantly to every corner of the audience area. Mme. Flagstad, it was realized, is a singer who is not dwarfed even by this tremendous Grant park setting of sky and lake and spreading fields.

She went on to "Elsa's Dream" from "Lohengrin," singing with that rapt, possessed quality which is particularly hers. She seemed so completely absorbed in the troubles and the consoling night visions of the Brabant princess that all Grant park could have been swallowed up in an earthquake and she would never even have noticed the hole.

Sieglinde's ecstatic "Du Bist der Lenz," from "The Valkyrie," was flung audienceward last night with a passion and conviction that must have made a lifelong Flagstad vassal of any listener who had so far withstood her power. A little later she sang the "Dich teure Halle" from "Tannhäuser" with an intoxicating momentum and joyfulness.

Love-Death Scene Is Climax.

The climax of the evening, of course, was the Love-Death from "Tristan and Isolde." This is the scene in which Mme. Flagstad transcends thought and emotion and the world, and finds for herself what amounts to a new musical dimension. There is no piece of music in the world which can follow Isolde's Love-Death—so there were no encores. Audience response would have made a dozen of them feasible.

Besides providing skilful accompaniments, Mr. McArthur and the orchestra offered sonorous and imaginative performances of several purely instrumental excerpts from the scores of "The Flying Dutchman," "Tannhäuser," "The Valkyrie," "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," and "Tristan and Isolde."

This concert was a part of the summeriong series sponsored by the Chicago Park district and the Chicago Federation of Musicians.

Miss Johnson has been reported engaged to Blaine Faber, whose father, formerly of Chicago, has been associated with a number of utility and railroad companies.

Cascades Queen

MISS PHYLLIS PICARD.

Carrie Jacobs Bond, the song writer, arrived in Chicago from Hollywood, Cal., yesterday, on her way to Jackson, Mich., where she is to appear at the third annual Cascades festival. Mrs. Bond was greeted at the Morrison hotel by a delegation headed by the festival queen, Miss Phyllis Picard, daughter of the Jackson postmaster. Among old friends in the group was Egbert van Alstyne, composer of the favorite old tunes, "Memories" and "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree."

At the Cascades festival, which opens tomorrow, a sumptuously costumed fantasy recalling the 19th century and taking its theme from Mrs. Bond's songs, "I Love You Truly" and "The End of a Perfect Day," is to be given.

PICK SOUTH SIDE MUSIC FESTIVAL VOCAL WINNERS

Best Dramatic Tenor Is Former Boxer.

Tenors, baritones, and contraltos sang more than three hours in the Shoreland hotel last night in the first contests for south side vocalists who aspire to be heard at the 11th Chicagoland Music Festival on the night of Aug. 17 in Soldiers' field.

The 250 spectators in the hotel ballroom also heard addresses by Robert Hall McCormick, vice president of the Chicago Opera company, and Anna Fitziu, opera star. Both praised the festival for the support it gives to the opera and the opportunity it affords young, unknown singers.

Winner Once a Boxer.

In the last 10 years the festival has enabled many persons to step from obscure positions into musical careers, they asserted. For example, the winner in the dramatic tenor division was a middleweight boxer a few years ago. He is James Lynch, 40 years old, of 7653 Essex avenue. When his boxing days were over he became a judge for the Illinois State Athletic commission and officiated at several Golden Gloves contests. Lynch now is sales manager for a coal company and is soloist in St. Clara's Catholic church.

Second place in the dramatic tenor division was won by Emil L. Poehlsen, 37, of 12001 Greenwood avenue, Blue Island. Third honors went to Ben Skolnik, 32, of 6733 East End avenue.

Railroader Leads Tenors.

Max Fitting, 35, of 6717 Perry avenue, led the lyric tenors. He is a railroad employé and a soloist in Bishop Cheney church at 70th street and Yale avenue. He won third place in last year's contest.

George McHardy, 18, of 6356 South Laflin avenue, student at Wilson Junior college, was second; Denis Cowan, 22 of 6346 Drexel avenue, who is studying for his master's degree in music at the University of Chicago, took third place.

One of the evening's most popular singers was Elmer W. Harris, 21 years old, colored, who was accorded top honors among the baritones. Harris, who lives at 442 East 48th street, is studying bacteriology at the University of Minnesota, but hopes to make music his career. He won second place in the contest last year.

Versatility His Forte.

William H. Tabbert, 19, of 2927 East 78th place, was second best among the baritones. His versatility is attested by his entrance last year in the tenor, baritone, and basso divisions.

He took first place as a baritone and was third among the tenors. The judges recognized him as he came up to sing as a basso and that ended that. Third baritone honors went last night to Edward M. Joyce, 26, of 8023 Rhodes street.

First place among the contraltos went to a young woman who in 1938 won the south side contest and the Cook county finals. She is Miss Jeanette Todd, 27, of 2125 West 54th place, a stenographer. Second honors went to Miss Kathrine McCulloch, 28, of 6931 Calumet avenue. She teaches in the Lincoln school at Wapun, Wis. Miss Ruth Reese, 28, colored, of 412 Bowen avenue, was third. She is a physical training instructor for the Chicago park district.

Judges were Miss Harriet Chase, Miss Janis Porter, and Edwin Kemp, voice teachers. Supervision was by Mrs. Edmund Tyler, chairman of the festival vocal and choral contests.

Bassos and four divisions of sopranos will compete at the Shoreland hotel tonight, beginning at 7 p. m.

SMITH HAYS DIES AT 72.

Homer, Ill., Aug. 8 [Special].—Smith Hays, 72, former carpenter and merchant who retired several years ago, died yesterday. The widow and two daughters survive.

Victorious in Contest

CHARGES OF PLOT CALLED ABSURD BY ALMAZANISTS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8 (AP).—Charges that the followers of Gen. Juan Almazan, who claims he won the bloody July presidential election, were plotting the assassination of President Cardenas and Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho, his presidential opponent, were termed "absurd" tonight by Almazan's party headquarters.

The attorney general's office questioned several Almazan leaders all night after the charges were brought by a congressional committee of congress. Today they said the questions concerned Almazan's intention to set up his own congress Sept. 1 in opposition to Camacho, who declares he won the election.

Almazan's party held its own election count last month after charging Camacho's followers kept Almazanistas from the polls. Almazan, now in Cuba, has said he intends to take office Dec. 1 when Cardenas' term expires.

Turn Out Bassoons in U. S. Because of Europe's War

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 8 (AP).—Because of war in Europe bassoons now are being made in the United States for the first time by an Elkhart musical instrument company. Before the war bassoons were manufactured by hand in Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, France, and Italy. The imported instruments sold in this country for about $450. The American made instruments cost $55 less.

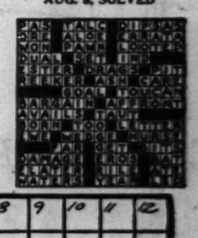
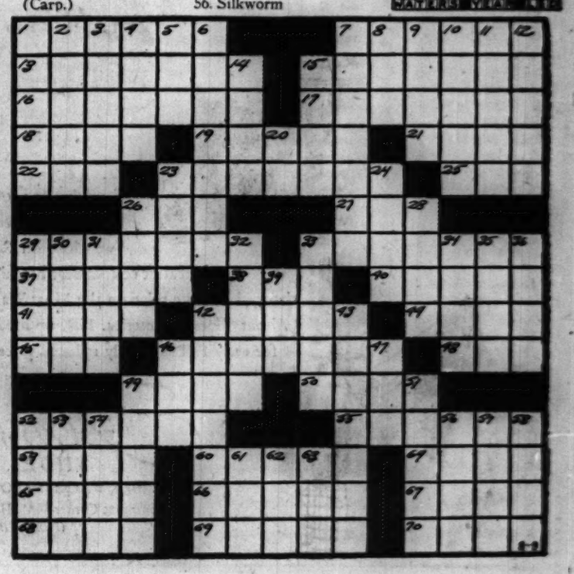
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, AUG. 8, SOLVED





CORN BELT PERIL VIEWED IN FLOOD OF HYBRID GRAINS

Spread Hastened by AAA, Says Farm Leader.

[Following is the sixth article in a series by a Tribune reporter who traveled thru seven farm states and parts of the south to gauge accomplishments of the Agricultural Adjustment administration. Today's article discusses the effects of the AAA's introduction of hybrid grain and the New Deal's cotton policy.]

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

An observer who travels thru the farm country to learn first hand about the Agricultural Adjustment administration soon finds that the viewpoint of many farmers is entirely local.

Few seem to realize the vastness of the AAA. Each thinks of it only as it affects him or his neighbors. Almost none can answer such questions as: What effect will the AAA have on the nation's agriculture in the long run? Upon its markets? Upon the character of the farmer himself?

In Marshall county, Iowa, however, was found James R. Howard. He was able to answer and to back his answers with figures. Behind him is a lifetime of successful farming. As the first national president of the American Farm Bureau federation, Howard became acquainted with the farm picture as a whole. He is a keen observer and a student of the AAA, with which he coöperates.

Tells Scheming to Produce More.

"Thru our township and county policing," he said, "we have come to obey the letter of the AAA pretty well. But we are not following the spirit of it. Every mother's son of us lies awake nights scheming to produce more on shorter acreage.

"Hybrid corn is one means. I don't say the AAA is entirely to blame for the flood of hybrid, but it hastened it. Hybrids would have been developed gradually and not thrust upon us all at once.

"Thinking farmers are wondering what the effect on the corn belt will be five years from now as a result of the AAA's activities elsewhere. One ominous factor is the development in the southwest of hybrid kaffir corn and milo maize. They had tremendous growth under the AAA. They are worth just as much for feed—ton for ton—as corn. They thrive in poor soil and under drouth conditions that would kill corn."

Hybrids Creep Northward.

And these hybrids are creeping northward, Howard continued. He said they recently were given a trial in the central western corn belt and that the yield was startling. If brought on gradually, this type of crop could be absorbed by the farm economy, he believes.

Commenting on the average farmer's lack of AAA knowledge and of the forces the AAA is building, Howard said:

"Here is another thing few farmers know. As a result of the AAA's drastic slashes in cotton acreage, other countries are going into cotton raising. There now is an export subsidy of $7.50 a bale on cotton to create markets abroad and to keep prices up here.

"But the chief export under the AAA's program has not been cotton. It has been cotton gin and compress machinery. To Brazil, to India, and to other countries. The fact that a cotton gin and compress costs from $35,000 up proves these countries are not raising cotton as a temporary measure. They're going into it for keeps. And every gin and compress sold means that a certain part of the American cotton market abroad has been lost forever."

Records Show Increase.

Records of the United States department of foreign and domestic commerce reveal how exports of gins and compresses have risen since 1932. The following table shows the value of the exports by years:

1932.....	$ 47,000	1936.....	$1,837,000
1933.....	211,000	1937.....	1,490,000
1934.....	1,014,000	1938.....	1,223,000

*Incomplete.

"Cultivation of cotton by other countries would have come eventually, little by little," Howard asserted. "The AAA has hastened it alarmingly. Our drastic crop curtailment gave them the incentive, and this sudden dislocation of production is a jolt. We feel it."

Economic dislocations and the loss of world markets, however, are not the real peril in the AAA, Howard believes. There is a danger much more subtle.

Dependence on Checks Told.

"We are getting to be dependent upon government checks," he continued. "We look forward to them; plan on them.

"Some of us begin to fear the time when the checks will no longer come; when the plan will end. I assure you we could end it more easily tomorrow than five years from tomorrow.

"Our frame of mind is rapidly approaching that of the abject WPA worker. And it is not strange. The farmer's situation under the AAA is strikingly like the other man's under the WPA. Further, under the AAA we are doing something that approaches immortality—we are taking money we don't earn."

Looks Hopefully to Science.

Howard looks hopefully to science, which he believes may help ease the farm problem thru creation of new markets for farm products.

Well posted farmers and farm leaders thruout the central west agree with Howard. One of these is Alfred Norris of Rushville, Rush county, Indiana. Norris operates a large fertilizer plant and knows the local and regional farm situation.

"Industry keeps researchers busy night and day finding new outlets for its products and new articles to manufacture," Norris said.

"Research instead of scarcity programs and subsidy payments is necessary. The government is doing some research thru regional laboratories, but there should be more of it. It should be more intensive."

Norris believes the AAA's scarcity program is wrong from the standpoint of its dramatic appeal to the farmer as well as fundamentally.

"It violates every point of the farmer's philosophy," he continued. "You tell him that his yield is 41 bushels of corn and 18 bushels of wheat to the acre. But when he plants he is betting he will make more. As in a game, he bets he will win by making more. Under the AAA he is made to feel that he is betting against himself.

"The AAA is fundamentally wrong because it is contrary to the great natural law of supply and demand. That law is too big to be tampered with by any man or group of men."

[Has the AAA attained the goal set for it seven years ago? Has it raised prices to "parity"? Has it put men to work, men other than its pay rollers? Has it, on the other hand, increased unemployment? These questions will be discussed tomorrow.]

SWING OPERETTA BRINGS DELIGHT TO RADIO CROWD

Chimes of Normandy Goes Streamline on W-G-N.

The streamlined radio adaption of the swing version of "The Chimes of Normandy" was received enthusiastically last night by an audience which crowded the main studio of W-G-N. The French operetta, presented by a Negro cast of 75, was broadcast from 7 to 8 over the Mutual system as a feature of the In Chicago Tonight series.

Producer Harry Minturn brought the cast to the radio studio attired in the colorful costumes which marks the stage production at the American Negro exposition in the Coliseum. The choral work of the company, and the zest with which its members attacked the swing numbers, drew the applause of the audience.

Two Leading Hits.

The "Cannibal Isles" number and Gladys Boucree, swinging the "Legend of the Bells" were favorites at the radio performance. Leading rôles were handled by Miss Boucree as Germaine, William Franklin, leading Chicago Negro baritone, as Henri, Maurice Cooper as Grechineaux, Frankie Fambro as Serpolette, and Louis White as the bailiff.

The cast of the radio and nightly stage version is the same which brought to attention the swing version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Mikado," at the Great Northern theater last year.

The plot, as in the original Robert Jean Planquette operetta, deals with a haunted castle and the love of Henri, a French marquis, for a girl he assumes to be a commoner. The haunters of the castle are exposed and it is disclosed that Germaine, supposed commoner, is a true marchioness.

Swing Children Is Swung.

A number which captured the fancy of the audience was the "Swing Children" song with swing interpolations by Elvira Johnson and John Hughes. The performance, which was cut from two hours to 60 minutes for radio consumption by W-G-N producer William A. Bacher, moved smoothly to a conclusion.

Jess Kirkpatrick, W-G-N master of ceremonies, announced that next Thursday the In Chicago Tonight program at 7:30 p. m. will feature Sabu, "The Elephant Boy," and the English actress, June Duprez. They will re-create for radio, scenes from the Alexander Korda triumph, "The Thief of Bagdad."

EXPERTS WARN STONE PARK OF HEALTH PERILS

Two experts on sanitation—Dr. Edward Piszczek of the Cook county health service and Carl Schwob, a sanitary engineer for the state—last night told the village board of Stone Park that great health dangers existed in the community because of the lack of a central water supply and sewers.

They added that their organizations were without authority to remedy the situation, and suggested that the board appoint them special health officers. Bertram Hall, acting village president, said this probably would be done. He also announced the resignation of Howard Thomas, the village president. Stone Park, which has a population of 700, is near North avenue and Mannheim road, west of Melrose Park.

BEGIN WORK NEXT WEEK ON AIRPORT RAILWAY PROJECT

Work will be started next week on building the new right of way for the tracks of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad which now bisect Chicago airport.

This was announced yesterday by F. E. Morrow, chief engineer for the railroad, after he had been notified that Bert Keefe, chief deputy controler for the city, had deposited $562,091 in the American National Bank and Trust company. This money represents the estimated cost, which the city agreed to pay, of building the project.

Morrow estimated it will take from six to eight months to build the new right of way and remove the old tracks from the field.

RETURN RUNAWAY GIRLS.

Two girls who ran away from their homes in Peoria, Ill., Sunday to find work in Chicago were turned over to the Travelers' Aid society by police yesterday to be returned to their parents. They are Virginia Dettus, 14 years old, and Doris Pecher, 15.

A NEW WAY TO AMEND THE CONSTITUTION.

Any one who reads newspapers or magazines or listens to the radio is aware of the intense rivalry which prevails among the manufacturers of cigarets. It is one of the most highly competitive industries. Now one brand and then another leads in popularity. Camels was the biggest seller in 1929, giving way to Lucky Strikes the next year. In 1934 both Camels and Luckies relinquished the lead to Chesterfields, and last year Camels again outsold the other brands. Early in the depression Old Gold made rapid strides, and in the last four years Philip Morris has taken fourth place.

Meanwhile, since 1931 less well-known names have been making consistent progress. Eight times as many of the "all other" brands were consumed last year as in 1931. Their share of the business increased from 4 per cent to 21 per cent in that interval. The three leaders did 86 per cent of the business in 1929, but only 70 per cent last year. Patronage is constantly shifting.

It would be hard to believe that any government official, in the light of these facts, would assert that there was restraint of trade here. Nevertheless Assistant Attorney General Thurman W. Arnold has brought criminal action under the antitrust law against the leading tobacco companies. The grounds he takes suggest that there is more in his action than meets the eye. He charges that these concerns "by extensive and continuous nation-wide advertising and by various sales promotion schemes created and maintained such public acceptance and demand for their major brands that, the offering of such products being a necessary adjunct to the conduct of numerous wholesale, retail, and service establishments, such establishments are forced to handle the products of defendants and others."

It is true that tobacco companies have created a demand for their particular brands by advertising. And no one disputes that as a consequence the cigar stores seeking to do as large a volume of business as possible have been obliged to sell all of those particular brands. As a result the consumer has a wide range of choice. It is not true, nor is it charged, that the manufacturers have brought pressure upon the retailers to keep them from offering other brands for sale, or that prices were reduced in one area to ruin a small competitor. The offense of the cigaret manufacturers consists in their successful use of advertising.

No one will question that advertising has played an important part in the sevenfold increase in the consumption of cigarets since 1915. It would seem that the federal government would be the last to complain of the success of these advertising efforts, for it is the principal beneficiary. Every time a 15 cent package of cigarets is sold the government collects 6½ cents in taxes. The government will receive 600 million dollars in taxes this year from the tobacco companies. The companies' net profit is less than 100 million dollars a year. Thus the government makes 6 times as much out of the cigaret business as the cigaret manufacturers do.

Mr. Arnold goes beyond common sense when he stretches "restraint of trade" to cover the use of advertising for consumer acceptance. Advertising has been one of the most effective tools for raising the standard of living of the people of the country. By broadening the market it has made large scale production possible. Advertising is indispensable in an economy in which every one is free to offer his wares to all the people he is able to reach.

Mr. Arnold attempts to restrict the use of columns of the newspapers and the radio channels by these manufacturers in publicizing their wares. He would make burocrats the arbiters of what manufacturers may say about their products, and how often they may say it. The antitrust law cannot be construed to have placed such limitations upon any one, because the constitution withholds from congress authority to pass any law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press. Some companies when attacked by the federal government have weakened. Mr. Arnold is attempting to repeal the first amendment by consent decree.

MISSOURI DEMOCRATS HELP THE G. O. P.

Republicans will find encouragement in the results of the Democratic primary in Missouri. On the unofficial returns Senator Truman, seeking renomination, won by a few thousand votes from Gov. Stark. It was the city machines of St. Louis and Kansas City that put him over.

In the November election the Missouri ticket headed by Truman should give as much aid and comfort to the Republican candidates as the Illinois ticket headed by Strongbox Slattery. Truman is of the same stripe as Slattery, a New Deal yes man, product of a corrupt political machine and touched by personal scandal. Members of his family borrowed public funds on a mortgage on property which it now appears was grossly overvalued by the political custodians of a trust fund who purchased the mortgage.

Republicans in most years have had a hard task in carrying Missouri. With the Roosevelt and Humanity banner in the hands of Senator Truman, the creature of the notorious Pendergast graft ring, their task this year will be greatly simplified.

THE RESCUE OF THE CHILDREN.

An amendment to the neutrality act adopted by the house of representatives and now on its way to the senate would permit American ships to enter the war zones to bring away children under 16 years old. Assurance of safe conduct would be required of all belligerents.

Most of the children rescued from the scene of war would probably be, because of the nature of things, from Great Britain, but the project contemplates removal from any region providing the stipulations of the law can be satisfied. The travel expense must be paid by the countries from which the children come, by the governments, by the parents, or by private agencies. The children must be booked to private persons here who will support them so long as they are in this country.

In consequence of these provisions it may be expected that nearly all the children will be taken from well to do homes abroad and will enter well to do homes here. There will be more of the rich than the poor. The humanity which reaches out a hand for children who can be rescued by removal has another claim on its mercies. What of the children who cannot be taken away and who may need food if the war goes on?

It is reported that there would not be much of a food problem now in many places in Europe if it were not for the destruction of transportation in occupied regions and the overcrowding of localities by refugees who can't get home. Supplies cannot be distributed. Whatever the problem is now it may be expected to grow worse and the weakest will suffer the most.

Ships which can remove the more fortunate children can take supplies to the less fortunate under the same stipulations of safe conduct. In 1914 the relief of Belgium and northern France began three months after the war started. The British permitted the supply ships to pass thru the blockade and the Germans agreed that the food should be distributed to the civilians under the supervision of the relief commission. In the following five years more than two thousand cargoes, with five million tons of supplies, went into the occupied areas.

Congress has appropriated $50,000,000 for the distribution of our surplus foods by the American Red Cross in Europe, but no one has been able to get an agreement out of the belligerents. An agreement was reached in 1914 and it was successfully carried out. An agreement will be needed before the ships can bring lucky children out safely, and if it can be had for that purpose an extension of it would give food to the unlucky children of blockaded Europe.

THE FAVORITE DICTATOR.

The trade treaty with Russia has just been renewed. The stipulation that Russia is to buy a certain amount of American goods is dropped. That is a recognition of the fact that a soviet pledge isn't worth incorporating in anything.

The Stalin dictatorship has just completed the annihilation of the little Baltic states which were supposed to have a democracy such as this country would encourage, in line with its traditional devotion to the free man in free government. An autocracy which holds the record of the modern world for long period brutality has completely extended its despotism over people who were making great progress in difficult times, and this despotism is now again threatening Finland with the familiar preliminary terrorism which is usually followed by the disappearance of the victim.

The administration in Washington, pretending to have a holy war against despotisms, makes a favorite of Stalin and his commissars. Our government can get along with his government. Mr. Roosevelt has been very friendly in his expressions, and the note of criticism momentarily forced by the invasion of Finland was toned to a whisper. There are enough fellow travelers in Washington to preserve bonds of sympathy with the Kremlin commissars and evidences of the kinship are apparent.

The Washington government can't get along with Tokio, and it is desperately trying to go to war with Germany and Italy. Each day finds some new effort to do something to make that war a fact before the people of the country can stop it. Apparently the United States could deal by treaty and agreements with a Europe controled by Stalin and the communists, but the present American government has made it impossible for the United States to adjust itself in peace to a Europe organized under the autocracies of Hitler and Mussolini.

50 DESTROYERS TO BRITAIN?

[New York Daily News.]

Our allegedly huge batch of destroyers comes, by the latest figures we can obtain, to 236 on hand and 61 building. Of these, 187 are in the over-age class alluded to by Gen. Pershing.

As of June 30, 1940, with the battle of France over and the battle of Britain expected to begin at any moment, Britain was estimated by competent American observers to have 100 destroyers completed and available for service around the British Isles. The British are thought to have picked up eight or nine French destroyers in the July 4 coup that smashed part of the French fleet and put most of the rest of it in British hands.

The Germans have been knocking off or disabling British destroyers pretty rapidly, so that quite a number of those unsunk are out of action for repairs.

Destroyers, at least, appear exceedingly vulnerable to air attack. These 50 of ours, if considerately placed within reach of the German bombers, will also be disabled pretty rapidly.

Then will come the call for another 50, and after that for as much of our navy "as we can spare."

Well, how much can we spare? We've been told over and over again that our navy should be doubled in size. Appropriations have passed congress to make it so. So how much can we spare out of a navy that's only half big enough?

Now, we should be sorry indeed to see the British empire fall. This country will be in greater danger if it does so. But it will be in greater danger still if it sends any considerable portion of its armed forces to Europe within reach of Hitler's bombers.

If we have to fight Hitler some day, as we may, why in heaven's name should we accommodate him by sending our warships within reach of his bombers based on his land airfields, instead of compelling him to come over and fight us within reach of our bombers based on our land airfields?

It would be ten times as difficult and as expensive for Hitler to kill an American soldier on this side of the ocean as it would be to kill him if we sent him over to Europe.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

A ROUND OF AMETHYSTS.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union, now in conclave, has made a happy addition to the vocabulary of conviviality. Hereafter, when led to the cocktail bowl, we will say, "An amethyst drink, please," and arouse amazement and admiration instead of jeers. This expression has an urbane and patrician sound, while "soft drink" has many social disadvantages.

Pliny is the classic author to be consulted about the antialcoholic properties of amethysts. Being a scientist, he didn't believe this bit of folklore, but many a guzzling Roman drank his wine from an amethyst cup to ward off drunkenness. The word itself means "not to intoxicate."

There is a drink that has a dark amethyst color, but we advise the W. C. T. U. to fight shy of it, because the salubrious spell has been omitted in its concoction. It is called Crême Yvette, and is a high powered liqueur which tastes like a perfume shop. Sometimes, but not often, we are happy to say, it is mixed with gin in a shaker of ice; and then it becomes the once notorious Blue Moon which causes debutantes to dive into the nearest swimming pool in their party dresses. The color of the Blue Moon is that of a star sapphire, and poets have been known to burst into song at the mere sight of the fatal potion.

An amethyst drink to which we are partial during heat waves is root beer, and whenever we quaff a bottle of it we think of the good old days when home manufacture of this beverage was in fashion. You bought a certain essence or powder, added it to a washtub of water, tossed in some yeast, waited a while, and then bottled the stuff. If the shot of yeast was too strong, the bottles exploded in a spell of hot weather; and there was much talk over back fences in the average American families about such catastrophes.

The domestic root beer of those virtuous and thrifty years was more enjoyable than the domestic home brew beer of the prohibition period.—Garçon, an amethystine round, s'il vous plait; and let ours be the foaming root beer of childhood.

English vs. American Humor (a Draw).

London-Southampton Express. In the compartment with me that comparative rarity—a garrulous Englishman.

"Extraordinary names you have for your villages and towns in America," he said. "Really absurd, as a matter of fact. Great Neck! Big Horn! Mishawaka! A friend of mine once sent me a most incredible one—O-c-o-n-o-m-o-w-o-c. I mean to say no one could pronounce that! Dare say you can't see how ridiculous they are—eh—may I have your card? O, I say, this is priceless! South Bend! Jove! I mean to say what bends south—d'ye see? Most amusing, you know!"

As he put my card in his pocketbook his own card fell to the floor, unnoticed. When he had left the train I picked it up:

Brompton Bassford-Bottomley, Esq.,
Stoke-Chiddingfold-the-Lesser,
Little Whining,

A Bigger and Better Plowing Under.

Two of our neighborhood youngsters were discussing politics the other day. Said one: "Well, my dad's for Willkie. He says Roosevelt plows under too much stuff. He plows under every third row of cotton, he plows under every third row of sugar cane, he plows under every third row of corn." Then the other kid piped up: "What he ought to do is to plow under every third Roosevelt."

ON OUR STREET.

Whenever I walk down the little street
Where you and I used to walk,
I wonder, if we should chance to meet,
Would we smile, and stop and talk?

And what would we say to each other now,
Who have said so much before?
Would we remember a broken vow?
Would we vow it over once more?

Or would we speak in a stilted tone
"What do you think of this weather!"
Speak, and smile, and go on alone—
We who were once together?
Do you think it is better we never meet?
Do you think I should walk on another street?

Massacre of the Innocents.

More dumb cluckery! The Tribune's Bob Becker, who marveled at the pink carpet of bouncing Bet on the prairies of south Evanston [July 26], ought to show up for mourning in the south shore district, where in all the vacant lots he'll find mounds of their dried and brown remains. The WPA mowed them down together with acres of blue spider lilies and wild grape, taking a hack on the side at the new shoots of scrub oak. The anti-weeders have already exterminated the wild rose, sweet clover, and bergamot on the south shore, and at last the ragweed is beginning to rise hopefully in the waste.

BRIDE POUTS AT DUKE.

(An answer to Duke Bakrak's cynical verses on matrimony, Aug. 6.)

Dear Duke: Your poem has hurt me so,
I thought it fair that you should know!
Those cracks that George must sew his socks—
And dust the chairs and wind the clocks—
And scrub and sweep and mend and stuff
Are all so sad—but true enough!
The thing that has me in a pout
Is—how in the heck did you find out?

BUBONIC PLAGUE AND THE RAT FLEA.

JUST why rats are allowed to exist is a puzzle. Perhaps certain felines and pups need exercise. As far as man is concerned they are filth spreaders and food destroyers of the first order. Furthermore, they may transmit disease. In fact, bubonic plague, caused by a microörganism bearing the high sounding name "Pasteurella pestis," is spread by means of the rat flea. These jumpers can pass from animal to animal or from rodent to man.

Historically, the malady has been known for centuries. It was the Black Death which extended over Europe in the 14th century, taking hundreds of thousands of lives. Like influenza, it appears in waves—perhaps when the organisms become more virulent. Our latest world-wide experience began in 1894, when the plague reached Canton and Hongkong from the interior of China. Infection was then conveyed over the various sea routes to the Americas, Australia, and other regions of the world. It struck Bombay in 1898 and from that time on was disseminated steadily thruout India. Between this date and 1933 the mortality in that country alone exceeded 12 millions.

Fortunately—within the borders of the United States—we have been able to avoid any wholesale occurrence of the pestilence; and we owe our comparative freedom from this dread affliction to the United States public health service and the alertness of our state, county, and city health officers. But we are far less aware of the menace of allowing rats to propagate than we should be. Extermination requires coöperation on the part of every one with all officials responsible for sanitation.

While more than 100 species of fleas may live and flourish on rodents, only a few are common. One in particular is the chief transmitter of the plague germ. But this special form has a great appetite for human blood—which it seems to prefer. We are missing a potent health measure when we fail to eradicate these carriers. While there may be no cause for alarm we dare not relax our vigilance, especially at seaports.

We can get rid of all prowlers by taking away their food. They will breed only where there is a reasonable supply. This means that storage bins must be rendered ratproof; and we must not allow spoiled garbage or carelessly disposed of refuse to accumulate. A general alley cleanup will accomplish two desirable objects. It will force rodents to seek other areas and thus destroy the feeding ground of fleas. We must not forget that the gopher and the ground squirrel—thru their visitors—may be carriers.

Several years ago bubonic plague broke out in New Orleans and 30 cases were reported within 10 or 12 weeks. Even this small number was considered an emergency and an antirat campaign was inaugurated. Hundreds of men were added to the sanitary corps and—in less than 12 months—a quarter of a million specimens were put to death.

It goes without saying that if vermin cannot be caught, poison may be employed. It is far wiser to resort to this plan than to permit them to infest the premises. But trapping is preferable because the fleas will be captured as well. Otherwise these insects may seek a household pet upon which to continue survival.

VALVULAR DISEASE.

M. S. writes: What is valvular disease of the heart?

REPLY.

Inflammation may attack the edges of the valve leaflets within the pumping organ. As it subsides, the structures may remain rough so that close approximation is impossible. In consequence, the valve leaks or permits blood to flow backward into the chamber from whence it came. Now and then the orifice is narrowed. After the acute process abates, the defect may persist. This does not mean, however, that you cannot live to be a hundred. Physicians consider this type of injury far less serious than they did a generation ago.

NEURALGIA IN TOES.

C. V. writes: What is Morton's neuralgia? Is there a cure for it?

REPLY.

A type of neuralgia usually affecting the third or fourth toe. The seat of the pain is in the region of the metatarsal bone. An arch support for the parts may be helpful—or anything that will relieve pressure in this area. In some instances the malady is mistaken for gout.

CYST ON SPINE.

T. Y. writes: Will a cyst at the end of the spine develop into cancer if it is not removed?

REPLY.

Possible but not likely. The lesion is known as a pilonidal cyst. Surgical removal is advised.

MASSAGE.

T. F. writes: Is massage helpful in a case of osteomyelitis?

REPLY.

Not advised. Rest and adequate surgical drainage are the remedies of choice.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 9, 1593

Izaak Walton, patron of all fishermen, born. He began his career as a London ironmonger. Thru association with leading literary figures of the day he became interested in writing, turning first to biographies. Fishing was his pastime, and his famous "Compleat Angler" was a leisurely collection of his fishing observations during 25 years. Contrary to general impression, he was a live bait fisherman, and relied on friends for information on fly fishing.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

"WHAT EVERYBODY KNOWS."

Chicago, Aug. 6.—In discussing the candidacy of Mr. Willkie with a group of ardent New Dealers, I discovered that the biggest gun in their smear artillery was that familiar bugaboo, the "utilities issue." "Everybody knows," they said, "that the utility companies have robbed and exploited the public almost beyond endurance for years. Surely you can't want a representative of this band of exploiters in the high office of President."

Now, having always considered myself to be a public spirited citizen, concerned with all matters relating to our national welfare, I am naturally alarmed to find myself ignorant of such an obvious fact "that everybody knows."

I resolve to look into this matter. Who are these exploiters they refer to? Could one of them be the company supplying my electric power? Of course. Why, those dirty brigands!

Straightway I rush to my desk and begin to leaf thru the household accounts. Here it is; my electric bill for the last month. By George, they were right! Look at that bill—$3.71 for just one month's services! Preposterous! Surely that couldn't be right. Why, we only have to light five rooms! Of course, we do have a few minor appliances such as the radio, the vacuum cleaner, the electric refrigerator, the washing machine, and an electric razor.

Can you imagine that? Twelve and a half cents a day for these puny services. Why, it only costs me $9 a month to operate my car. I can take my family of four to the movies twice weekly for the small sum of $8 a month. Haircuts and the beauty parlor cost us only $5.25 monthly. My wife and I can watch our big league ball team play twice a month for the paltry sum of $4.40. Even my cigarets, which I have always considered a personal extravagance, only set me back the insignificant sum of $4.50 a month.

With these figures before me it is apparent [even to this dyed in the wool conservative] that a monthly electric bill of $3.71 represents the acme of exploitation.

I am deeply grateful to my New Deal friends for setting me right on something "everybody knows." Having been thus enlightened, there should be small danger of my falling into the clutches of the "Hoosier power baron." But alas and alack, man is at best a perverse animal incapable of sound reasoning. I am afraid that come election day I will have forgotten my New Deal lesson to such an extent that I shall mark my ballot for that vicious exploiter of the people, Wendell Willkie.

WOULD HONOR WIRT'S MEMORY.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—I think a public subscription should be in order to build a suitable memorial to Dr. William E. Wirt, the great Gary educator, for being the first loyal American to openly accuse this present administration of sham, intrigue, and a vicious attempt to overthrow our present form of government, and substitute a "copy" or "pattern" of Russia's soviet. One cannot make mention of what has been going on in Washington for the last seven years or more without connecting the name of Dr. Wirt with it because of his early exposé.

FROM A PARK BENCH.

Jackson Park Bench, Chicago, Aug. 6.—First of all I have no address as I sleep wherever I can, but I do get around. I am so tired of hearing about Mike Carrozzo that I just have to voice my thoughts. The men of Chicago who were being bled by this alien Carrozzo were a bunch of yellow cowards, as are all these dopes who are being bled by the old Capone gang. Everybody is afraid he will get bumped off. If the decent people would get together and do away with some of these aliens and our rotten politicians who are in with them there might be a chance for people to live a decent life. We have more dictators here in Chicago than they have in the old country, and they are all aliens.

Well, there are too many people getting around here now, so I will let this go till the next time, when I have loads more to tell you.

THE POLES ON POLISH DAY.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—Next Sunday the Poles of Chicago will gather at Riverview park to celebrate the Polish day festival, and to reaffirm their 100 per cent loyalty to the United States. They believe in America and think it is the most wonderful country in the world

You may be sure there will be no subversive propaganda or speeches lauding totalitarian tyrants, because the Pole has always believed in the dignity of the individual, and in liberty, fraternity and equality, as well as humanity, justice and mercy. "Right is might" has always been his guide, and like Pulaski he is ready to shed his blood and give his life in order that American independence be preserved.

LINCOLN'S SLEEPLESS NIGHT.

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 5.—If Mr. J. C. Becker, whose letter comments on President Roosevelt lying awake nights, will read the book, "Our Presidents," by James Morgan, he will find on page 8 this paragraph:

"Without waiting for congress at the outbreak of the civil war, Abraham Lincoln decided by himself one sleepless night whether the Union should be defended or abandoned. Before calling the lawmakers together, he raised two armies and suspended the writ of habeas corpus. Without an act of congress, he freed millions of slaves by a stroke of his pen. At the end of the conflict he alone dictated the terms of peace." Jessie Sanders.

INDORSES FASHION CONTEST.

New York, Aug. 6.—I have recently become informed thru The Chicago Tribune and Women's Wear of your splendid contest and would like to congratulate you and your fashion editor for coming to the fore at this crucial moment in fashion and creative history.

We all have the greatest hope for the revival of the haut couture in France, but with the fashion business organized for such tremendous production it is impossible to await reorganization abroad, and it is for this reason that your impetus is so important. The size of the prizes will certainly attract aces as well as amateurs, and I, for one, want to wish you great success in your response as well as in results.

JUMBO A HERO TO OLDSTERS.

Riverside, Ill., Aug. 6.—No item concerning Barnum's Jumbo can be trivial to men who were circus loving boys in 1882-'85. Weren't we told that Barnum paid the Royal Zoölogical gardens in London $10,000 for him? Couldn't we see that he was 11 feet 6 inches high and weighed 6 tons? Wasn't that something? I venture, therefore, to add one item to Herma Clark's account of Jumbo contained in "When Chicago Was Young" of Sunday's Tribune. Not only is Jumbo's skin mounted and now in the Barnum Museum of Natural History of Tufts college as related, but also his skeleton is preserved in the Smithsonian institution at Washington.

That Jumbo was killed in the St. Thomas, Canada, railroad accident because he tried to save a child from the approaching train may have been one of Barnum's polite fictions, but it did not overtax our credulity then. If fairies and Aladdin's golden ring were real, why shouldn't Jumbo be a hero?

FENCE NEEDS REPAIR.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—What can be done about having the next door fence repaired? It fell down on a little 2 year old boy. I told the owner to have the fence fixed but he has not done so. What can be done about it?

J. B.

You state no reasons why the obligation should not rest on you as much as on the other party to repair the fence.

The wording of the Fence Act indicates that the legislature had agriculture properties primarily in mind. Sec. 2, for example, provides that a fence "sufficient to turn stock" shall be legal. Altho the applicability of this wording to urban property is open to some question there is no express exception and we regard the act as applying to division fences between city lots which are inclosed on their other boundaries. It follows that adjoining owners should contribute equally to cost and repair of each such fence.

Section 58-31 of the Chicago Municipal Code provides: "No wooden fence shall be constructed of greater height than eight feet above the sidewalk grade or eight feet above the surface of the ground where no grade is established."

We have no provision like the Indiana statute, which requires the owner east of the fence to build the north one-half, and the owner north of the fence to build the west one-half. Tribune Law Department.

DEMAND TO HEAR 2 EX-SENATORS IN R. C. A. BRIBE CASE

Quizzers Given Details of Payoff in Trust Suit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] climaxed an all day session of the senate interstate commerce committee by demanding late this afternoon that two former United States senators be summoned before the committee to reply to charges that a government officer was bribed to delay the trial of a federal antitrust suit, in which they were interested, against the Radio Corporation of America.

Senator Tobey [top], Daniel O. Hastings [center], and George H. Moses.

The two former senators are Daniel O. Hastings [R., Del.] and George H. Moses [R., N. H.].

It was charged at previous hearings that each received $5,000 from the R. C. A. for allegedly helping to obtain a continuance of the case in September, 1932, shortly before it was scheduled to go to trial.

It also was charged that H. C. Mahaffy Jr., clerk in the Wilmington, Del., federal District court, where the suit was pending, received $15,000 from the corporation for issuing the continuance order.

Quotes Hastings' Version.

Today C. Edward Duffy, a Wilmington attorney and former law partner of Hastings, testified before the committee that Hastings told him of paying $2,500 to Clerk Mahaffy to get the R. C. A. case continued. The occasion for giving this information, Duffy said, was the dissolution of his and Hastings' partnership and the settlement of their accounts. Hastings told him, Duffy said, that the $2,500 was taken out of a $7,500 fee paid the Hastings firm by the R. C. A.

In the midst of Duffy's testimony, Senator Tobey leaped to his feet to moved that subpenas be issued immediately for both Hastings and Moses. Following a brief discussion Senator Burton K. Wheeler, committee chairman, ruled that the former senators should be given an opportunity to appear voluntarily.

Of course, if we have to issue subpenas, that's another matter," Wheeler said, "That's something to be taken up later."

Story Gradually Unfolds.

All day, in the narrow smoke filled committee chamber, with tension increasing as one astonishing revelation followed another, the hearing slowly took on sensational aspects.

First was unfolded the story of how three inconspicuous Washington real estate operators were projected into the case, one of the most important government antitrust suits on record, including charges that they forced the powerful R. C. A. to pay them "rewards" in connection with the successful outcome of the case.

Then, amid expressions of disbelief which at times became outright derisive laughter, the senators also heard Clerk Mahaffy, a nervous little man, graying and stoop shouldered, assert there was nothing unusual in his being summoned to New York to confer on matters of court procedure with Hastings, when the latter was in congress, and to give legal advice to Hastings, a veteran attorney.

Weigh Brown Confirmation.

The committee is in session to consider the confirmation of President Roosevelt's reappointment of Thad H. Brown to the Federal Communications commission. In the beginning it was a routine matter and little interest was shown by any one.

However, charges were made that Brown is unfit to serve on the FCC because of his failure to institute antitrust proceedings against the R. C. A. on the basis of evidence allegedly at his disposal. Inquiry into these charges led to the present sensational developments.

An affidavit which charged that former Senators Hastings and Moses and Clerk Mahaffy were paid by the R. C. A. to delay the start of the antitrust trial was introduced in evidence on Monday. It was signed by E. O. Keller, one of the three Washington real estate men about whom the committee heard evidence today. Keller asserted that Robert D. O'Callaghan, an attorney for the R. C. A., sought his advice in September, 1932, relative to getting the case continued.

Tells of Suggesting Attorney.

Keller said he and the other two real estate men mentioned today, Whyland Shaffer and Levin Handy, suggested that a Washington attorney of their acquaintance, Roger J. Whiteford, be retained to represent the corporation in its petition for a delay in the start of the trial.

The company wanted the continuance, it has been admitted by its officials, to permit time for drafting a consent decree. But Warren Olney, a special assistant United States attorney general, was adamant and insisted that the case would have to go to trial on Oct. 10, 1932, as scheduled.

Witnesses have testified that O'Callaghan said it would be worth $250,000 to the company to have the continuance granted because a delay would mean a saving of at least $1,000,000 in trial costs.

Meetings Are Related.

Attorney Whiteford, according to Keller, arranged a meeting between David Sarnoff, president of R. C. A., and Moses at the latter's office in Concord, N. H. Moses is said to have suggested that Hastings' firm be retained as counsel for the corporation.

Hastings, Keller's statement alleged, met Mahaffy, clerk of the Wilmington court, a few days later in the lobby of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York City. Mahaffy admitted today that he went to New York to confer with Hastings, and records show that a few days after this meeting the clerk issued the continuance order for which he allegedly was paid $15,000. Mahaffy, however, flatly denied receiving any money.

Shaffer Alleges Fee Hint.

Shaffer, one of the three real estate men, was the first witness of today. He alleged that Attorney O'Callaghan hinted at a "fee" of $50,000 "for any one who helped get the continuance."

"Back in 1932 times were bad and all real estate men were hungry," Shaffer explained brightly. "It looked like a good proposition. We [referring to Handy, Keller, and himself] took it up together and then suggested that Attorney Whiteford be hired by R. C. A."

Later, Shaffer related, the three demanded money for their services, but the company seemed disinclined to pay them anything. Handy made several demands, and Whiteford, after conferring with Attorney O'Callaghan, gave them $3,000 which they divided equally, according to Shaffer.

Questioned by Senator.

"What did you do that you thought you had anything coming?" asked Senator Wheeler.

"Why, we introduced the company to Mr. Whiteford," replied Shaffer.

"Did you think you were entitled to more?" Wheeler asked. "Did you ask for more?"

"In all probability," Shaffer said. "You see very often in my business one little thought means a lot of money."

"The thought you had—that you expected to make you a lot of money—was that Whiteford and Senator Moses both have summer homes at Rye [N. Y.], wasn't it?" Senator Wheeler demanded.

"Well, we knew that, of course," the witness explained, "but the main thing was Mr. Whiteford's fine reputation."

Keller also admitted from the stand that Attorney O'Callaghan paid him approximately $4,000 for his part in obtaining the trial delay. His other testimony supported the facts given in his affidavit.

Mahaffy Next on Stand.

Mahaffy was summoned next to the stand. He admitted, under questioning by Senators Wheeler and Tobey, that he had been called from his home in Wilmington to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel one evening late in September, 1932, by Hastings in connection with the R. C. A. case. He said he met Hastings in the lobby and conferred with him there, then returned immediately to Wilmington.

"He told me that he had been retained or expected to be retained as counsel for the R. C. A.," the witness said. "We discussed method of procedure for getting a continuance and I advised him on the proper course to pursue."

Not Unusual, He Says.

Thereupon the following exchanges took place:

WHEELER—Senator Hastings was a lawyer of long experience. You don't expect me to believe or any intelligent member of the committee to believe that he called you to New York to give him legal advice.

TOBEY—What did he tell you he couldn't have told you over the telephone? Isn't it a fact he had things to say to you he couldn't trust to a telephone wire?

MAHAFFY—O, there wasn't anything unusual about that. I've been called to New York many times.

WHEELER—I don't doubt it. From your testimony here today, I don't doubt for a moment that you have been called to New York many, many times.

The spectators and members of the committee at this point joined in loud laughter as Senator Wheeler shook his finger in the witness' face.

Queried About Income.

TOBEY—Wouldn't you say it was strange, unusual, uncanny, even a bit eerie for a United States senator to call you to New York to talk to you about a case he has been retained in.

MAHAFFY—No.

TOBEY—No, I suppose not. It's probably happened so often you've become inured to it by now.

Under further examination, Mahaffy testified that he is worth between $18,000 and $20,000; that his salary is $5,000 a year and that he has no other source of income. He said he has two bank accounts and a brokerage account which "hasn't much in it."

Senator Wheeler indicated that the records of these accounts will be brought before the committee for study.

Mahaffy also admitted having a safe deposit box and, asked how much money is in it, said there is "a little gold" in it.

Demands Bar Records.

At this point, Senator Tobey threw the hearing into an uproar when he demanded that records of the Delaware Bar association be subpenaed for introduction as evidence.

"Rodney Mahaffy, nephew of the witness, has on file there an application for readmission to the bar," Senator Tobey announced. "I learned this only a few moments ago. I am told that affidavits on file with the application will show that Rodney Mahaffy was forced to resign from the association some years ago to avoid disbarment proceedings on charges that the District court clerk's office was being used to influence the judgment of the court."

Senator Wheeler, committee chairman, agreed to have the records brought before the committee.

Wears Willkie Hat.

JEAN SEIM.

A milliner has made a model of the Willkie hat designed by Jean Seim, 13 year old pupil in the Manierre public school.

It is of "Willkie blue" felt, piped with a ribbon of "campaign" red. A light gray felt elephant with an ivory tusk perches on the crown.

The model was presented to a group of Republican women at the La Salle hotel yesterday. Word circulated to several Republican women's organizations in Chicagoland that the hats were to be produced in volume. Almost immediately the Seim home at 1422 Sedgwick street was besieged with orders. Jean's parents deny they will have anything to do with the production or sale of the hats.

W. C. T. U. FINDS A 5TH COLUMN: LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Warns It Strikes at Basis of Civilization.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, president of the W. C. T. U., yesterday denounced the liquor traffic as a fifth column of utmost danger.

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith.

She also termed it a totalitarian foe boring from within, but one entrenched behind "millions of invested capital and behind federal and state laws." It attacks the Christian basis of civilization, she said.

On the eve of the W. C. T. U.'s national convention in the Stevens hotel, to which 3,000 delegates wearing the white ribbon of temperance are coming, Mrs. Smith said she doesn't believe the American people ever wanted repeal.

The Saloon Is Back.

And now the saloon is back, Mrs. Smith said, offering this proof:

There is now one saloon for every 71 families in the United States, two saloons for every church, five saloons for three public schools. Moreover, for each $2 spent for education, $4 is spent for liquor.

The W. C. T. U. enrollment alone shows growing demand for prohibition, she says. It shot up 36,000 in 1939.

"People can't just idly let things like saloons and highway casualties happen," she said. "They are beginning to think."

Mother Goose Revised.

The Lion and the Unicorn
Quarrel every day.
Says the Lion to the Unicorn:
"Whisky's here to stay."
"Don't you be so certain," says the Unicorn,
"Folks have started thinking, sure as you are born."

The old English rhyme about ladies and gentlemen on horseback and how they ride has been sent far afield. There isn't a gallop in it, and its title now is "A Fast Growing Habit." It is, alas, about drinking.

This is the way men start to drink:
Sip—sip—sip;
But just you listen while I give you a
Tip—tip—tip.
Beer is habit forming;
Drinkers need a muzzle.
This is the way they finally drink:
Guzzle! Guzzle! Guzzle!

People are buying the jingles, as well as other W. C. T. U. literature, like hot cakes, the women report.

Perfect Details of Notification Day Ceremonies in Elwood

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Elwood, Ind., Aug. 8.—Details of what probably will be the program at Callaway park here on Aug. 17, when Wendell L. Willkie accepts the Republican presidential nomination, were announced today by Homer E. Capehart, chairman of the arrangements committee. A time schedule is being worked out and it appears now that about an hour and five or ten minutes will be consumed by the formal ceremony.

At the nominee's request, Dr. William Lowe Bryan, president emeritus of Indiana university, will deliver the invocation.

Notification by Martin.

Capehart likely will present Congressman Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who placed Willkie in nomination at the Philadelphia convention, and Halleck will introduce the national chairman, Congressman Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts to officially tell the candidate of his choice.

On hand will be the 48 convention delegates chosen by their states at Philadelphia to deliver the convention's decision. Martin will speak for them. It is believed here that the Willkie acceptance speech will run thirty or thirty-five minutes.

The Very Rev. John Francis Noll, Catholic bishop of Fort Wayne, was asked today to deliver the benediction.

Classmates to Attend.

On the platform with the other guests will be the 30 living members of the class of '13 who graduated with Willkie at Indiana. George Henley of Bloomington notified Capehart today that the graduates are scattered across the country but will converge at Elwood on the 17th.

Another group which feels a personal relationship with the nominee is Post 19, American Legion, of Akron, Ohio, which he once commanded. Joseph J. Johnston Jr. of Akron today completed arrangements for Willkie to meet with the 600 members of the post sometime on notification day.

Willkie, who practiced law in Akron before he began his utility executive's career in New York, was told by telephone that members of the post wanted to pay their respects personally when he came to Elwood, and willingly consented to the meeting.

Coming on Special Train.

Johnston told Capehart that the post will make the trip from Akron in a thirteen car special Pennsylvania train. At Elwood they will form in six divisions, headed by their drum corps, and will march to meet Willkie in whatever part of the town he happens to be at that hour. He probably will pose for photographs with them.

Two leading Chicago legionnaires—Edward Clamage, past state commander, and George A. Rohde—conferred with Capehart and Ray Gibbens, who is in charge of transportation, on details of the parade the Chicago delegation will stage in Elwood.

Ten special trains may be required to transport the Chicagoans here. They will bring the well known Board of Trade legion post band and three other bands with them, two elephants, cheer leaders, and groups in patriotic costumes.

Baritone Thomas to Sing.

Capehart announced that the noted baritone, John Charles Thomas, will appear on the entertainment program in Calloway park which will precede Willkie's acceptance speech.

Walter O'Keefe, the radio comedian, who will be master of ceremonies on this program, wired Thomas' acceptance from New York. Other well known names in the musical and entertainment worlds are expected to be added.

It is planned to start this part of the program at 10 a. m. on the 17th and run it until 2 p. m., when Willkie greets his old friends at the high school where he graduated. Some visitors from other parts of the country have expressed doubt over the wisdom of the four hour entertainment period, predicting that it will tire the visitors so much that they won't be in a state of mind to appreciate the nominee's acceptance speech in the park, which will start at 3 p. m. Elwood time.

Capehart dispels these gloomy forecasts as fast as they are made.

Promises Exciting Picnic.

"Hoosiers will set the example for the rest of the crowd, and Hoosiers won't get tired," he says. "They're a picnic people; they like nothing better than to take a basket of lunch to the park and sit there under the trees all day long. This affair will be just a bigger and more exciting picnic."

As the big day approaches, the roomy, old residence housing the notification committee threatens to become too small to hold all the visitors and people with business there, but it still exudes the sort of hospitality which comes naturally to the people who staff it.

ROOSEVELT AND WALLACE OPEN 1940 CAMPAIGN

Appear Before Picnic of Democratic Women.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 8.—President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace this afternoon jointly opened the Democratic Presidential campaign at a picnic rally of 800 mid-Hudson valley Democratic women on the Roosevelt estate. Grinning broadly, Mr. Roosevelt predicted he will be reelected in November.

Altho the occasion was extremely informal—both candidates were in their shirt sleeves—it marked the formal opening of the campaign. Four years ago Mr. Roosevelt did not admittedly open his campaign until late in September, when he appeared at a party meeting.

Bares Plan for Trip.

Within an hour after his brief appearance at today's political picnic rally, arranged by Mrs. Roosevelt on the picnic grounds of the Roosevelt Val Kill cottage, a few miles from the family home on the bank of the Hudson river, the President gave out the itinerary of the second of his "nonpolitical" defense inspection trips. These trips are similar to the "nonpolitical" drouth and flood inspection trips of the 1936 campaign.

He will leave here tonight on a three day tour of northeastern naval defenses. The trip will carry him thru four states: New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island. He will visit navy yards, shipbuilding plants, arsenals, and other establishments by rail and boat Saturday, Sunday, and Monday. Tuesday he will return to Washington, D. C.

On his "nonpolitical" campaign trip Mr. Roosevelt will reach Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday morning. He will spend the forenoon at the navy yard, which is near the scene of the Squalus submarine disaster of last year. He will proceed by boat to Boston navy yard and the arsenal at Watertown, a few miles out of Boston.

To Visit Naval Station.

He will return to his boat and cruise to Newport, R. I., where he will spend Sunday morning visiting the naval training station, navy war college, and naval torpedo factory. In the afternoon he will proceed across Narragansett Bay to visit the new naval air station site across from Newport.

Again he will return to his boat and cruise thru the night to New London, Conn., where he will visit on Monday the submarine base and the yards of the Electric Boat company, private submarine building firm. That night he will entrain for Washington and is scheduled to be back at his desk in the White House Tuesday morning.

On the trip he will be accompanied by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Brig. Gen. Edwin M. Watson, White House secretary and military aide; Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, White House physician, and Capt. Daniel J. Callaghan, White House naval aide. At Portsmouth, N. H., Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, will join the party.

FARLEY RESIGNS CABINET JOB TO ENTER BUSINESS

Roosevelt and His Aid Exchange Letters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 8.—James A. Farley, postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic National committee, today severed all connections with the man he had twice elected President, but whom he could not bring himself to support for a precedent shattering third term.

Farley, who had already submitted his resignation as chairman of the national committee, turned in his resignation as postmaster general to be effective Aug. 31. He will leave the chairmanship of the Democratic party Aug. 17 when he will be succeeded by Edward J. Flynn, Democratic chairman of Bronx county, New York.

Letters Are Released.

The White House released an exchange of letters between Farley and the President. In his communication Farley reviewed his accomplishments as "stamp salesman," commended his associates and carried stereotyped regrets at leaving Mr. Roosevelt.

"I want you to know how much I appreciate the honor you conferred upon me and the trust you placed in me when you appointed me to this important position in your cabinet when you took office on March 4, 1933," he wrote to the man who took away Farley's chance of securing the Democratic nomination for the Presidency by running for a third term.

"Again expressing my deepest gratitude at the opportunity you afforded me to serve as a member of your cabinet, and with kindest personal regards, I am, faithfully yours," Farley closed his letter.

Plans Baseball Career.

The letter again gave personal financial considerations as Farley's reason for leaving. Farley is expected to purchase and operate the New York American league baseball club.

In his letter Mr. Roosevelt spoke of "my own sincere sorrow that we are losing you as a member of the official family." He said he fully understood the personal reasons, which prompted the resignation.

"All of us in the administration will miss you deeply; we count on seeing you often," he said. "I especially count on this after our years of close personal association. Our friendship will always continue."

ESTIMATE 200,000 EUROPEAN CHILDREN MAY SEEK U. S. HAVEN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The greatest migration of children in the world's history—several fold greater than the children's crusades in the middle ages—soon may be landing on the shores of the United States.

Legislators worked today to speed the opening of this country's ports to boys and girls fleeing the bombs and bullets of Europe's warring nations. It is estimated that 200,000 children may seek temporary haven here.

The house immigration committee approved a subcommittee compromise bill enabling European children under 16 to enter under temporary visitors' visas for a two-year stay.

The senate today received legislation, approved yesterday by the house, to permit American ships to enter European combat zones to bring the children to this country provided safe conduct was assured by the belligerent nations.

Mrs. Susan Pulsifer of Brunswick, Me., active in the movement to send these mercy ships, estimated before the house immigration committee that this country has ships enough to bring 50,000 children over each month.

Ex-Convict Found in Alley with Fractured Skull; Dies

A man identified thru fingerprints as Harry Chalem, 38 years old, a former convict, was found unconscious yesterday in an alley near 25 South Hoyne avenue and died soon afterward in the County hospital. His skull had been fractured. Chalem was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary in 1928 for robbery and was released in 1934.

SALE OF WILLKIE AUTO EMBLEMS LEADS AT EXHIBIT

Automobile windshield stickers boosting the candidacy of Wendell Willkie for President are selling faster and in greater numbers than those for President Roosevelt, according to the "sales thermometer" of the Jaco-Lac Decal corporation at the Automotive Accessories exhibition, which closed yesterday in the Navy pier exhibition hall.

The final count of orders placed by various buyers for the stickers were 17,000 for Willkie and 11,000 for Roosevelt. The Willkie stickers read, "God Bless America and our next President Wendell Willkie," and the Roosevelt emblems, "United We Stand with President Roosevelt."

The "sales thermometer" was at the company's booth and showed daily sales.

WOMAN RECALLS GIVING WILLKIE HIS HARDEST JOB

Tipton, Ind., Aug. 8 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican Presidential nominee, said recently the picking of pickles in a two acre field was the hardest task ever imposed on him.

This remark set Mrs. Emma Baxter, wife of a retired farmer here, to thinking, and she recalled she was the person who gave Willkie the pickle picking job. He was about 19 years old at the time.

She and her husband were operating a farm near Winamac, owned by Willkie's father, H. F. Willkie, she said, and Wendell and his brother, Ed, were sent to the farm "to learn how to work."

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

Peter Lepidas, 40 years old, a cook, was found shot to death in his room at 5576 Jackson boulevard yesterday. A pistol was found at his side, and his uncle, Nick Bosson, with whom he lived, said he had been despondent lately.

7½ YEAR INCOME OF ROOSEVELTS IS 2¾ MILLIONS

Disclosed After Willkie's Plan to List Assets.

Earnings of 2¾ million dollars by the family of President Roosevelt during the last 7½ years shared interest yesterday with the proposal by Wendell L. Willkie on Wednesday that Presidents of the United States file a list of their assets upon assuming and leaving office.

Willkie, the Republican Presidential nominee, advocated amendment of the Hatch clean politics law to forbid a President, his immediate family, and members of regulatory commissions to receive any pay for services performed for others in transactions with the government.

Willkie said that he voluntarily would file a list of his own assets upon taking and leaving public office. Members of his family would do likewise, he said.

Mrs. Roosevelt Heads List.

Meanwhile, a survey of the Roosevelt family's finances disclosed that its principal earnings correspond with the President's years in office.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, his wife, leads the list with income of well over a million dollars. She has written half a hundred magazine articles at $1 a word. Three books bear her name, and others are to be published.

Income from a syndicated, daily newspaper column runs about $20,000 a year. Mrs. Roosevelt collects $1,500 for lectures and gets from $3,000 up for each of her radio broadcasts. [The radio money is understood to go to charity.] Taking into consideration contracts not yet completed, it is estimated her share of the family's earnings will approach 1½ millions.

In addition to the President's official salary for eight years in office—$600,000—he made $38,000 from a newspaper serial later put into book form. The books sold for $15, but it was announced at the time that the President did not intend to profit personally from the book sale.

Son James' Profits Large.

Mr. Roosevelt's eldest son, James, has profited from several enterprises since 1933. The Boston insurance firm of Roosevelt & Sargent, in which he retains an interest thru his mother, has snared a number of governmental plums. James took a $25,000 fee for insurance written on the President Lines Steamship company, 90 per cent of whose stock is held by the United States Maritime commission.

His income from the firm in 1934-'37 amounted to about $39,000 a year, during which time insurance was written for the liquor industry, radio corporations, and other enterprises subject to governmental regulation.

After this period, young Roosevelt found time to earn $10,000 a year as a White House secretary to his father, later joining Samual Goldwyn, Inc., as a movie industry vice president, at $50,000 a year. Goldwyn and several other movie leaders were under indictment in income tax matters at the time.

Elliott Also Cashes In.

Another Roosevelt son, Elliott, began a profitable career as consultant to the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce at a time when the aviation industry was in hot water with the post office department. Earlier he was accused of a deal—never disproved—with Anthony Fokker to supply American planes to the soviet Russian government—this when the arms embargo was effective. The deal collapsed, it was reported, when Elliott's interest so increased the cost of the planes that the soviet would not buy them.

Later Elliott joined the Hearst organization, eventually becoming head of a Hearst radio chain at $25,000 a year. At the time William Randolph Hearst needed the approval of the federal communications commission.

Hearst also made John Boettiger, son-in-law of the President, publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. Boettiger's wife, the former Anna Roosevelt, is understood to draw a salary of more than $10,000 from the Seattle paper.

MRS. TEGTMEYER FIGHTS TO ESCAPE A RETURN TO JAIL

Mrs. Daisy Tegtmeyer, once known as the forgotten woman of the county jail, filed an appeal with the Illinois Supreme court yesterday from the ruling of the Illinois Appellate court ordering her return to jail.

Mrs. Tegtmeyer, who has served six years in the county jail on a contempt order committing her to jail indefinitely until she explains what she did with a $32,000 trust fund of which she was a trustee, has been at liberty on bond since last October.

In the petition yesterday, Attorney Charles Liebman contended the previous ruling should be reversed because of certain legal objections.

MYSTERY CLOAKS STORY OF ATTACK ON AIR HOSTESS

Girl Reported Slugged on Head During Flight.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 8 [Special].—An "explanatory" statement issued by an American Airlines official late today failed to clear the mystery surrounding the reported slugging of Stewardess Rosemary Griffith shortly before a westbound sleeper plane landed here last night.

"Miss Griffith said she was leaning over in a corner of the ladies' lounge," the statement said, "when a man whispered in her ear, 'Give me the key! Give me the key, or I'll slug you!' Then she fell as if under a heavy blow on her head.

"As she lay on the floor of the plane, she said, she swallowed the key of the baggage compartment. She remembered nothing more until she was revived. She said she did not to see any one in the room. The attack took place about half an hour before the plane landed."

Recovering in Hospital.

The statement was issued by Paul Stanley, local sales manager of the airline, several hours after he had talked with Miss Griffiths in a hospital where she is recovering from a bruise on her head and scratches on her leg and hand.

Officials of the company refused to amplify the statement. Earlier in the day they had kept newsmen from seeing the stewardess and unofficially had sponsored a theory of accidental injury.

After a morning visit of air line officials to Miss Griffith's room, one of them said they were inclined to believe she was holding the key in her mouth, possibly while changing her uniform, and that when the ship passed thru rough air the jolt caused her to swallow the key and to fall and bruise herself.

X-Ray Discloses Key.

An X-ray examination at St. Thomas' hospital, where the girl was rushed after the plane landed, revealed a small key in her stomach. It was said to be a master key that opened the outside door of the plane, the woman's lounge, and the passengers' baggage compartment.

The plane was kept here for investigation. Some of the passengers boarded trains while others were transferred to another plane for the southwest leg of the flight after a delay of about three hours.

Roy Mitchell, assistant operations manager in charge of flight personnel, who came here from New York to handle the inquiry for the company, said the ship's cargo consisted only of mail, express, and passengers' baggage, "nothing of especial value, as far as I know."

TEXAS HURRICANE SUBSIDES; LEAVES MILLION DAMAGE

Port Arthur, Tex., Aug. 8 (AP).—One death and property damage estimated as high as $1,000,000 were caused by the tropical hurricane which blew itself out today in gusty squalls along the southeast coast of Texas.

At Lake Charles, La., an emergency call for food and medical aid was received by short wave radio from isolated Cameron, La., where 300 persons are marooned in the courthouse by tides six feet above normal.

A government engineers' launch with a physician and food was en route to the coastal fishing village where the fury of the storm was first felt yesterday. Damage in Port Arthur was estimated unofficially at $500,000, chiefly to business buildings, docks, and shipping. Ten persons were injured.

MISSING HEIRESS, 21, FOUND WORKING AS WAITRESS IN HOTEL

Tupper Lake, N. Y., Aug. 8 (AP).—Patricia Cain, 21 year old daughter of a wealthy New England food manufacturer, is under police surveillance in a Tupper Lake hotel after she obtained work as a waitress following her disappearance from her Melrose, Mass., home Sunday.

Tupper Lake Police Chief J. Edward Timmons said he identified Miss Cain today from photographs in New York City newspapers.

He quoted the manager of the hotel as saying she applied for work last Monday, asserting she ran away from home and needed work.

The girl is in a "nervous condition," and does not know police have learned her identity, the chief added.

New Accent on Salad Bowl

A few thin slices of Swiss cheese and salami give a new flavor accent to the familiar greens of the salad bowl. To prepare this crisp, cool looking concoction, fill salad bowl with shredded lettuce, outline the rim of the bowl first with crisp, curly endive, then with cucumber slices. Cover the lettuce with shredded Swiss cheese and shredded salami. Garnish the center of the bowl with watercress and wedges of hard cooked egg and tomatoes. Serve with French dressing.

Many Ingredients Form This Tempting Meat Loaf

MUSHROOM HAM LOAF

¾ pound ground ham
¼ pound ground veal
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
1 egg, beaten
½ cup condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ small onion, minced
½ cup dry bread crumbs
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Have two meats ground together, if possible. Combine with remaining ingredients, blending well, and pack into a well greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for about one hour. Serve hot or cold.

CHILLY ICE BOX CAKES SURE OF WARM RECEPTION

Chilly refrigerator cakes get a warm reception on hot days, and this one is economical and simple enough to make to be served at a family dinner.

LEMON REFRIGERATOR CAKE.

½ cup milk
2 teaspoons butter
1 teaspoon cornstarch
¼ cup sugar
2 eggs
Juice of ½ lemon
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
Lady fingers or sponge cake

Scald milk in double boiler and add butter, stirring until melted. Blend cornstarch with half the sugar and add to milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Beat egg yolks with remaining sugar and add to hot mixture, blending well. Cook 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Cool slightly, add lemon juice and rind, and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into spring form pan which has been lined with lady fingers or thinly sliced sponge cake. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with nutmeats, fresh fruits, whipped cream, or any preferred garnish.

SHERBET OF TOMATO JUICE GOOD TO OPEN OR FINISH A MEAL

Here's a cooling refrigerator product that can be used at either the beginning or the end of a meal and may also be served as a meat accompaniment. It's a tomato juice sherbet.

TOMATO JUICE SHERBET.

2 teaspoons gelatin
¼ cup lemon juice
¾ cup water
½ cup sugar
2 cups tomato juice
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt

Soften gelatin in lemon juice. Boil water and sugar together for 10 minutes; dissolve gelatin in hot mixture. Cool and stir in tomato juice. Place in tray of refrigerator and freeze until mixture begins to solidify. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with wire whisk until fluffy. Fold in egg whites which have been beaten until stiff with salt. Return to freezing tray and freeze until solid, stirring occasionally. Remove to chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater; then return to freezing tray to hold until ready to serve.

WANT A BARGAIN? JUST PURCHASE ANY VEGETABLE

Hot Days, It Seems, Were Hard on Spinach, Too.

BY MARY MEADE.

You could pick the food bargains with your head tied in a sack this week. You could ask the grocer to steer you to the vegetable counter, and anything within your reach there would come under the bargain classification.

Some vegetables, of course, are better buys than others. The hot dry weather wilted the spinach somewhat, and with part of the crop unfit for sale the price of the remainder climbed a little, but the price still is reasonable.

Green beans have been affected by the heat, too. They're even being shipped in from out of the state, and, while not unreasonably priced, they're less of a bargain than spinach.

Cucumbers Are Higher.

Cucumbers and tomatoes are the only other vegetables that are bringing higher prices this week. The cucumbers of best quality are selling for higher prices. Watch the quality of the cheaper cucumbers. Tomatoes are only slightly higher.

Lettuce, both western iceberg and homegrown leaf lettuce, is the grocer's bargain favorite this week, with dry yellow onions trailing close behind. Both are very good buys. Green peas could be added to the list, since fat, well-filled pods of tender green peas are selling for very little money. Other outstanding vegetable buys include celery, cabbage, green corn, and green onions.

A new arrival on the green grocer's shelves is the first crop of acorn squash. This dark green, accordion-pleated vegetable is a member of the winter squash family. It is also good in summer, however, and is reasonably priced. Try cutting them in half and buttering them well [after removing seeds, of course], then baking until tender.

Berry Prices Climbing.

The berry season is over. There are a few currants, gooseberries, blackberries, and blueberries and some Dakota raspberries, but supplies are far from generous and prices are climbing.

It's the top of the season for California Bartlett pears. Bartletts from orchards nearer Chicago will be in later, but the California pears are a superior quality. So plan your canning and preserving accordingly.

The first Damson plums arrived this week from Michigan. They are reasonably priced and will hit their stride in another week. The first Italian prunes—those big, blue-black sweet flavored plums from the northwest—also made their 1940 debut this week. They too are reasonably priced. All plums, for that matter, are selling at reasonable price levels.

Melons a Good Buy.

Melons are an especially good buy this week-end. Most of them have dropped in price this week. There is a wide range in the quality of watermelons, and they should be plugged, or subjected to the thumping test. Cantaloupe is coming in from Indiana, and is about as low in price as it ever will be. Watermelons come mostly from Missouri.

Peaches are somewhat higher this week, but lower prices can be expected in another couple of weeks when later crops are harvested. Seedless and Malaga grapes and Valencia oranges, all from California, are reasonably priced. Oranges are a little cheaper this week.

Best canning, preserving and pickling items this week are pears, corn, watermelon and cantaloupe. Many other vegetables are cheap enough for canning, but their seasons are longer than that of corn.

Chickens and pot roasts are the most universally featured items at the meat counter. Veal is the slowest item on the wholesale market at present, which may mean some bargains in veal. Smoked pork cuts and a pork chop or two are on the specials list.

SOUR CREAM HAS ITS USES; HERE ARE 2 OF THEM

If the hot days find you with soured cream on your hands, here are a couple of recipes which call for it:

SOUR CREAM GRAHAM MUFFINS.

¾ cup graham flour
¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 egg, slightly beaten
¾ cup sour cream

Sift all-purpose flour, sugar, salt, and soda together; stir in graham flour. Combine egg and sour cream and stir into dry ingredients, mixing only enough to blend. Half fill greased muffin pans and bake in a hot [425 degrees] oven for 15 or 20 minutes, or until done. One-third cup chopped raisins, figs, dates, or prunes may be added for variation.

SOUR CREAM DROP COOKIES.

¼ cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 egg, beaten [or 2 yolks]
½ cup thick sour cream
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda

Cream fat and sugar together; blend in seasonings while creaming. Add beaten egg, and thick, sour cream. Stir in flour which has been sifted with soda. Chill dough and drop from spoon onto greased baking sheet. Flatten with tines of fork and bake about 8 minutes in a hot [400 degrees] oven.

Looking at Hollywood by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 8.—Cocktail parties being about the same in Hollywood as they are in New York, Oak Park, Westport, Conn., or other dens of deviltment, the smart operator here doesn't bother about having just a cocktail party. He has a buffet supper, knowing darn well that guests are going to stay overtime anyway, and if you feed them they won't drink so much.

The buffet is quite an art, for it is simple and efficient. Cold sliced fowl, bread and butter sandwiches, shrimps with Russian dressing, a bit of cheese and bowls of green stuff. Hollywood salads are akin to movie cuties—beautiful to look at, uninteresting upon acquaintance. This is not the fault of any particular host; it's the curse of what the local papers call the southland.

If you were blindfolded, the only way you could tell the difference between a Southern California tomato, carefully nurtured in a paper bag by a magical Japanese gardener, and a piece of celery, lettuce or artichoke—well, as I was saying, the only way you could tell the difference would be that the tomato squishes, dribbles on your chin and stains your necktie. Local vitamin bearing stuff seems to have no more character than movie stand-ins, and rich and persnickety folk are known to send back east for their vegetables on the quiet.

William Gargan had a fine cocktail party and buffet a couple of days ago, after signing for a long term with RKO. He opened wide his house, told the bartender to go the limit, invited a lot of charming people, laid a mountain of food on the table—and then, while festivities were still high, unobtrusively took Mrs. Gargan and their handsome children to the railroad station and set out for New York.

There, folks, is the perfect way to have a party. Invite everybody, give them everything, chat with them all—and then, before the guests begin to irk, go get a train and travel 3,000 miles away. I hope New York does well by Mr. Gargan during his holiday, for he is quite a guy.

Paul Muni, for many seasons The Beard of the Warner lot, apparently has impressed his new employers, Twentieth Century-Fox. In "Hudson's Bay," which Muni is to act, they net a lot of snow—but they're not going to use a single ounce of gypsum, the usual substitute. Only real snow, made from 5,000 tons of ice. Cost of ice, $6.50 a ton. Cost of grinding it up into snow, $1 a ton. Cost of Muni, terrific.

Astaire and Burgess Meredith are playing together in "Second Chorus," Meredith as a horn tooter. He's taking lessons on the trumpet from Bobby Hackett of the Artie Shaw band. "It's a kind of violent circle," explains Hackett. "I teach him to play and he teaches me to act."

Meredith, who plans to remain in Hollywood at least a year and make three more pictures, recently told an acquaintance, "I'm out here to sue the stage for nonsupport."

Astaire and Meredith discovered they both began their careers in "Cyrano de Bergerac"—Astaire as Roxanne when he was 8. Meredith won a declamation contest at Amherst by reciting the last act of the play, got into the theater thru this feat. So, for a while, Fred and Bugs were reciting passages of Rostand at each other on the set—until Director H. C. Potter posted a sign: "No stage acting allowed."

Snowflake Luncheon Doily

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is a crocheted luncheon set which is, by all odds, one of the quickest and easiest of the innumerable designs available. It is lacy, dainty, and handsome in its finished state, altho it is comprised of a group of medallions set together with tiny fill-in motifs which completely change the effect of the large design. No crochet worker can afford to overlook this attractive pattern, since handmade luncheon sets are at a premium.

For instructions in crocheting the luncheon doily in snowflake design, No. X-496, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Pro Arte Group Gains in Favor with Ravinians

Concert at Ravinia park Thursday, Aug. 8, 1940, by the Pro Arte Quartet. The program:
Quartet, E-flat major, opus 74.Beethoven
Quartet, F minor, opus 95.....Beethoven
Quartet, E-flat major, opus 127.Beethoven

BY CECIL SMITH.

Three of the most beautiful Beethoven quartets were played by the Pro Arte quartet at Ravinia park last night, in the fourth of their six consecutive all-Beethoven concerts. Either because the audience was larger than before, or because the quartets of the mature Beethoven are more suited to their style than the earlier ones, the Pro Arte players' performance consistently maintained a far more gratifying level than in the Opus 18 quartets on Tuesday.

The F Minor quartet, Opus 95, is particularly enchanting. To an extent scarcely hinted in any of his earlier chamber music, Beethoven here gave free rein to the most fanciful and personal invention. From the beginning of the opening allegro, a most refreshing, and sometimes startling, variety of harmony characterizes the music.

To me, at least, this quartet is one of Beethoven's supreme masterpieces. He succeeds in maintaining an almost unique balance between sheer novelty and logical construction. Each change of key or sequence of chords, no matter how surprising at first hearing, reveals itself as part of a wholly clear and convincing total structure.

Another remarkable feature of all these quartets of Beethoven's maturity is their wonderful expansion and unbroken continuity of melodic line. The neatly periodic balance of prescribed classical symmetry has given way before the urgency of the long, uninterrupted eloquence of a single mood.

Both the rapt attention and the growing size of the audiences must be a source of satisfaction to the Ravinia management. Public response has plainly established bpth Chicago's awakening interest in chamber music and Ravinia's capacity to present it appealingly.

Murder Is Not Mute.

By Audrey Newell

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Detective Patrick Doyle of New York, is vacationing in a small town when, while walking in the woods on the estate of Adolph Wunsch, he stumbles upon a skeleton. He reports the matter to Truman Briault, Wunsch's brother-in-law, rejects the bribe Briault offers to keep the matter quiet, and goes to the police. Returning to the scene with Policeman Madden and Judge Blain, he finds the skeleton gone. But by trailing fresh footprints they find where the skeleton has been hastily buried. Dr. Blake, the coroner, says the skeleton belonged to a teen age girl who was murdered. Doyle is asked to help solve the mystery. Blue yarn and a watch clasp are found near the spot where the skeleton was first discovered. Doyle learns that Wunsch is a wealthy ex-brewer whose second wife is Paula, young and beautiful. Paula married him for his money and he has made her life miserable allowing her to have charge account but no cash or money. Her irresponsible brother and mother live with them but Wunsch dominates the household. Wunsch has sent his 18 year old daughter, Texie, to Europe with Paula's mother as chaperon. His aged father also lives with them and is cared for by Miss Doty, a trained nurse. Lately Wunsch has been driving to town every night with his chauffeur, Follins, and Paula, becoming suspicious, puts detectives on her husband's trail. Doyle finds Truman owns a blue sweater and goes to question him. He learns from Follins that Truman is planning to leave that night, whereupon Doyle questions Paula. He sees a watch on her arm with a clasp identical with the one he found near the skeleton. He learns from the jeweler that Wunsch had a watch made for Paula as a wedding gift, and 13 months later, had a duplicate one made. Doyle returns to the spot where he first found the skeleton and discovers a bullet in the dirt. While he is searching further, he comes upon Paula and Truman playing golf. Eavesdropping, he learns that Paula wanted Truman to marry Texie so his financial worries would be over. When Wunsch discovered this, he sent his daughter to Europe.

INSTALMENT XVII.

STARTLING INFORMATION.

Apparently Truman's words carried conviction to Paula. "Why does it have to be like this?" she said brokenly. "You were willing enough before. Everything was going beautifully until Adolph found out about you and Texie. How I wish I knew who told him," she digressed bitterly.

"Haven't you figured that out?" Truman said viciously. "It was Helen Voss, of course."

"No, no." Paula sounded distressed. "That isn't fair. You're just guessing. Helen is devoted to Texie, and Helen isn't the type to spy and carry tales. It's my idea that Miss Doty may have overheard something. I wouldn't put it past Miss Doty to—"

She broke off, startled, as Doyle crashed thru the underbrush and emerged from the woods behind them.

"Hello," he said casually.

Truman scrambled to his feet. He was deathly pale and he stared at Doyle like a trapped animal.

"This is luck, Briault," the detective told him genially. "I was on my way to the house to talk to you."

"You'd better go," Truman said in an undertone to his sister.

"I'd rather you stayed, Mrs. Wunsch," Doyle interposed. He grinned at Briault. "You haven't any secrets from your sister, have you?"

Truman did not answer.

"I want to ask you about this girl's murder," Doyle said conversationally. "Give you a chance to explain your part in it."

Truman replied thru stiff lips. "I haven't any part in it."

Paula rose. She was trembling with anger. "You're threatening him," she accused Doyle." "You have no right to do that."

"Listen, Mrs. Wunsch," Doyle faced her unperturbed. "I know more about this business than you do. If you've any influence with your brother, get him to talk."

"Talk about what?"

"Ask him why he buried the skeleton?"

She whirled on Briault. "Truman! Did you?"

"I'll tell you why," he said. "To save my sister just this kind of insufferable annoyance."

"I see," Doyle said equably. "And why did you try to bribe me?"

"For the same reason. I told you at the time. I wanted to avoid publicity."

"You didn't give a damn that a murderer would go free?" Doyle probed mildly. "Just so long as you weren't disturbed?"

"I didn't know there'd been a murder," Briault denied. "I thought it was a natural death."

"Then why did you plan to run away last night?"

The young man answered with growing confidence: "Because I realized you had sent Judge Blain here. I was afraid you'd make trouble for me because I had tried to bribe you."

Doyle grinned. "Do you expect me to believe that?"

"I don't care what you believe," Briault told him arrogantly.

"Don't say that, Truman," Paula warned. "Tell him the truth."

Truman was white-lipped. "I've said all I'm going to say."

"O. K." Doyle looked him hard in the eye. "How about handing over that watch?"

"What watch?" The question sounded hollow.

"The watch you found when you moved the skeleton."

Truman said nothing.

"I suppose you took that watch," Doyle taunted, "to spare your sister annoyance."

Truman mumbled, "There wasn't any watch."

"There was," Doyle contradicted. "Just like the watch your sister is wearing now." He glanced at Paula as he spoke. Then his look returned to her—concentrated on her. He had never seen such stark terror in a woman's eyes.

"What's the trouble, Mrs. Wunsch?" he said sharply.

She paid no attention to him. She sat down on the ground.

"Are you ill, Mrs. Wunsch?"

After a moment, she said, "Yes. It's the sun. Too hot." She rose to her feet again. "I'm going back to the house." Her voice came as if from a distance.

"I'll take you," Truman said. He was watching her with concern.

Doyle's tone cracked down like a whiplash. "You'll stay here, Briault."

"I'm not going to let my sister faint," Truman said angrily.

Paula put her hand out blindly. "I won't faint. I don't want you to come with me. I'm alright." She began to walk away from them.

Doyle looked after her. "She'll be O. K.," he said to Briault. "All that's the matter with her is, she knows the girl who owned a watch like hers."

"If you don't tell me the name of the girl who owned that watch," Doyle said, "I'll make your sister tell me."

"She doesn't know," Briault said. "Neither do I."

"I've got the goods on you," the detective said loudly. "Do you think I don't know that you killed that girl?"

"I didn't kill her."

"Who is she?"

"I don't know."

"Why did you kill her?" Doyle launched his questions with the rapidity of machine-gun fire—riding them roughshod over Briault's denials.

"I didn't."

"You're shielding some one, who?"

"I'm not shielding any one."

"Tell me who it is. Is it your sister?"

"No."

"Is it her husband?"

Truman looked frightened. He pressed his lips tight together.

"It doesn't matter how much I want to help you," Doyle said gently. "I can't get you out of this mess if you don't come clean with me. Wunsch gave the watch to the dead girl. I know that much. Now you go on from there."

But Truman shook his head. "I can't." His face was tortured.

"Do you like Wunsch that much?" Doyle inquired. "Or are you afraid of him?"

Words burst from Truman. "He isn't the one. You have no right to think so. I never said it was he."

"Why are you shielding him?" Because you're financially dependent upon him?"

"No. No. For God's sake don't drag him into this."

"Will it make it worse for you if I do?"

"Yes."

"That's too bad," Doyle regretted. "Because I'm going to arrest Wunsch. And you."

"Not him. Oh, God! Not him."

"What about yourself?"

Truman shrugged despairingly. "Whichever way I turn, I'm done for," he said cryptically.

Doyle looked at him contemplatively. "You're in damn deep, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"Then why dig yourself deeper? Just to spare Wunsch."

Truman broke at last. "For God's sake, leave me alone. I can tell you nothing. If I told you the truth you wouldn't believe me. And I couldn't prove it. That's why I hid the skeleton. But he knows what's going on. He'll know if I tell. And he'll kill me for it. One way or another, he'll see to it that I die."

Doyle said tensely. "Who's 'he'? Wunsch?"

Truman's voice rose, close to hysteria. "Can't you get it thru your head that I will not answer another question? No matter what you choose to guess. No matter what you do to me I'll tell nothing. Nothing. Nothing."

THRU THE LOOKING GLASS

It isn't often that we get in a dither about compacts. The woods are full of 'em and we must admit that in general the vanities are of a quality of style and workmanship that offer still further proof that Americans are humdingers at turning out smart things at low prices.

Now and then, in the sea of good looking compacts, we spot one that is excitingly handsome. We saw such a one yesterday and there was wistfulness in our voice when we asked the price. It looks a million and costs so much less than it looks that we were floored.

It's a square gold case with a top in the most beautiful, rich shade of ruby enamel. Set squarely in the center of the top is a huge monogram, crown topped, in dull gold finish, encrusted with rhinestones. The rhinestones aren't the shiny kind; they take on some of the antique, dull effect of the metal in which they are set. The whole effect is one of great elegance.

The case itself is well made, with a deep compartment for loose powder and a good mirror. There is a ruby moire case to protect it from scratching and the box in which it is set is appropriately luxurious—ruby velvet on the outside, white satin lining on the inside.

It's one of the best looking compacts we have seen, with a richness that sets it right in the fashion for opulent costume jewelry. It's really more a piece of costume jewelry than just a case for powder. It looks fearfully expensive, but is priced nicely for the outstanding gift classification.

Women World Wide
By Ruth DeYoung Kohler

WOMAN'S place may be in the home, but these midsummer days it's also in the grandstand. Not even Red Cross knitting is keeping the feminine fans from cheering themselves hoarse at the nearest baseball diamond or racetrack.

It's impossible to pass the summer season without taking note of the increasing throngs of women who are taking their sport vicariously. And it's a welcome change of subject from war and defense and politics.

Twenty years ago—no longer—the crowd at any big sports event was largely composed of men. The few women in attendance were looked upon with amused tolerance. But today, figuratively speaking, the men are huddling in their coat collars, for the women are all over the grandstand.

As one writer has put it, "Where once the sound effects of the grandstand consisted of a united bass roar, today both the sound effects and the scene are pretty much like those in any Walt Disney cartoon featuring Donald Duck . . . a kind of organized chaos punctuated by high pitched yells."

OFFICIALS of the Yankee stadium crowd more than 10,000 women into the stands—every ladies' day. The management of Madison Square Garden in New York estimates there's one woman to every four men in the spectator seats at an ice hockey game. At a prize fight it's not as big a proportion—one woman to every ten men—but feminine interest in the ring is said to be definitely on the increase.

When Joe Louis is the attraction the feminine attendance always increases. This is an established fact. The question "why" never has been answered.

Photographers in New York's Polo grounds at the recent bout between Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong and Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins clustered around a small, pretty brunette sitting only a few rows from the ring.

She was Mrs. Katie Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., the lightweight champion's wife. Since her husband skyrocketed to boxing fame just a year ago Mrs. Jenkins has been much photographed and much interviewed. She was a midget auto racer before her marriage, but of late she has become an authority on boxing and her husband's constant ringside adviser.

MRS. JENKINS is one of the few women who is both active in sports and an enthusiastic fan. Curiously enough, the feminine sports fan is seldom a good sportswoman. According to an unofficial survey made this summer at Cubs park in Chicago, nine out of ten of the women watching baseball didn't play a game of golf or tennis or take a swim once a week during the summer season.

More real sportswomen are found in the stands at tennis matches than at any other sport. No doubt this is because more women play tennis than most of the sports that attract gallery audiences.

And it is at tennis matches, polo games, and football games that society is usually found. These women go as much to be looked at as to do the looking. They are the women who have made the spectator sports costume a prime favorite in the world of fashion.

WITH the racing season now under way at Saratoga Springs, the woman in the sports world probably drawing the most attention is Mrs. Thomas Clare. Last December when Tom Clare, Saratoga superintendent, died, Mrs. Clare inherited the 385 acre plant and also his job. She is the only race track superintendent in America and probably the only one in the world.

In 1926 Mrs. Clare, an Irish girl, went to the races with her father and met Tom Clare. A year later they were married. But little did she think then she would have her present responsibility. Last month she completed a $250,000 remodeling program at the race track.

Rivaling Mrs. Clare for attention is Belle Martell out on the Pacific coast. In Los Angeles citizens scarcely raise their eyebrows at sights that seem bizarre in other United States cities—pink bathing suits under mink coats, for instance, or sober grownups dodging in and out of traffic on motorized scooters—but a night recently when several thousand flocked to the Olympic auditorium for a boxing match they looked surprised when a woman stepped into the ring.

THE woman the California athletic commission considers capable of refereeing boxing matches is wiry, 45 year old Belle Martell. Mrs. Martell has been in the boxing business for ten years—ever since her husband, Art Martell, one time Australian lightweight champion, hired an old barn and started putting on amateur boxing shows.

To this barn Hollywood's notables flocked, mostly to enjoy Belle Martell's between act comments which she had picked up thru 20 years of vaudeville trouping.

Four years ago when her husband was hired to promote the boxing shows at the Olympic auditorium she got a timekeeper's license, the first ever issued to a woman. A few weeks ago in the California state examinations for referees she was graded 97½, a higher mark than that of any of the 23 male applicants. After looking her over in the official gray trousers worn by referees, however, the state commissioners told Belle Martell that she could wear a gray skirt.

Pauline Palmer and Long Ellis Tennis Victors

BY JUDITH CASS.

FROM Bar Harbor, Me., comes the news that Miss Pauline Palmer and Long Ellis, both of Chicago, won the mixed doubles tennis championship of the annual maritime tennis tournament at the Bar Harbor club earlier this week. Their opponents were Miss Ruth Strang of New York and Sargent Collier of Boston, who is the husband of the former Eleanor McCormick of Chicago.

Miss Palmer's mother, Mrs. Potter Palmer, is on the advisory committee for the annual fancy dress ball for the benefit of the Mount Desert hospital, to be held next Thursday at the Bar Harbor club. This year's party is to be called "At the Circus," and with that motif the event is expected to be one of the gayest and most colorful of recent years. Mrs. Cecil Barnes, Mrs. Charles B. Pike, Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs. Clive Runnells, and Mrs. Chauncey Mccormick are other Chicagoans on the committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Hunt Jr. Win Golf Tournament.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Hunt Jr. of Chicago, who are visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Maj. and Mrs. George G. McMurtry, at Bar Harbor, were the winners of the weekly tombstone tournament at the Kebo Valley Golf club last week-end.

They have leased their house in Edgewood road, Lake Forest, to the newly married DeForest Paine Davises.

Mrs. William E. Clow Jr. Coming to Lake Forest.

Mrs. William E. Clow Jr. and her two children are coming to Lake Forest from Minneapolis on Aug. 20 and will be at the Deerpath inn until Oct. 1, when they will move into the Alden Swift house, which Mrs. Clow has taken for the winter.

Mrs. James N. Rawleigh and her mother, Mrs. William M. Burton, are returning on Monday from a brief trip to Louisville, Ky., where they used to live. James Rawleigh Jr. is leaving today for Fort Sheridan, where he will spend a week before proceeding to Camp Sparta in Wisconsin. He has joined the 202d Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft regiment. His younger brother, Billy, who was graduated from Lawrenceville in June, is entering the University of Michigan this fall.

New Fall Hats Tone Up Dark Street Clothes

BY REA SEEGER.

Small hats that fit the head are intriguing new finds. Lightly labeled "Apollo hats," they're a new version of the appealing pompadour bonnets in fall colors and fabrics.

Smart black affairs are trimmed with gay felt flowers in striking colors with bright green leaves. There's a multicolored feathered model with an upright trim of circles of coq feathers in the same bright contrast colors and a sooty black felt trimmed with a brace of black wings skewered to the cap part with a jeweled pin.

Felt and velvet flowers are perched directly center front on other felts. One with blush pink flowers is a particularly ravishing color combine. Airy whiffs of exquisitely fine black lace double for eye veils or bows that tie in long ends to flutter around the shoulders. Velvet ribbon and perky bows of grosgrain make huge pompons also used as center attractions.

These hats answer the problem of what is smart and flattering for dark in-between-season clothes, the thin black crêpes and fall woolens made for street wear without coats. The hats are high, yet small, and do a grand job of accenting special hairdos and the simple untrimmed necklines of the newest fall daytime dresses.

Fashion photograph. . . . Brief jacket for evening wear, a model that doubles for afternoon dresses with equal smartness, is high fashion in all furs. It is especially distinguished when fashioned of silky, lustrous natural mink as illustrated.

Names and Faces.

Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 8.—The opening week of the Berkshire Symphonic festival drew a representative audience in which celebrities and bearers of fine old New England names made up a big slice of the 5,000 present. Sedgwicks, Danas, Choates, [illegible] and Beecher Stowes were represented—Ellery Sedgwick, editor of the Atlantic Monthly; Miss Mable Choate, an impressive looking woman with a twinkle in her eye, daughter of the late ambassador to Great Britain and granddaughter of Rufus Choate; Lyman Beecher Stowe of the family of the great preacher. Canon Anson Phelps Stokes was present. Miss Gertrude Robinson Smith, founder of the festival, had in her box the Artur Rodzinskis, Carleton Smith, and Gregor Piatigorsky. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and Norman Davis were guests in another box. Lucretia Bori, Paul Hindemith, and Aaron Copland, both members of the teaching staff of the Berkshire Music school, and Germain Schnitzer were among the musicians in the audience. There was an elderly Austrian grand duke with a white goatee, and a half dozen counts and princes; an almond-eyed girl in Japanese dress; a turbaned East Indian in Miss Choate's box. There were wonderful New England dowagers in boned collars and Queen Mary hats, and townsfolk and music students and critics. And there was Mrs. Gorham Brooks, who gave the land for the festival, who almost didn't get in. Mrs. Brooks drove herself to the festival grounds in a small car of inexpensive make and had neglected to provide herself with a card required at the box holders' entrance. Some one rescued her just as a policeman was ejecting her.

For the first time Mme. Koussevitzky was not present when her husband conducted at the festival. She lay ill a short distance away in the white house on Bald Head that, formerly the summer home of Chicago's late Miss Kate Buckingham, recently was purchased by the Koussevitzkys. The conductor of the Boston symphony and his wife seldom have house guests; indeed, it is said that only two persons, cellist Gregor Piatigorsky and music writer and lecturer Carleton Smith, have ever stayed under this roof, but this week Ernest B. Dane, president of the Boston symphony, and his wife, as well as Mr. Smith, are guests there. Dr. Koussevitzky was very much upset by his wife's inability to attend the concerts. She has been very helpful in his career. Mme. Koussevitzky is said to have come from the richest family in Russia in the days before the revolution. One day when Koussevitzky, then a bull fiddle player in an orchestra, was playing in a St. Petersburg salon, he played especially to an interested little girl who loitered at the foot of the steps leading to the platform. That little girl is now Mme. Koussevitzky. An ironical note is that her family, who objected to her marriage to a poor musician, now is being supported by him. Similarly, parents of Cellist Gregor Piatigorsky's wife, who was a Rothschild, objected to her marriage. A week or so ago Piatigorsky signed the affidavit that he would be responsible for them, in order that they might be permitted to enter the United States.

Sally's Guests Have Fine Time at Movie Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

The little Studio theater echoed with the voices of children yesterday afternoon when 100 boys and girls were entertained there at my weekly party.

There was much whispering and giggling as the youngsters settled down in the seats reserved for us and they all had time to open and compare the boxes of candy with which they had been presented, but the minute the lights went out and the film started my small guests were all attention.

They seemed to enjoy every minute of "Scatterbrain," a comedy about a hill billy in Hollywood, and the conclusion of the picture, when Judy Canova was teetering precariously from a window ledge, the boys and girls simply yelled with suspense and delight, and applauded loudly when some one came to the rescue with a ladder.

The program was brought to a gay conclusion with the screening of an animated cartoon in color—all about a lazy papa bear [who talked just like Wallace Beery] and what happened when he didn't follow mama bear's caution that: "A stitch in time saves nine."

My guests appeared to enjoy his misfortunes immensely.

The wedding is to take place in St. John's Episcopal church with a reception following at the Chalifoux home at Cushing's Point. Miss Evelyn Lilly, daughter of Mrs. Frederick C. Bartlett, is to be a bridesmaid also. Her engagement to Francis B. Chalifoux, Elizabeth Chalifoux's brother, was announced recently by Mrs. Bartlett.

The Huron Mountain club in Michigan always is gay during August. The Winston Eltings are there for a short visit at the cabin of his father, Victor Elting. Bromwell, who stopped for a short while on the north shore on her way east from Colorado Springs.

Miss Jane Louise Ferguson and Dan U. Cameron Jr. will have an evening wedding on Sept. 21. The ceremony will be performed in the chapel of the First Congregational church in Evanston and will be followed by a reception which the bride's mother, Mrs. James R. Aug. 9, 1940.

Universal Day—One of those explosive days—all right for those who can handle TNT, but dynamite to the weak hearted.

Stability is one of the keywords for a 4-month. When you have a 4-month, 4-day, or 4-year come along, just make up your mind that you aren't going to escape some possibly painful duties, discipline, and the necessity to stabilize yourself. You start, you pause to accumulate, then begin to express your plans, then in the 4 you have to steady yourself and your plans so you can build a firm and solid foundation for your hopes and wishes. You can't just go on being a playgirl or playboy, so after the fun of a 3-month or year comes the practical, sensible 4.

Year Ahead—You can take unto yourself the words given above, you who have birthdays today. You probably have already found some of the lessons a little hard to take.

An Indispensable Wardrobe Team

BLOUSE AND SKIRT.

That indispensable wardrobe team: the blouse and skirt! It's available to you in today's companion patterns. There's a variety of ways to style the blouses, including the double breasted version. Sleeve length is optional, too, and the degree of trimming. The skirt, a precisely tailored one, is well known in this department as the "skirt from a yard of fabric."

For autumn the suit idea will be, as usual, of great importance. These two patterns offer help in the right direction, we think.

Style No. 3454 is designed for waist sizes 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, and 36. Size 28 requires 1 yard of 54 inch material.

Style No. 3269 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for short sleeved, double breasted model; 2 yards for long sleeved version; 1⅞ yards for single breasted style.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde Patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, inclosing 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Senate Gets 2 Suburban Postoffice Appointments

Appointments of postmasters in two suburban communities were sent to the senate by President Roosevelt for confirmation yesterday. George N. Taylor Jr., was named to succeed himself in Evanston. He has held the office since June, 1936. Kenneth J. Masonick is the appointee for Lake Bluff. He has been assistant postmaster under his father, Joseph. The elder Masonick is to continue for a time as the son's assistant.

Buyers Learn About 350 Million Dollar Wash Dress Industry

Fifteen hundred apparel buyers gathered in the grand ballroom of the Palmer House last night to see how $1.98 to $16.75 dresses bring about a 350 million dollar a year industry.

The industry is that of wash apparel, which includes not only cottons but also rayon and even woolen fabrics. Ninety per cent of the dresses, as a matter of fact, are not washable, in the old cottony sense of the word, but are synthetics.

Of the 400 dresses, suits and housecoats shown under the auspices of the Chicago National Wash Dress and Apparel association, the bulk are intended for college girls. These, casual in line and smartly tailored, have short, full skirts, tend to such colors as chocolate brown, gray and plaids. The most popular fall material, judging from the show, will be corduroy.

Delavan Lake Garden Club Holds Flower Show Today

The ballroom of the Lake Lawn hotel at Delavan Lake, Wis., will be thronged with garden and flower lovers today at a show the Delavan Lake Garden club is putting on. Streamlined flower arrangements, table settings, refreshment trays, and bouquets are some of the classes in the show. Mrs. E. Malcolm Anderson is chairman. Some of the women on the committee are Mrs. Elmer T. Stevens, Mrs. Burr L. Robbins, Mrs. Charles B. Goes Jr., Mrs. Lyle Dayhoff, Mrs. Edwin O. Griffenhagen, and Mrs. Edward C. Berriman, president of the club.

'The Ramparts We Watch' Is Tense, Stirring

"THE RAMPARTS WE WATCH."
Produced by March of Time.
Released by RKO-Radio.
Directed by Louis de Rochemont.
Narrator Westbrook Van Voorhis.
Presented at the Palace theater.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

For the first time in its brief and enterprising career, the "March of Time" presents a full length feature production.

This is a terse but comprehensive pictorial chronicle of United States history, immediately preceding and during the early years of the world war that was "to end all wars." And, thru the medium of the experiences of one American community, traces our attitude toward that calamity from a period of strict neutrality, thru mounting indignation, to the time when we sent our boys overseas to "save democracy." [Of ALL hollow words of tongue or pen. . . .!]

The review closes with the signing of the armistice, some none too happy words from an offstage narrator regarding future international events, and a fervent summons to national unity and the maintenance of United States defense measures.

"The Ramparts We Watch" was 18 months in the making, and has a cast said to number 1,400 players. Considering the fact that most of these were amateurs the acting is surprisingly effective.

Factual matter is illuminated by flashes of the strictly human element, and the piece, timely as it is, brings your attention up standing by its ringing sincerity and the staggering import of its reminders.

See you tomorrow.

Understanding Helps Manage 'In-Betweens'

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

At what age should you stop spanking your child? What determines the point at which you think it is not wise to continue this form of punishment?

Do you wait until you think he or she is "good" enough? Do you wait until he shows resentment? Do you wait until you see the spanking does not accomplish its purpose?

Do you believe a boy of 14, taller than his father, with the visible signs of manhood, 6 feet, and 160 pounds, and a downy lip and a deep voice, should be whipped for something he's done?

At what age should you stop spanking your child? My answer is, "At no age, because I don't believe you should ever start."

I've seen small boys on whom spanking was used, and they were sly and only openly obedient. I've seen small children who were never spanked, and they were sweetly cooperative and honest as the day. I've seen lads in middle adolescence, whose fathers continued to whip them, either turn against their fathers or deceive them in a dozen ways. This, then, is the answer to this letter:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I should appreciate extremely having your opinion of, and your advice on, the following matter:

"I have three boys, aged respectively six, seven and nine. Ordinarily they are very well behaved, but when, occasionally they become willful and disobedient my husband doesn't hesitate to spank them.

"Now I always have thought spanking cruel and totally unnecessary, and never have ceased to argue with my husband on this point, but he contends that a well timed application of the hairbrush never harmed any child, and invariably does a world of good. He admits, however, that it has not entirely cured our eldest boy of his occasional fits of obstreperousness, but insists that they are less frequent than they would otherwise be.

"Whether this is true or not, it seems to me that a boy almost 10 is too old to be spanked under any circumstances. My husband contends further, however, that no refractory child is ever too old to be spanked, or at least that he should not be allowed to take it into his head that he might one day reach such an age.

"Please be so kind as to write your opinion of all this. I am particularly interested in learning whether you think I should stop arguing with my husband on this subject. I read your column always with great interest and pleasure."

These lads are beginning the very trying period between little boyhood and adolescence. They're going to be more annoying hour by hour than they have been or will be again. Understanding of this phase and not spanking is what they need.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: The greatest thrill of my bridge career occurred on a recent evening. You know the kind of player that gloats every time an opponent's finesse goes wrong; who usually waits until the dummy is spread and then says, mournfully, but still gloatingly, 'I knew I should have doubled.' What he means, of course, is that he finds himself sitting over a king with an A-Q, or some similar situation. He wasn't brave enough during the bidding to double on the hope that that very condition would be present, but now that he is sitting pretty, he starts exuding smugness. Well, I fixed that kind of bird good and proper! This was the deal:

"The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

"I was South, the declarer. West opened the heart jack. I covered with the queen. East played the ace and no sooner had I followed suit than he began to chuckle in a particularly offensive sort of way. Grinning at his partner, he said, 'You can relax.'

"'Meaning what?' I demanded.

"'Meaning that you'll have to be Houdini to make this hand,' he snickered.

"Well, I looked the hand over and it immediately became clear that there was only one possible condition which would make East so doggone complacent. That was that he held all three missing trumps. I didn't say anything, but started to pray that certain other conditions were present, also.

"East airily returned the diamond jack. The king won and I cashed the club ace, disregarding my own king, then ruffed a club. A diamond lead to the ace and another club ruff followed. I then led a heart and finessed dummy's nine, not a far-fetched play in view of West's opening lead. A diamond ruff reduced me to four trumps and I then entered dummy with the heart king, to ruff the last club and bring myself down to three trumps.

"About this time I started to chuckle! As you can see, I now was home. I led the spade ten and, when West showed out, as per expectations, I didn't even quiver. As for East, it was a pleasure to see the peculiar shade of green he had turned. Of course, there was nothing he could do about it. He had to win with the queen or jack of spades and then make me a present of the spade king. His 'sure' three trump tricks had unaccountably turned into two tricks.

"I don't mind admitting that my partner and I then gave East a real lesson in gloating. Even West was with us as he asked his partner: 'I guess I'd better stop my relaxing, hadn't I?'—L. F. J., Chicago."

The moral is that a player should either do no gloating, particularly of the premature variety, or should choose opponents who lack the skill to turn such a gloat to their own advantage.

The Housewife

After all is said and done there's nothing like good old citronella for keeping the mosquitoes away. And did you know you can now get it in candle form? Small citronella candles come with little metal wall brackets to hold them, or little black iron rests for the table. You simply get refills when you've used up the candle. They cost very little.

WANT A BETTER ROOM?

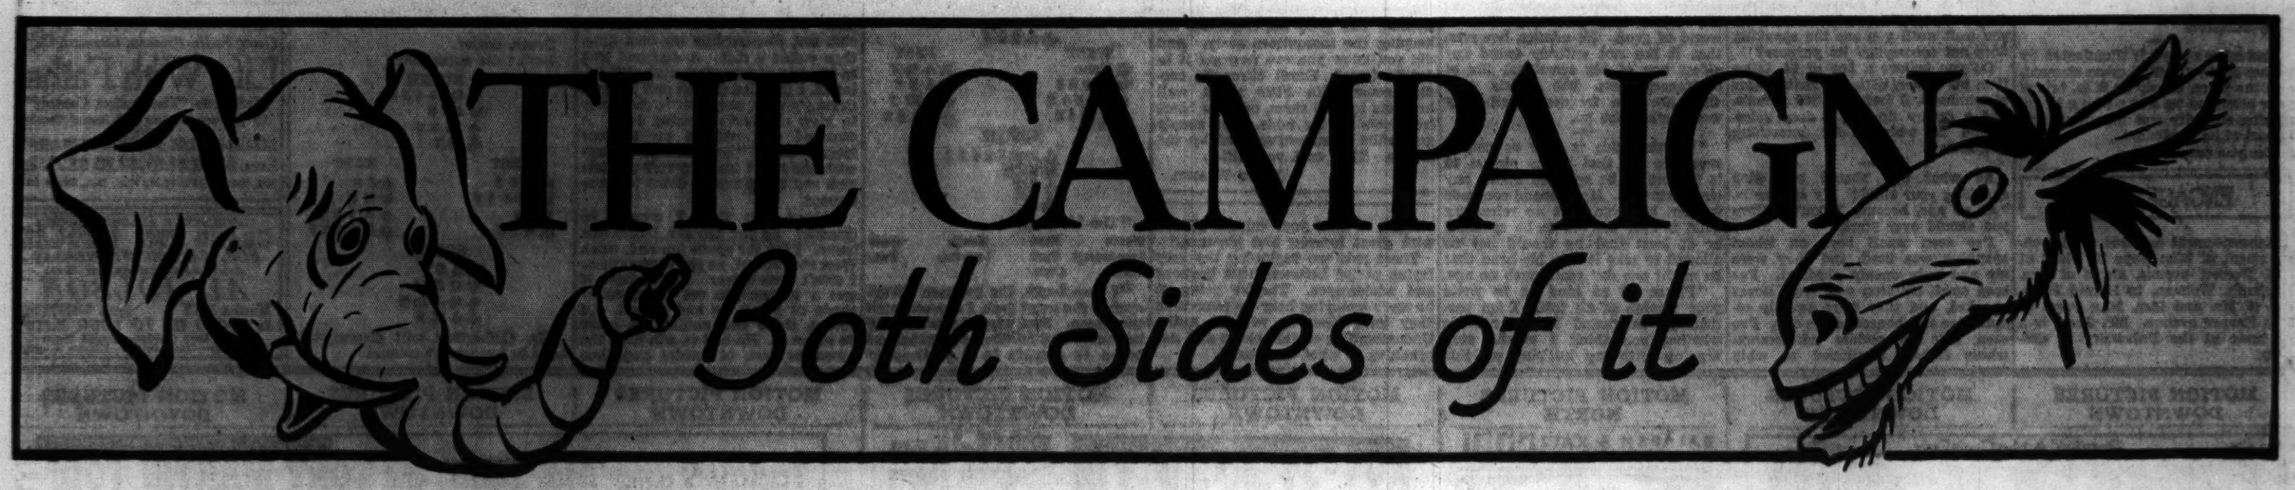
Thruout the months ahead the Chicago Tribune will print a new daily feature



In which both parties will have equal space to express their views

DEMOCRAT OR REPUBLICAN, you will find your party's views expressed in the Chicago Tribune thruout the Presidential campaign.

Because practically all the people of Chicago and suburbs depend on the Tribune for news, the Tribune each weekday will make available to both parties equal space on the page preceding the editorial page.

In one column the Democratic National Committee will be given the opportunity to place before Tribune readers whatever views it wishes to present.

In the adjacent column the Republican National Committee will be afforded a like opportunity.

Each side will be free to make use of its allotted space as it sees fit — straight reading matter, cartoons, photos, charts — anything that will print. As an extra precaution against errors in typesetting, each side will be invited to do its own proofreading.

This feature will be in addition to the Tribune's own campaign coverage which, in text and photos, will be the most comprehensive and informative to be found in any publication.

The Tribune is under no political or financial obligations to anyone. It is free to present the news from both sides so that you may draw your own conclusions.

To keep fully informed thruout the campaign, read the Chicago Tribune.

COAST PLAYERS ARRIVE FOR ALL-STAR GAME

REDS DEFEAT CUBS, 3-1; SOX BATTLE TIGERS TONIGHT

DOUBLE PLAYS AID WALTERS IN 16TH TRIUMPH

Larry French Turns In 6 Hit Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 8—The Cubs, after a string of successes thruout the fiscal week, this afternoon reverted to type and put Bucky Walters and associate Reds back on the victory trail, the Reds winning, 3 to 1, in the final of a two game series here.

Bucky Walters.

The Cubs outhit the Reds, a double and eight singles to six singles made off Larry French. Three double plays, the third of which ended the game, hampered the Chicagoans, as double plays have a way of hampering. And Ernie Lombardi's picking Hank Leiber off second after he and Dom Dallessandro had singled with none out in the ninth, was not exactly a boon to the Cub cause.

Each of the runs the Reds had to make to win was effected after two were out, and bases on balls figured in the production of both. Which wasn't much of a comfort to the Cubs, whose only run was scored by Stan Hack after he had opened the game with a walk.

It's No. 16 for Bucky.

It was the 16th victory of the season for Walters and the end of a string of three straight losses. It was Bucky's second tanning of the aimless Cubs, who will play the Pirates tomorrow night to see whether Pirates or Cubs go to bed as second divisioners. Today the Cubs are a half game from the grouping that draws no sugar from the world series plum pot.

French, in taking his ninth jolt of the year, pitched ably, as the six hit total indicates. It was unfortunate that the hits were made in pairs, and all in innings in which there were passes. Larry retired the Reds in order in the second, third, sixth, and seventh innings.

Larry's Streak Ends.

The setback ended a two game winning streak for French and kept him from making it an even dozen victories.

The Cubs are expected to fight tomorrow night with a little more verve than they showed for Larry today. No Cub team has finished in the second division since 1925 and there is a feeling that if the Cubs sink to the lower flights this late in the season they may never emerge. This prospect is gruesome to most of the Cubs, not so much as a matter of pride, but think of the prospect of getting no dough from the world series pot.

Walters Stops a March.

The Cubs hopped off to a lead in the first inning, same being acquired on a pass to Hack, Herman's infield out, and Gleeson's single to left. The advance stopped right there for Nicholson popped and Leiber grounded to Frank McCormick.

A guy who got a free ride to first also scored the Reds' first run. Werber opened the home first with a single to center, but he was headed off on an attempt to steal second and run down, Todd to Warstler to Leiber to Herman to Leiber. Frey walked, Goodman flied to Dallessandro and McCormick walked. Lombardi then lined a single to cen-

SMITH OPPOSES LEADING TIGERS IN 1ST OF SERIES

Tune Up with 7-5 Victory Over Waterloo.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox, who tried to refresh themselves yesterday with glimpses of tall corn in Iowa, were back in town today and they have until 8:30 o'clock or thereabouts tonight to worry about their baseball schedule being just one thing after another.

They slid thru, rather disastrously, in a series with the pennant ambitious Cleveland Indians, who fattened their own account by taking three out of four. Now another American league flag seeker, Detroit's Tigers, will confront the Sox tonight when the Comiskey park electric lights are turned on.

The night affair, however, isn't all the Sox have under the head of immediate business. The Tigers will be here for two games tomorrow and another pair Sunday, after which Manager James Dykes will take his lads away for a trip that embraces all the other stopping points on the American league circuit.

Slump in All-Around Play.

Lately the Sox pitching staff hasn't been especially impressive, Thornton [Lefty] Lee excepted, and that's one reason for a sudden team decline after winning 18 out of 28. But the pitching can't be blamed for all the mishaps. The Sox, for the past 10 days, have been in eclipse as hitters, a recession that probably can be attributed in part to the absence of Julius Solters, whose power bat carries the respect of all enemy pitchers.

The date of Solters' return is indefinite. The nature of his injury, a chronic charley horse which demands periodic attention, is of the kind that might temporarily vanish at any moment and then again might hang on. The absence of the muscle man might not be of such concern to Manager Dykes if he had any choice about replacements but he has only one extra outfielder. And the extra man, Larry Rosenthal, is suffering with the worst kind of a slump.

Dykes to Use Best in Series.

Whether or not his pitchers will be tough in the five games with the Tigers isn't known, but Dykes is going to offer the immediate enemy the best of his batch. Tonight it will be Eddie Smith, the lefty, who must fight off not only the Tigers, but also the jinx which has kept the Sox from winning any of their four home electric light battles this year.

SOX BEAT WATERLOO, 7-5

Waterloo, Ia., Aug. 8 [Special].—Wildness of the third Waterloo pitcher, Harry Boyles, gave the Chicago White Sox a 7 to 5 ten inning victory today over their farm team, the Waterloo White Hawks.

Ed Weiland started on the mound for the Sox and was relieved by Pete Appleton and Clint Brown. Jess Dobernic and Whizzer White hurled three innings each and Boyles four for the Hawks. Attendance was 3,478. Score:

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

HANK LEIBER, Cub outfielder, revels in blistering hot days such as the club had to endure on its last eastern trip. . . . On the hottest afternoons he horrifies everybody by remarking what a nice sunshiny day it is, and you can tell he means it. . . . You see, Hank was born and reared in Phoenix, Ariz., where natives welcome 120 degree temperatures so they won't have to take their wraps to picnics. . . . This is the first summer in 33 years Bob Zuppke has played no golf. . . . He keeps up his interest in the sport by following low shooting foursomes around Muskegon courses. . . . Elmer Layden is on a fishing trip in northern Minnesota, but Bernie Bierman need not be alarmed. . . . He is really after fish. . . . Jack Blackburn, Joe Louis' trainer, denies the report circulated by D. Walker Wear of the New York boxing commission to the effect that the champion will retire at the end of this year. . . . After all, who has any confidence these days in what boxing commissioners say? . . . Charley Root Sr., who is one of those old fashioned boys who is upset before he opens telegrams, got one the other day. . . . He opened it with trembling hands and learned his son, Charley Jr., had caught two ferocious muskies that afternoon. . . . Sam Pian, manager of Tony Zale, middleweight champion, says he will have nothing more to do with Promoter Mike Jacobs, but he may weaken. . . . As a result of the catcher shortage brought about by Willard Hershberger's suicide, Coach Jimmie Wilson of the Reds, who thought he had retired from active play, has gone into rigid training. . . . The Detroit Tigers have braved a time honored jinx by allowing a photographer to snap them in a group—world series fashion. . . . Ever wonder what umpires do on their days off? . . . Well, yesterday Eddie Rommel played golf at Medinah, Cal Hubbard went to Green Bay to visit his old Packer teammates, and George Moriarty spent the afternoon discussing rules with Tommy Connolly, umpire in chief of the American league.

Mike Tresh is far from being the biggest man among the White Sox, but he swings the heaviest bat. . . . Dr. Charles Holland, physician for Indiana university athletic teams, tried daily workouts in the gym and fieldhouse to reduce extra suet. . . . He quit at the end of a week after he had gained seven pounds. . . . H. S. Wright of Salt Lake City caught a 6½ pound brown trout, of which he was pretty proud as he began cleaning his catch at home. . . . Then he was doubly thrilled, for he found a seven inch rainbow inside the brown trout. . . . Reservations for season football tickets at the University of Nebraska are as heavy as ever despite a $2 increase in price over last year due to an extra home game. . . . Fritz Crisler of Michigan will head the football faculty of the eighth annual Kansas coaching school to be held in Topeka Aug. 19 to 24. . . . Byron Nelson, National Open golf champion, threw away the first cup he won as an amateur, which was for second honors in a Fort Worth tournament. . . . Nothing but the best will satisfy By. . . . Eddie Miller, the Bees' star shortstop, has a brother, 18, playing the same position with Hollywood in the Florida State league. . . . Miss Mildred Stoeckinger, secretary to J. Arthur Haley, Notre Dame's business manager of athletics, for the last 10 years, will chuck her job for marriage Aug. 31.

Speaking of Speaking.

Referring to Jazbo's recent contribution about the breaking of tradition and the third term:

1. Didn't George III. break down the tradition of the limitations placed upon the English sovereigns under the Magna Charta?

2. Didn't Jefferson Davis break down the tradition of the indissoluble union of the United States?

3. Didn't the Japanese establish the modern precedent of waging war without benefit of formal declaration?

4. Didn't Hitler—well, maybe Jazbo gets the idea by this time that there are precedents and precedents, some of them for the good of humanity and others highly questionable.

Ain't Progress Wonderful!

Just to prove that progress can outdo itself, consider these facts:

"God Bless America."

"God Bless America" today we're singing,
With new devotion deeper than of yore;
There's beauty in the flag that floats above us
Our sluggish sight has never glimpsed before.

From ocean unto ocean, far and fertile,
Lush fields unfold a vision of delight,
As though until this hour their gracious promise
Had never burst upon our blinded sight.

Our heritage that now is doubly precious
Is not alone in hills and valleys fair,
But in the ways and thoughts of favored freedmen,
Rare wealth with which no other can compare.

God make us worthy to preserve this freedom
And keep its beacon flaming thru the night,
That when the fury of the tyrant fadeth,
Across the sea a world may see its light.

MIOLAND TO RUN —AND NOW DERBY IS A REAL PUZZLE

Past Performances Just Add to Confusion.

Probable Field

WITH the announcement that Charles S. Howard intends to send Mioland into the American Derby tomorrow at Washington Park, the field of probable starters was increased to five. The field follows:

Horse.	Jockey.	Weight.	Prob. odds.
Bimelech	B. James	126	2-1
Sirocco	G. Woolf	126	8-5
Gallahadion	C. Bierman	126	2-1
Mioland	J. Adams	123	15-1
Weigh Anchor	N. Merritt	118	25-1

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The arrival of Sirocco and Bimelech at Washington Park yesterday assured a representative field of championship contenders for tomorrow's $60,000 American Derby. But that's not the half of it. It also turned the race into one of the most perplexing puzzles in the history of major stake events.

Based on past performances, Sirocco, Bimelech, or Gallahadion could win easily without anything that might be called an upset. It all depends on what past performances you happen to be thinking about at the moment.

Then there is the outsider, Weigh Anchor, for the betters to worry about, and, as tho things weren't complicated enough, Charles S. Howard sent word yesterday from California that he intends to start Mioland.

It's Anybody's Guess.

Getting back to the matter of past performances, Gallahadion beat Bimelech, Sirocco and Mioland in the Kentucky Derby; Bimelech beat Mioland and Gallahadion in the Preakness and Gallahadion again in the Belmont stakes.

In between these races, Bimelech was licked by a horse named Corydon in the Withers mile. Eventually Sirocco precipitated the situation into thoro confusion by beating both Gallahadion and Bimelech in the Arlington Classic.

In dealing with the big three, therefore, race fans seem to have no alternative but to forget past performances and try to guess who will be in winning form tomorrow.

As an aid to the guesswork, it might be remembered that Bimelech has undergone a change of personality with each appearance in his last six starts. On one occasion he has been an invincible champion. On the vernacular of the Randolph street poolroom boys as a bum.

Jockeys to Be Changed.

There can be little question as to what he was in his last appearance in the Arlington Classic, so many race fans may decide that now is the time for him to resume the rôle of the invincible champion.

Many believe that the change in jockeys from Freddie Smith to Basil James will give Bimelech a better chance tomorrow. Smith came in for considerable criticism in his handling of the Bradley colt in previous starts.

In every one of his races since last August Bimelech has been the favorite. In all of these except the Belmont stakes his odds have been at less than even money. He was quoted at the phenomenal price of 1 to 10 in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland and the Derby Trial at Churchill Downs. In his three defeats—the Kentucky Derby, the Withers, and the Classic—he was at 2 to 5, 1 to 5, and 3 to 5, respectively.

Sirocco Likely Favorite.

With the memory of the Classic fiasco fresh in their minds, there is no likelihood that Chicago's betting fans will send Bimelech to the post at less than even money again tomorrow. In fact, he probably will not be Bridgeboro, N. J., Aug. 8 [Special].—Joe Burk, for the last three years world amateur sculling champion, announced his retirement from the rowing game today. He said lack of competition and a desire to allow others to win the title prompted his retirement. He is now a fruit farmer near here.

OSCAR WAS SORRY!

Last year he forgot to buy tickets for the All-Star football game. His family let him know what they thought of his mental processes, too. This year he vowed not to miss the seventh annual charity battle between the College All-Americans and the Green Bay Packers to be played on Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 29—and Oscar has made good, for he bought his tickets early. Don't be an Oscar of 1939 vintage. Tickets are available at the Tribune Public service office at 1 South Dearborn street from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. daily and in Tribune Tower from 9 to 5:30. Address mail orders to All-Star ticket manager, Tribune Tower. Make check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Prices:

ANDERSEN AND EMMONS AWAIT OPENING DRILL

67 Will Report to Coaches Sunday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Stan Andersen, Stanford university tackle, and Frank Emmons, University of Oregon full back, members of the All-American football squad which meets the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Professional league, in Soldiers' field Aug. 29, reported at Northwestern university yesterday. They arrived from the west coast in the morning on the Olympian of the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul railroad.

Altho the All-Stars and their coaches are not due until Sunday for the beginning of the 18 day practice, others on the squad probably will arrive a day or so early. Some of the players are motoring and have timed their arrival to have a day or two for sightseeing before the first day's drill.

It's a Great Squad.

In Dr. Eddie Anderson, University of Iowa, who was voted the head coach by the fans of the nation, and in Nile Kinnick, Hawkeye half back, whose generalship and excellent forward passing was the key to Iowa's surprising season last fall, this All-Star game has a combination only equalled in 1936. That year, when the All-Stars tied the Detroit Lions, 7 to 7, Bernie Bierman, of Minnesota, head coach of the All-Americans, had seven of his conference champions as nucleus.

With 18 days' training and a squad of 67 experienced players this factor may not be as important as it was four years ago. Certainly, Kinnick's presence in the starting lineup insures the All-Star eleven an air attack from the opening kick-off. Supporting Kinnick, when needed, are two other Iowa men, Floyd [Buzz] Dean, splendid blocking back, and Dick Evans, end.

Uses Notre Dame System.

Coach Anderson expects to teach an offensive based on the modified Notre Dame system he uses at Iowa and also coached while at Holy Cross. The starting lineup chosen by the fans will have two other players familiar with the fundamentals of this system. They are Lou Brock of Purdue and Joe Thesing, Notre Dame full back. The starting quarter back will be Ambrose Schindler, Southern California, and some shift probably will be made in this position.

In Howard Jones' system of offense, which centers around the ball carrying of his quarter back, the position corresponds to the left half back position in the Notre Dame system.

Recalls 1939 Situation.

This complication duplicates the 1939 back field problem that confronted Elmer Layden. Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian, famed passer and runner, was called a quarter back by Dutch Meyer, T. C. U. coach, altho his duties corresponded to those of the left half back, who was Marshall Goldberg. Moreover, Goldberg merely started the game, as he had not fully recovered from a fractured foot.

The fans of the nation now have chosen the starting lineup for five All-Star games. Prior to 1936, the fans elected the All-Star squad, but the coaches chose the opening lineup. The starting back fields for all of the other games follow:

1934.	1935.
Griffith [So. Cal.], Q.B.	Mumjaw [Pitt.]
Feathers [Tenn.]	L.H. Shepherd [W. Md.]
Laws [Iowa]	R.H. Nich'ni [St. Mary's]
Mikulak [Ore.]	F.B. Kostka [Minn.]
1936.	1937.
Smith [Ala.], Q.B.	Huffman [Ind.]
Shakesp're [N.D.]	L.H. Drake [Purdue]
Berw'nger [Chgo.]	R.H. La Rue [Pitt.]
Beise [Minn.]	F.B. Francis [Neb.]
1938.	1939.
Pupils [N. D.]	Q.B. O'Brien [T.C.U.]
Isbell [Purdue]	L.H. Goldberg [Pitt.]
Uram [Minn.]	R.H. M'Leod [D'mouth.]
Patrick [Pitt.]	F.B. Weiss [Wis.]

It is too soon to do more than speculate on performance of the 1940 backfield, but it is obvious that with either Schindler or Kinnick at left half the All-Stars will be ready to sprint from the opening kickoff.

Johnny Humphries was charged with the Indians' defeat despite the fact he set the Browns down with a mere three hits.

KEN OVERLIN WINS 12 ROUND VERDICT OVER BEN BROWN

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 8 (AP).—Ken Overlin of Decatur, Ill., recognized in some states as the world's middleweight champion, won a decision over Ben Brown of Atlanta tonight in a 12 round nontitle bout refereed by former heavyweight champion Jimmy Braddock.

Overlin weighed 161¼ pounds and Brown, 162. The Atlantan was knocked to his knees twice, but did not take the count. Braddock gave Overlin six rounds, Brown two, and called four, draws. Overlin tired at the last under a slashing attack.

It was the sixth time the two fighters had met. Overlin got three decisions and two draws in the previous matches.

Overlin had Brown down in the third and ninth, but the 23 year old Atlantan bounded back. In the eighth, Brown was severely punched about the ring and into a corner, but near the bell he came out with slashing lefts and rights to force Overlin back.

Referee Braddock's card gave Overlin the first, third, fourth, eighth, ninth and twelfth rounds, accorded Brown the second and tenth, and called the fifth, sixth, seventh and eleventh draws.

Cubs to Battle Those Speeding Pirates Tonight

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 8.—The Cubs will encounter the hot Pirates tomorrow night in the first night game the Chicagoans ever have played in Forbes field. The Pirates rested today, smugly reflecting on an unfinished winning streak of seven straight.

Ken Raffensberger, who has neither won nor lost a decision in Pirate competition, will pitch the opener of the four game series. Vern Olsen will pitch the single game Saturday. Gabby Hartnett hasn't decided whom he'll use besides Claude Passeau in the Sunday double header, but on his showing here yesterday it may be Bill Lee.

Hank Leiber, unaccustomed as he is to catching infield throws, has a badly bruised left palm and probably would be given a few days' rest if the Cubs had anybody besides Hartnett to play first base.

Rabbit Warstler today received his major league lifetime silver pass as a token of his completion of 10 years of major league service. The memento is made out to Mr. Rabbit, not Mr. Harold, Warstler, which perhaps is just as well.

Tennis Stars to Appear in Two Day Meet

William [Big Bill] Tilden, Fred Perry and Vincent Richards will lead a troupe of professional tennis players in a two day meet opening tomorrow afternoon at the Saddle and Cycle club, Sheridan road and Foster avenue.

In the doubles tomorrow, Tilden and Richards, five times national champions, will oppose Perry and Gorchakoff. Perry and Richards will pair against Tilden and Gorchakoff in a doubles contest Sunday.

QUINCY TO HOLD MARATHON SWIM RACE TOMORROW

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 8 [Special].—The ninth annual Mississippi river marathon swim from La Grange, Mo., to Quincy will be held Saturday.

After the inaugural event in 1925, with the start at Quincy and the finish at Hannibal, Mo. [25 miles], the start was shifted upstream in 1926, with Canton, Mo., as the starting point. This cut the distance to 17 miles. In 1937 the start was shifted downstream to La Grange. This cut the distance swimmers must travel to about 10 miles.

The marathon swim is open to men and women amateurs 15 years of age or older. A 10 minute handicap is given the women. The Tenk challenge cup goes to the first woman swimmer to finish. O'Dell's challenge cup is the award for the male contestant who wins.

The men's trophy was won last year by Rene Chauteau of St. Louis. Miss Elvira Brinkman of Quincy won the woman's trophy. Both will defend their titles.

The teams play the third game of their series tonight in Normal park, 61st street and Racine avenue.

WALGREEN DRUG STORES

ter, Frey scoring and McCormick reaching third. Arnovich tapped to French.

Hack and Herman singled with one out in the third inning, but Gleeson whiffed after running the count to three balls and two strikes, and Hack was doubled trying to reach third.

A double play also nipped the Cubs in the fourth inning. Nicholson opened with the fourth Chicago hit, a single to right, whereupon Leiber rolled into a double killing, Werber to Frey to F. McCormick. Dallessandro followed with a 380 foot double to the scoreboard in left center. Then Todd flied to Arnovich.

Goodman Comes Thru.

French, who found his compass in the second and third innings, during which he retired the Reds in order, lost it again at the start of the fourth. This inning started with Larry's second pass to McCormick. However, Lombardi flied to Nicholson, Arnovich forced McCormick, and Larry threw out Craft.

The first hit off French after the first inning was a single by Werber with two out in the fifth. Frey then drew his second and the Reds' fourth pass. Goodman singled to right, Werber scoring and Frey reaching third. McCormick flied to Dallessandro.

After Leiber had flied to Arnovich at the start of the seventh, Dallessandro, who had doubled for the Cubs' fifth hit, singled for the sixth one. Todd flied to Arnovich but Warstler walked. French then flied to Goodman.

After two were out in the Chicago eighth, Gleeson's easy foul popped out of Lombardi's glove for an error. Jim then lined a single to center but the break did no good. Nicholson promptly grounded out to McCormick.

Protests Do No Good.

Frey opened the home eighth with a single to right and moved up on Goodman's sacrifice. McCormick was given an intentional pass and Lombardi was hit on the left hand by a pitched ball, loading the bases. French and Manager Hartnett toured the infield protesting to each umpire that Lombardi had not been hit and that the pitch was a foul. Lot of good it did them. Arnovich singled off the center field wall, Frey scoring and the bases remained loaded. Craft tapped in front of the plate, forcing McCormick, French to Todd. Myers forced Arnovich, Hack unassisted.

ELIZABETH HICKS CAPTURES DERBY WITH 314 TOTAL

Beats Ellamae Williams by Six Strokes.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Elizabeth Hicks by a thrilling six. That's the line they'll use in making up the final chart of the 1940 Derby of the Women's Western Golf association, which ended yesterday at the Westmoreland Country club.

The sturdy California golf writer, who set a 72 hole record of 307 in winning last year's big race in Evanston, came home yesterday in 314 strokes, six less than the 320 used by Ellamae Williams of Medinah, the Chicago district's top woman golfer.

Ellamae Picks Up Ground.

That six shot advantage with which the defending champion was clocked at the wire would seem to be comfortable, but the real thrill of the tournament came at the 63 hole junction, which found Ellamae only four strokes behind Miss Hicks, with nine holes to go. The latter had reached the 54 hole point Wednesday with a total of 230 against Miss Williams' 241. Betty had achieved her excellent three-quarters score by matching Ellamae's record setting round of 74. The Medinah golfer, who has won the district and state titles these last two years, took an 85 in that third round.

Thus, it appeared to be a runaway for Miss Hicks, what with her 11 shot margin. But Ellamae thought otherwise. She reached the turn yesterday with a smashing 36, two under par, while Betty was fighting for pars and going out in 43. Ellamae had picked up seven shots in those nine holes, and so the stretch run became a real battle. The gallery shifted from one to the other, especially after Miss Williams gained another shot at the 65th hole.

Decisive Hole Is 66th.

Then came the 66th, the hole that really decided the outcome. After Betty, playing ahead of Ellamae, had gotten her par 4 there the Medinah girl came up and ran smack into a 7, result of a visit to a bunker, a buried shot in the grass back of the green, and three more from there. That set the two apart the eventual six strokes by which Betty won. Ellamae got another stroke back at the 68th, where Miss Hicks had trap trouble, but came down with a 6 herself on the long 69th, where she was twice in the rough. She finished with a 79 against Betty's 83.

The first nine of yesterday's round saw Miss Williams collect her 36 in spite of a three putt green at the third. A five foot putt accounted for a birdie at the eighth and she holed a 10 footer for an eagle 3 on the ninth. Miss Hicks, whose recovery putting had distinguished her play in the first three rounds, found her putter slightly sour yesterday, not to overlook a number of pushed tee shots.

Beatrice Barrett Is Third.

Third in the final field was Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, who shot a 79 for a 328. Next in line were Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., 333; Virginia Ingram of Sunset Ridge, 334; Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex., 334; Virginia Nilles of North Shore, 339; Mary Wilder of Skokie, 341, and 15 year old Phyllis Otto of Omaha, 342. Miss Wilder made the best showing of the first flight players, finishing ahead of some of the championship flight scorers with her final 83.

Other flight winners were:

Second flight, Mrs. F. P. Hammond, Olympia Fields, 367; third flight, Mrs. Charles Beilfrass, Midlothian, 395, and Mrs. Pat Morris, Exmoor, 408. Mrs. Henry Hart of Northmoor and Mrs. Newton Gray of Westmoreland tied for first place in the fifth flight with 412. The former won the play-off at the first extra hole.

BRYANT RETURNS READY TO PITCH FOR CUBS AGAIN

Clay Bryant, the Cub right hander, who has been taking treatment for an ailing pitching arm in Los Angeles, returned to Chicago yesterday to ask for a new chance on the mound. He was unable to see any of the Cub officials yesterday. President Phil Wrigley is in Canada and Manager Gabby Hartnett is with the club in Pittsburgh.

Bryant was paid $50 a week by the club while undergoing treatment.

He left by auto last night for his home in Zanesville, O., after saying he would rejoin the Cubs when they return to Wrigley field next Monday.

Eighteen year old Ann Weber of Bloomfield, N. J., who captured the women's national title yesterday, continued her record breaking today, setting all-time marks in the single and double American rounds. Mrs. Mary Soacy of Caldwell, N. J., finished second in the double American, scoring 180—1,236 while third place went to Minerva Lanzer of Berwyn, Ill., who posted 180—1,233.

Sign Peterson and Cowan for 1st Pro Match

Bill Peterson, Portage Park, and William Cowan, Elgin, two of the most promising heavyweight prospects in the 1940 Chicagoland Golden Gloves tournaments, have been matched to meet in a four round preliminary to a 10 round bout involving Tony Zale and Billy Soose in Mills stadium Aug. 21. Cowan and Peterson in turn were eliminated by Cornelius Young, the former in the Tournament of Champions finals and Peterson in the city meet semi-finals. Their impending desertion of the amateur ranks is called by critics premature. . . . Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., lightweight, and Nick Castiglione yesterday were signed for a 10 round meeting in Marigold outdoor arena Sept. 9. Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland middleweight, who knocked out Johnny Barbara recently, will clash again with Barbara in a 10 round headliner there Aug. 16. . . . Gene Ward, Chicago 135 pounder, who held Mike Gamiere to an eight round draw on July 15, will face a suitable opponent in a match in Marigold Gardens Monday.

Lou Angelucci, city Golden Gloves middleweight champion, will oppose Columbus Mitchell of the Savoy Athletic club in a five round encounter topping the amateur show tonight in Madison-Cicero outdoor arena, 4820 Madison street. A five round secondary feature will involve Stanley Stockins and Andy Sterley. Additional amateur cards this evening will be offered in Northwest stadium, 4043 North Cicero avenue, and Parichy stadium, Harrison street and Harlem avenue.

LANDIS DELAYS RULING ON STATE LEAGUE UMPIRE

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, reserved decision yesterday in the case involving Umpire Bob Williams of the Michigan State league, dismissed by the club owners after Burleigh Grimes, manager of the Grand Rapids club, allegedly spit in Williams' face.

Landis summoned T. J. Halligan of Flint, Mich., president of the league, and representatives of the six clubs for the inquiry. Halligan brought all records and correspondence in the case which resulted in the indefinite suspension of Grimes July 21 by W. G. Bramham, president of the National Association of Minor leagues.

Williams was dismissed despite warning from Bramham against any move to drop the umpire.

Grimes, former manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, did not appear at yesterday's hearing because his status was not involved.

THOSE BASS UP IN WISCONSIN DO GET AROUND

Changes in Water Levels Keep Them on the Move.

BY BOB BECKER.

The black bass in the Mississippi river bottom lakes and bayous near Prairie du Chien, Wis., may be taken with flies from now thru October. When we tossed both wet flies and floating surface bugs at the large mouths in that area recently several experienced river fishermen said that even during the mellow October days of the duck season they take their fly rods with them, and, if the ducks don't decoy, they leave the blinds and go to work on the bass with their fishing tackle.

If ever there was a "restless" lot of bass it's those large mouths in the Mississippi river bottomlands. They have to keep moving because of the way the river changes its levels. These changes in the water affect the habits of the fish—the way they hit, and where they may be found.

Check the Water Levels.

If the water rises the fish may move thru a cut and spread out in a slough or lake above it. If the water drops the bass may leave parts of a small lake for new hangouts. So visiting fishermen who are not familiar with the Mississippi river bass game are advised to check on conditions before they pack their outfits and head for the bottomlands.

We had a good opportunity to see how the smart bass shift their locations when we threw lures at them near Prairie du Chien. The boys took us into a beautiful small lake loaded with vegetation—an ideal spot for large mouths. Both of our fishing partners, John Lundberg and Lyman J. Howe of Prairie du Chien, pointed out the places in the smartweed and other vegetation where the evening before they had found plenty of fish. After a number of experimental casts to these spots we managed to hook only a few small bass.

Bass Are There, All Right.

So we began casting our favorite popper lure around some scattered grass right out in the middle of the pond where the water was shallow. Five casts and we had action. A three pounder grabbed our lure and waltzed around the boat while the leader cut down the vegetation.

A few minutes later we caught another bass in the middle of this pond where the boys had not found them 24 hours before. Fishermen may expect bass of all sizes in these bottomland lakes along the Mississippi, from a pound or pound and a half specimens up to lunkers weighing around four pounds.

Economy?

Over the hill to the poorhouse,
Prosperity is seems to stay;
F. D. R. said he'd bring it back,
But how did he get that way?

A billion here, a billion there,
But nobody seems to pay,
And all that green stuff
He passes out isn't exactly hay.

Of Thee I Sing.

Doris Blake says: "Acknowledging Wrongdoing Is Penance Enough." That explains why the movie hero pipes out mournfully "I'm sorry" when he kisses the heroine. I'd be insulted if a girl kissed me and then apologized with "I'm sorry."

Symphony.

No need, that little pang of jealousy
Seeing one man direct a stirring
symphony;
No cause to think, "He guides that entire band
And all he needs to do is lift a hand";
One little tap and instantly he leads
That tense and eager group, each deftly heeds
His slightest movement, thus a perfect whole
Comes in a flood of melody to thrill
the soul.

But what could this director e'er achieve,
However brilliant, if these men should leave
One by one; where then the magic tone
Should he, bereft, stand sadly there alone?
Each leader, be he great or be he small,
Must have cooperation from us all,
He can but show the way—on you and me
Devolves the actual making of life's
symphony!

Miolandto Run —and Derby Is a Real Puzzle

the favorite. This honor is likely to go to Sirocco, which earned considerable respect by the ease with which he conquered Gallahadion and Bimelech in the Classic.

Sirocco is a horse which has been developing slowly, reaching top form in the last few weeks. If Trainer Jimmy Smith has been able to maintain him at that peak there is a strong possibility that he may dominate the American Derby as completely as he did the Classic.

Gallahadion, which Trainer Roy Waldron brought back to excellent condition during the Arlington meeting, also was considerably better than Bimelech in the Classic. Remembering the way he ran in the Kentucky Derby, it is no trick at all for the betters to imagine him winning tomorrow's big race.

As for Weigh Anchor and Miolandto, they will be in there running, and they will get betting support from those who like to shop around.

LEGION TO HONOR TRIBUNE, W-G-N AT SHOW TONIGHT

Pay Tribute for Efforts Toward Sane Fourth.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

American Legion Night will be observed at W-G-N tonight. Six hundred members of the Cook county council of the Legion, headed by Commander William J. Collins, will be special guests during the broadcast of Cartune-O, musical quiz game, from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

William J. Collins.

Collins said yesterday that representatives of all of the 245 Legion posts in Cook county would attend the broadcast and a special ceremony preceding the show.

At 8:15, before the broadcast, the Cook county council will present three plaques to the CHICAGO TRIBUNE, to Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, and to W-G-N in recognition of their joint efforts, in coöperation with the American Legion, for a safer and saner Fourth of July.

Campaign for Safety.

A citation will refer specifically to the coöperation given in the Legion's celebration in Soldiers' field last July 4. The Cook county council long has condemned the sale of fireworks and for six years has sponsored an Independence day show in Soldiers' field to celebrate the Fourth in safety.

After posting of the council's colors Collins will be introduced to the audience by a representative of the sponsors of the broadcast, Col. McCormick is to accept the plaques from Collins.

Then Bill Anson, master of ceremonies for the show, will be introduced.

Legion to Take Part.

Legionnaires will then participate in the actual broadcast, a musical quiz in which various prizes are awarded. The show also features Harold Stokes and the W-G-N Dance orchestra, John Weigel, and Cartune-O Jack, a monkey, which makes prize drawings.

Miss Marvel Maxwell, songstress with Ted Weems' orchestra, will make a guest appearance on the broadcast.

GOV. DICKINSON'S WIFE DIES; STATE FLAGS LOWERED

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 8 [Special].—Flags were at half staff on the capitol and state buildings here today as a 30 day mourning period began for Mrs. Luren D. Dickinson, 75 year old wife of the 81 year old governor. Mrs. Dickinson died this morning at the Dickinsons' farm home 20 miles from here in Eaton county.

Mrs. Dickinson, an invalid for several years, had been in a coma since Monday. The governor and Miss Dorothy Wieland, a nurse, were the only ones present when death came.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m., Saturday, at the Charlotte Methodist church, with burial in Maple Hill cemetery. The Rev. G. D. Chase of Coldwater will officiate, assisted by the Rev. A. L. Wagley of Center Eaton Methodist church, where the governor teaches Sunday school.

Gov. Dickinson had known his wife, the former Zora Della Cooley, for 63 years, having first been attracted to her by her exceptional voice when she was a 12 year old school girl and he was a teacher, still in his teens. She was born in a log cabin three miles from the home where she died.

HUNT FOR MOTIVE IN DYNAMITING OF ROAD EQUIPMENT

Gillespie, Ill., Aug. 8 [Special].—Authorities vainly hunted today for a motive in the dynamiting early yesterday of a gasoline driven road roller and an asphalt spreader, new machinery being used in a road surfacing project six miles west of here.

Two bombs, which exploded a few minutes apart, blasted the motors of the machines, causing damage estimated at $11,000. The equipment was owned by the Bridges Asphalt Paving company of St. Louis, a subsidiary of the Frazier-Davis company of New York.

Sheriff C. J. Rasor at Carlinville and Ted Noble, superintendent of the Bridges company, declared they were completely mystified by the bombings and could not even suggest a possible theory. Noble said there had not been any union trouble on the project, which employs 80 men, all members of the Gillespie local of the A. F. of L. Common Laborers' union.

MILK DEALERS FINISH CASE IN WAGE DISPUTE

The Associated Milk Dealers closed their case yesterday in the arbitration hearings of their wage dispute with 4,500 members of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union. The union will begin presenting its side of the controversy today. The hearings are held in the Palmer House.

Milk dealers and the union agreed to arbitrate the disputed wage question after two strikes had been called by the milk wagon drivers last May. Dealers offered a base salary scale of $30 a week with a guarantee of at least $36 a week, including commissions. The union refused this and agreed to arbitrate if the men returned to work at the old base scale of $48 a week.

The union expects three weeks will be needed to present its case. The decision of the arbitrators will be retroactive to June 1. The arbitrators are Paul Potter, secretary of the dealers' association; Thomas Haggerty, secretary-treasurer of the union, and Msgr. Dennis J. Dunne, pastor of Holy Cross Catholic church.

PLANE MAKER'S NET DOUBLES TO NEW HIGH LEVEL

Curtiss-Wright Has Peak Backlog.

One of the world's largest airplane and motor manufacturers, Curtiss-Wright corporation, reported yesterday its June quarter earnings were the highest in the company's history and more than double those of a year ago. In addition, its backlog of unfilled orders on June 30 was at a record level of $248,668,549, against $143,282,142 last Jan. 1.

B. E. Henderson. Reports increased income for loan company.

Net profit of the company and its subsidiaries for the quarter was $3,821,773, equal to 44 cents a common share, compared with $1,672,647 and 25 cents a share in the 1939 quarter. The company's previous quarterly earnings high was $2,414,196, or 25 cents a share, in the March quarter this year.

In the first six months of 1940, Curtiss-Wright received $152,225,298 of new orders and issued billings for $46,838,891 of completed orders.

Nearly Double in 6 Months.

Earnings for the half year were $6,235,969, equal to 68 cents a share, against $3,370,804 and 29 cents a share in the first half of 1939.

While federal income taxes under the increased 1940 scale were charged against earnings, no provision has been made for excess profits taxes which may be levied under pending tax laws, company officials said.

Wright Aeronautical corporation, controled by Curtiss-Wright, reported net profit for the June quarter of $1,362,988, or $2.27 a share, against $1,099,311 and $1.83 a share in the 1939 quarter. Six months' net profit was $2,599,989, equal to $4.33 a share, compared with $2,331,036 and $3.88 in the first half of 1939.

Unfilled orders on Wright Aeronautical's books totaled $141,130,678 on June 30, against $77,814,500 on Jan. 1. Orders received in the half year aggregated $86,018,676 and orders completed were $22,702,498.

Crane's Profits Increase.

Crane company, Chicago, manufacturer of plumbing and industrial valves and equipment, much of which is used in outfitting battleships, announced net income of $5,722,830 for the 12 months ended June 30, equal to $2.02 per common share after preferred dividends. In the preceding 12 months, net income was $2,013,655 or 45 cents a common share. The income figure included earnings of all subsidiaries including those in Canada and England.

B. E. Henderson, president of Household Finance corporation, Chicago, reported the loan company earned $3,229,844, or $3.77 a common share in the first half of 1940, compared with $2,961,484 and $3.41 a share in the first six months of 1939.

Net income for the 12 months ended June 30 was $6,313,377, compared with $6,150,283 in the preceding 12 months. On June 30, 603,667 customers were borrowing from the company, Henderson said, compared with $489,971 on Jan. 1, 1939.

SEC Suspends Brokers Acting for Gianninis

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 [Special].—Denouncing the "concealment" by partners of Walston & Co. of control of their brokerage firm by the Giannini family of California, the Securities and Exchange commission today revoked the firm's registration.

The commission ordered the suspension of Vernon C. Walston, managing partner, from New York Stock exchange membership for six months, and the suspension of William Sherman Hoelscher, a partner, from the San Francisco Stock exchange for the same length of time. The firm maintains offices in San Francisco.

The proceeding arose from a charge by the commission that the firm's application for registration as over-the-counter broker and dealer contained "willfully false and misleading" information regarding control of the firm.

Termed "Ideal Medium."

The commission declared that the brokerage firm, "altho under Giannini domination, had every external appearance of complete independence, and, consequently, was an ideal medium thru which the Giannini interests could conduct large scale market operations, the essence of which was secrecy."

Denouncing what it termed "fake" statements in the firm's registration application, the SEC termed "such behavior by members of national securities exchanges totally inconsistent with the public interest and with the protection of investors which the securities exchange act is designed to furnish."

The opinion was replete with statements that the Walston concern was a mere "front" for the Gianninis.

Control Kept a Secret.

"We are satisfied," the commission said, "that Virgil Giannini wished to control a brokerage firm, and also to keep such control secret. The record suggests that two major motives impelled him to desire to control a seemingly ihdependent brokerage house.

"[A] The Giannini family, chiefly Virgil Giannini's father and brother, were in control [or directed the market operations] of publicly owned corporations, including Transamerica corporation, Bank of America National Trust and Savings association, and Pacific Coast Mortgage company. Virgil Giannini may have desired to conceal the fact that a member of the Giannini family was, in effect, receiving a substantial profit from the commissions paid by those corporations to Walston & Co.

"[B] Virgil Giannini's father and brother were engaged in large scale market operations, the purpose of which was to 'stabilize' or 'support the market in' the stock of Transamerica corporation. It was unquestionably extremely useful to the Giannini family to control an ostensibly independent brokerage house thru which to conduct these operations.

Fail to Disclose Facts.

The SEC said that the partners ordered suspended had "failed to reveal to the stock exchanges of which they were members the fact that they were acting for an undisclosed controling interest. Rather, they filed with the stock exchanges the partnership agreements which gave a misleading picture of the financing of the firm."

The commission said that evidence showed that Virgil Giannini "for all practical purposes, owned from 70 to 90 per cent of the firm," and that in addition he had advanced up to $120,000 as additional working capital.

The SEC began its inquiry April 26, 1939, against Charles De Y. Elkus, the Giannini family lawyer, and Clifford P. Hoffman, son-in-law of A. P. Giannini, in addition to those named in today's order.

EXCHANGE HIRES EXPERTS TO CURE TRADE SHRINKAGE

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—The New York Stock exchange has engaged outside experts to learn the reasons for the curtailment of trading on the exchange floor.

William McC. Martin Jr., president, nounced today that the engineering firm of Stevenson, Jordan & Harrison would undertake "a broad study of problems affecting the exchange and the securities business generally."

Trading volume has shown a considerable shrinkage in recent years, but brokers have become particularly discouraged over the decline of the last several weeks to the lowest volume since 1918.

"In this survey," said Martin, "the exchange will seek the solution, not only of problems which arise from time to time, but will also appraise conditions which have brought about a reduction in the volume of business, with the view of determining whether there are possible remedies."

The study is expected to include legislative and other influences thought to have a bearing on the situation.

M'LENNAN QUITS WARD BOARD; SON TO REPLACE HIM

Donald R. McLennan resigned as a director of Montgomery Ward & Co., the mail order and retail store enterprise, at the July meeting of the board of directors, company officials announced yesterday. McLennan, who is chairman of the board of Marsh & McLennan, Inc., insurance firm, is a director of many large corporations.

He is a substantial stockholder in Montgomery Ward, and upon his request, the management intends to recommend at the next meeting of the stockholders that his place be filled by the election of his son, Donald R. McLennan Jr., officials added.

The younger McLennan is vice president of Marsh & McLennan, Inc.

Protest Filed on Downtown Assessments

A complaint filed yesterday in behalf of 200 property owners charged that the county assessor has discriminated against properties in the central business district in the 1939 quadrennial reassessment. The complaint was submitted to the county board of appeals by Robert S. Cushman, attorney.

Cushman asserted that in proportion to actual sales prices of properties sold, parcels in the loop and nearby area were assessed 73 per cent higher than other real estate in Cook county. The central district cited is bounded by Roosevelt road on the south, the river on the north and west, and the lake on the east.

Results of Study Cited.

As evidence of the alleged discrimination, Cushman presented a study by Dr. Herbert D. Simpson, professor of public finance at Northwestern university. The study showed that 4,483 properties located thruout the county sold at bona fide sales in the first seven months of 1939 for a total of $25,813,881. The 1939 assessment of these properties by the assessor totaled $21,146,962, or 82 per cent of the sales value, according to the study.

Dr. Simpson cited, in contrast, the assessment of the 20 properties located in the central business district that were sold within one year of the 1939 assessment date. The total sales price of these parcels was $2,222,953, but they were assessed in 1939 at $3,156,249, or 142 per cent of their sales values, Dr. Simpson reported.

Terms Properties Overassessed.

"This study shows that on the basis of the sums that people are willing to pay for real estate, loop properties are being systematically and intentionally overassessed by the assessor in relation to other real estate," Cushman asserted. "This is a violation of the Illinois constitution, which requires all property to be taxed uniformly on the basis of its value."

Cushman asked the board of appeals members, Emmett Whealan and Paul Drymalski, to reduce the assessments to correct the alleged 73 per cent overassessment.

"This discrimination has been a big factor in adding to the large number of distress properties in the loop," Cushman said. "It has caused many buildings to be torn down, leaving vacant lots, and has discouraged new building."

The record of building permits, he said, shows that only 1.15 per cent of the $244,479,224 of building in Cook county since 1935 has been in the central business district, altho this area contains 12.5 per cent of the property values.

The board members said they would study the submitted evidence before ruling on the cases.

STANDARD GAS PLANS TO CLEAR BACK DIVIDENDS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 [Special].—A hearing before the Securities and Exchange commission on the recapitalization plan of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric company today revealed further details of the extensive refinancing plans of Standard Gas and Electric company which had been outlined to the commission.

The hearing was on the proposed exchange of 56 shares of San Diego's common stock for each $1,000 principal amount of notes or debentures of Standard Gas. A witness said San Diego's plan would cut that company's fixed charges and preferred dividends more than $150,000 a year.

A. L. Flynn, attorney for the company, said that Standard Gas is considering a recapitalization plan for itself to remove preferred stock dividend arrearages. He said the proposed exchange of San Diego common for Standard notes and debentures is a step in a program of compliance with the "death sentence" of the public utility holding company act. The plan will have the effect of separating San Diego from Standard.

The Walgreen company has reopened its store at 17 East Washington street, after complete remodeling, air conditioning, and new fixture installation. Twenty years ago the late Charles R. Walgreen opened his first loop drug store at this location. Now the company has 20 downtown stores and nearly 500 in a system extending from coast to coast.

GUIBERSONS, DIESEL ENGINE MAKERS, MOVE OFFICES TO CHICAGO

S. A. Guiberson Jr. and S. A. Guiberson III., developers of a Diesel engine which is now taking an important part in the national defense, have moved from Dallas, Tex., to Chicago, to be near the scene of their manufacturing operations, it was learned yesterday.

S. A. Guiberson III.

The Guiberson Diesel Engine company, which controls the patents and has the exclusive sales rights on the Guiberson type of Diesel engine, has opened offices at 310 South Michigan avenue, where it will make its headquarters. The Buda company at Harvey, Ill., builds the Guiberson engines under contract.

The Guiberson company recently received a $2,915,255 order for its radial air cooled engines for the army, making the fifth consecutive year that it has furnished engines to the army.

An affiliated organization, the Guiberson corporation, which makes oil tool supplies, will continue to maintain its headquarters in Dallas.

MANITOWOC FIRM REPORTED LIKELY TO BUILD 'SUBS'

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The Manitowoc Shipbuilding company at Manitowoc, Wis., is one of the numerous plants which may get navy ship construction contracts under the 70 per cent expansion program, navy officials said today.

They said officials of the company had conferred with the navy and with the national defense advisory commission, but that no definite action would be taken until funds were assured by final approval of the $5,000,000,000 second supplemental appropriation bill.

Informed sources here said the Manitowoc plant might build submarines. This was considered likely to involve coöperation with the Electric Boat company of Groton, Conn., the only civilian shipbuilding plant in the United States now equipped for submarine construction.

Officials of Manitowoc Shipbuilding company yesterday characterized as "premature" the report that it was planning to build submarines for the navy. They said they would not discuss the subject.

SENATE ADOPTS HOUSE APPROVED TRUST MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The senate passed today a house approved bill to regulate investment trusts under the Securities and Exchange commission. The measure, which now goes back to the house for action on a minor amendment, was drafted by the SEC in collaboration with members of the industry, some of whom had urged its enactment.

The bill would require registration of investment companies with the securities commission and submission of specified data and reports.

Regulatory provisions would include prohibitions against "self-dealing" between companies and between affiliated individuals, requirements for a proportion of independent directorships, a prohibition against basic changes in investment policy without consent of stockholders, and restrictions on dividend payments and stock issues.

BRITAIN EXCEEDS JAPAN IN SCRAP STEEL BUYING

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—Great Britain has displaced Japan as the leading foreign buyer of American iron and steel scrap, the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, Inc., reported today.

During the first six months of 1940, the institute said, the United Kingdom bought 459,449 gross tons of American scrap, compared with 154,401 in the 1939 period. Canada bought 156,370 tons, compared with 69,709.

Japan bought 411,383 tons, less than half the 1,034,521 tons purchased in the first six months of last year.

Exports of scrap to all nations were 1,469,543 tons, a decline of 19 per cent from the first half of 1939.

Canada's Farm 'Boom' in War Hitting Snags

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 8.—The Canadian farmer, who looked forward to a wartime agricultural boom, is in difficulties. The war has cut off the opportunity to export his surpluses, but he looks for some improvement in the future.

Tho Britain is relying on Canada for food to a greater extent than she did in the world war, and long term British contracts for bacon and cheese have been of great assistance to Canadian farmers; wheat, Canada's big crop, has suffered a setback.

The government has pegged the price of wheat at 70 cents, but with present crop prospects, there is fear that the actual price my drop well below 60 cents by the time the crop is harvested.

Face Elevator Congestion.

There is more than 250 million bushels of wheat in the country, and the dominion is faced with an acute elevator congestion, which can be relieved only, if the rate of movement overseas is speeded up.

Hitler's occupation of much of Europe has cut off the Canadian farmers from important export markets and there is no indication of the price situation improving. The British demand alone will not be sufficient to rid Canada of its food surpluses, it is said.

When the Germans marched into Denmark and cut off Britain's customary source of bacon, Canadian farmers felt certain that Britain would take all the bacon Canada could supply.

At that time the Canadian contract called for 5,600,000 pounds of bacon a week. It was expected that this would be increased to at least nine million pounds. For some weeks more than eight million pounds were shipped.

However, Canada is now back to the contract limit of 5,600,000 pounds and there is said to be no immediate likelihood of Britain increasing its demands.

Farmers' Hopes Dimmed.

The setback to the Canadian farmers' hopes came when Britain adopted a bacon ration of four ounces a week per person. Because some Britons do not eat bacon, the average demand is about three and one-quarter ounces per person. The Canadian supply provides half of the ration, and because British and Irish farmers are marketing seven million pounds of bacon in Britain on the basis of the ration requirements.

It is not expected, however, that Britain will be able to maintain feed supplies for all her livestock, and it is indicated that British hog marketings will be reduced by two-thirds. If this happens, the Canadian farmer will fare better, he believes.

Shortage of shipping space has affected the sale of other farm products to Britain. For instance it is not likely that space will be found this fall for apple shipments abroad.

The shipping troubles are intensifying research work to find new methods of packing. For instance when Britain limited the space allotted for dressed poultry, scientists devised a means of concentrating and canning chicken to pack the 28 per cent of dressed chicken that is edible and thus save the space occupied by the other 72 per cent.

Study Beef Packing Methods.

Similarly research workers hope to develop a method of packing beef to save all the waste space taken up by the inedible parts of the carcass.

Shipping beef and bacon is a much more economical use of space than shipping grains to feed animals in Britain, and the fact that Britain is preparing to reduce the number of her live stock is recognition of this fact.

In the same way there is increasing emphasis on shipping flour rather than wheat.

Fresh cheese is being sent to Britain in increasing quantities. The last order was for 48,400,000 pounds and Britain since has indicated she wanted all Canada could send. The contract price is 14 cents per pound, which compares with 10 cents at the beginning of the war.

150 MILLION RFC AID PLEDGED TO PLANE PLANTS

Jones Reveals 'Half a Dozen' Projects.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The Reconstruction Finance corporation has made informal commitments for loans of 150 to 200 million dollars to finance construction of new airplane factories, Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones disclosed today before the house banking and currency committee.

Jones said that these commitments were the result of recent discussions with William S. Knudsen, production coördinator for the national defense advisory commission. The money would be used to build about "half a dozen" plants, Jones said.

He said the commitments included 7 or 8 million dollars earmarked for the Packard Motor Car company to enable it to expand facilities for handling a contract for 9,000 British Rolls-Royce engines, of which the British are to get 6,000 and the United States 3,000. The rest of the money, he said, will be loaned to leading airplane companies.

Testifies on Bank Bill.

Jones made the disclosure while testifying on a bill to authorize a $500,000,000 expansion of the Export-Import bank's lending capital, partly to finance loans to Central and South American countries.

The bill also would enable the RFC to issue new notes to handle national defense loans. A similar bill in the senate has restricted the RFC'S national defense loans to 1 billion dollars.

Commitments for between 700 and 800 millions in national defense loans have been made already, Jones said, adding that he had not expected the amounts to be so high. These loans include 70 millions for purchase of raw rubber, for which purpose 100 millions more is under negotiation.

Wright to Get Loan.

Other defense commitments which Jone enumerated included $92,000,000 to the Wright Aeronautical corporation and $50,800,000 to the Reynolds Metal company for construction of an aluminum plant.

Such commitments, Jones said, reduced the RFC's capital available for other purposes. He added he did not believe it good policy to permit the agency to continue with curtailed capitalization.

Jones indicated that if other units of the federal loan agency, such as the Export-Import bank, were given additional funds, it would ease the load on the RFC.

JURY TO HEAR UTILITY SLUSH FUND CHARGES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The justice department announced today that it would undertake grand jury investigations of the alleged use of political slush funds by public utilities companies at St. Louis, Springfield, Ill., Des Moines, Ia., and "perhaps in other federal judicial districts."

The companies to be investigated were listed by the department as Union Electric company of Missouri, Illinois-Iowa Power company, and Missouri Power and Light company, all subsidiaries in the North American company holding system.

The department asserted that its action was based on information obtained during a Securities and Exchange commission investigation of Union Electric and also on testimoney at the trial in St. Louis of Frank J. Boehm, former vice president of the company. He was convicted of perjury and sentenced to five years in prison because of false testimony during the commission's inquiry.

WARNER-SWASEY, TOOL FIRM, FILES STOCK FOR SALE

INSURANCE MEN AWAIT REPORT ON MONOPOLY PROBE

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Executives of life insurance companies are awaiting with interest the release of a report that has been prepared by Leon Henderson on the insurance testimony taken by the Temporary National Economic [monopoly] committee.

Leon Henderson.

Henderson is a member of the Securities and Exchange commission and SEC representative on the monopoly committee. Like other New Dealers who participated in the insurance inquiry he is said to have been irked by the plank inserted in the Democratic platform urging retention of state control of insurance.

New Deal adherents who have been active in seeking to build up a case for federal regulation are said to feel that the insurance companies put something over in getting a pledge for state regulation in the Democratic platform.

Henderson, it was said, was prompted to prepare his report on the results of the insurance probe in an effort to neutralize the effect of the platform plan. It is now a question whether the report will be made public. It was originally planned that the results of the insurance inquiry would not be made public until after the election in November. However, Henderson is reported anxious to release his report, but has met opposition from other members of the monopoly committee.

Inquiry in Washington disclosed that a copy of the Henderson report is now in the hands of Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], chairman of the monopoly committee.

O'Mahoney, in response to an inquiry, said he has not had time to look over the Henderson report, but that he is informed that it does not contain any recommendations or "anything exciting." He added that he doesn't know when the report will be made public.

An indication of what may lie ahead if long range economic planning remains in fashion after November is provided by the proposal of Stuart Chase for a "permanent" Public Works administration. Chase believes that we should have two public works programs. One would be a flexible program, patterned after the present Works Projects administration, whose operations would expand in bad times and shrink in good times.

The second, permanent PWA, would serve another purpose—that of shifting part of the national income to prevent "too large" a share of it from going into savings.

"An annual expenditure of two to three billion dollars is suggested provisionally," he says. "Most of this will be spent in loans or grants to state and local governments, which will contribute part of the cost."

Chase believes that "most good nonclassical economists" are in agreement on such a program. In sketching his plan he gives part credit for the ideas it incorporates to A. A. Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state, and Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board.

FREIGHT VOLUME STEADY IN WEEK; ABOVE YEAR AGO

Railroads in the United States loaded 718,430 cars of revenue freight last week, 59 cars less than in the preceding week, but 61,877 cars, or 9.4 per cent, more than in the corresponding week a year ago, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Total carloadings failed to make their usual seasonal gain as advances in miscellaneous freight and less than carload merchandise were offset by a 5,110 car decline in grain shipments.

Loadings of the various commodities compare as follows:

FOREIGN ASSETS MAY BE HELD ON DUE WAR DEBTS

Morgenthau Hints Default Action.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The possibility that the United States will hold frozen foreign assets for payment on long defaulted world war debts to this country was cited today by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

He asserted that until war debt matters are settled, no action will be taken to release the assets impounded by this government when the Germans invaded the countries affected. This stand will be a shock particularly to France, whose war debt amounted to $4,220,063,473 on July 1. French frozen assets in the United States are estimated at between 1 and 2 billion dollars.

The other countries whose assets might be used to offset debts are: Belgium, with a war debt of $461,781,161; Estonia, with a debt of $21,612,594; Latvia, with a debt of $8,912,019, and Lithuania, whose world war debt to the United States is $7,980,148. The American funds of the Netherlands, Denmark, and Norway have also been frozen but they are not war debtors.

Await French Developments.

Morgenthau said particularly that before French funds are released he wants to see "what happens to American investments and debts over there."

"Until we know more about what's going to happen and more about the debt question, we're sitting on these funds," he asserted.

What the administration probably fears is that the new Petain authoritarian government in France may repudiate the world war debt, just as post-war dictators in other countries have done.

When asked whether the President's impounding regulations also applied to money sent to Germany, Morgenthau said: "No, any amount of money can be sent to Germany, and there is nothing we can do about it. It's silly, but we are at peace with Germany and cannot do anything about its funds."

Doubt Over Ownership.

The funds of the other countries were frozen, he said, not necessarily because they were at war but because they were invaded, and some doubt might arise about the ownership of funds held here. That is why the treasury must license every transaction in the impounded funds and ascertain that the rightful owner has authorized the transaction without duress.

Morgenthau said that he had received no advices from the state department on disposal of the funds or any change in recognition of the French government. [There is also a French refugee government functioning in London].

Concerning the statement yesterday of Arthur B. Purvis, head of the British purchasing mission in this country, that Great Britain was preparing to spend hundreds of millions of dollars on American tanks and artillery, Morgenthau said that British tank experts are advising army officials on tank construction and design.

Tank Expert Given Aid.

He said they have given the war department valuable information on technical problems. Morgenthau asserted that Gen. D. H. Pratt, British tank expert, who is attached to the commission and who commanded a tank battalion in the battle of Flanders, is giving the army the benefit of his experience.

Concerning the British order for tanks, Morgenthau said that "we will not have a two-tank program; if they are going to buy them they must take our tanks."

Court Postpones Hearing in Hopson Contempt Case

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 8.—A hearing for Howard C. Hopson, former head of the billion dollar Associated Gas and Electric system was postponed in supreme court today until Aug. 28. Hopson is required to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt for refusing to submit to examination in a stockholders suit.

New York Stocks.

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—The stock market put on another dull performance today and prices moved narrowly with gains and losses about evenly divided. At no time did the list work up even a semblance of animation and at the close the Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 42.4.

The turnover of 206,390 shares compared with 239,690 the day before. Actually, it was a new low since July 24, when the total hit a 22 year bottom.

The consensus among brokers was that today's snaillike performance, like those of recent weeks, was due to the persistent dislike of speculative forces to take on any sizable commitments pending more assurances the British can repel a Nazi invasion. Claims and counterclaims from Europe kept Wall street guessing.

Doubts regarding a national tax program still were seen as a buying restraint because of the lack of any real indication as to how the bill will get thru congress. Business news, including highly favorable earnings statements, dividends and armament awards, seemingly was without stimulation marketwise.

Moderate improvement was retained by such stocks as Republic Steel, Chrysler, Yellow Truck, Studebaker, Sears-Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, United Air Craft, Sperry, Santa Fe, New York Central, Great Northern, Standard Oil of New Jersey, and American Telephone.

At a standstill were General Motors, United States Steel, Montgomery Ward, General Electric and Consolidated Edison. On the offside a trifle were Bethlehem, Youngstown, United States Rubber, Anaconda, Kennecott, North American, Westinghouse, du Pont and Southern Railway.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—The bond market closed higher today, with gains in the corporate list ranging from fractions to about a point. The improvement failed to attract buying and transactions at $2,953,100 were the smallest since Aug. 14 last. They were $3,521,000 yesterday.

Issues moving ahead included Alleghany 5s of '49, Armour 4s of '55, Bethlehem Steel 3¼s, Pacific Gas 3¼s, International Telephone 5s, Chesapeake & Ohio 3½s, Illinois Central 4¼s, and Nickel Plate 4½s.

Retreating slightly were American Telephone 3¼s of '66, Continental Oil 2¾s, National Dairy 3¾s, and New York Central 5s.

Many foreign dollar loans were improved and Belgian issues were particularly strong. The 7s of '55, on sale of a single bond, closed at 55, up 10, while the 6½s of '49 at 55 added 5.

United States governments closed 8-32ds of a point lower to 2-32ds higher.

Chicago Stocks.

Prices were mixed on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Trading totaled 12,000 shares, the same as on Wednesday. Of the 63 active issues, 22 advanced, 19 declined, and 22 were unchanged. Mickleberry's Food Products, the volume leader, closed at 4¼, up ¼ point.

Bank Stocks.

Harris Trust shares advanced two points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Other leading issues were unchanged.

PLANE OUTPUT UP TO RATE OF 10,800 A YEAR

Knudsen Tells Progress of Rearming Effort.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—William S. Knudsen, production chief of the national defense advisory commission, reported to the nation tonight that United States production of war planes had reached a rate of 10,800 a year and would pass the 18,000 a year mark by next January.

He made this report of progress toward President Roosevelt's goal of 50,000 planes a year in a nation-wide radio broadcast.

Members Give "Accounting."

This broadcast, in which Knudsen and other members of the commission gave a detailed accounting of the defense program, closely followed publication of a commission report showing that its production division had cleared $1,792,000,000 of army and navy contracts in the last two months.

[The advisory commission in "clearing" a contract certifies that it finds no conflict will arise in production orders from other service branches, and otherwise approves procedure. This leaves to the army or navy the final function of approving the contract.]

Rate Now 900 Planes a Month.

In response to a question about plane production, Knudsen said: "Present production is approximately 900 planes a month. By Jan. 1 the number will have risen to 1,500 planes a month, and the volume will increase steadily thereafter. You might also be interested in knowing that last January 56,800 people were employed in aircraft factories. Today the number is nearer 75,000."

Other commission officials said that the present production of 900 planes a month and the expected production of 1,500 next January included the planes being made in this country for Britain.

Knudsen denied that no combat planes had been contracted for out of money appropriated by congress up to Aug. 1, declaring the navy had contracted for $7,000,000 worth of such planes in July.

Much of Money Committed.

"I would like to add," Knudsen continued, "that of money made available to us on July 1, five weeks ago, contracts have already been awarded for 45 per cent of the entire army funds and 75 per cent of the navy's funds."

Knudsen was asked whether sufficient equipment would be available for an army of 400,000 men this fall, in the event the compulsory service law is passed, or other measures are enacted to create such a force.

"If you mean uniforms, other clothing and general equipment, the answer is yes," he said, apparently ignoring the question of guns.

Knudsen was asked when deliveries could be expected on the combat material in which the commission was interested.

"I expert that the tooling up process will more or less take up the balance of this fall," he replied, "but by January substantial deliveries of most of the material should commence and by the spring of 1941 production should be going at a good rate."

DAIRY GROUP PLANS ADVERTISING DRIVE TO INCREASE SALES

The American Dairy association announced yesterday that it will spend a quarter of a million dollars in the next six months on advertising to promote the sale of milk, butter, cheese, and ice cream. Plans are to start the advertising in September, using both newspapers and radio.

A. H. Lauterbach.

The association, supported at present by contributions from dairy interests in 10 states, was incorporated last spring by leaders from the various dairy trade organizations. Some states have passed tax laws to support the advertising program, while in others contributions are voluntary. A. H. Lauterbach, Chicago, a member of the executive committee, said yesterday the association would open its main office in Chicago soon.

"This type of program has been a dream of the dairy industry for many years," D. T. Carlson, Willmar, Minn., president of the association, said in announcing the advertising program. "It is believed that in a short time practically all of the dairy states will be participating members of the association."

REVEAL PROMISE TO RUBBER FIRMS ON TRUST LAWS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 [Special].—Before the recent formation of the Rubber Reserve company by Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, the department of justice agreed it would not prosecute participating rubber companies under the antitrust laws, it was learned today.

This was the only application to date of the agreement made by Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division of the justice department, that groups of companies would not be prosecuted for violation of the antitrust laws where a responsible department of the government certified that their actions were necessary for national defense.

Arnold visited Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. in May and agreed to the plan of certification which was resorted to for the first time in the case of the rubber industry.

The Rubber Reserve company was formed July 1 to accumulate reserve stocks of crude rubber for use in the defense program.

54,000 IN CHICAGO BUILD EQUIPMENT FOR TRANSPORT

Approximately 54,000 workers are engaged in production of transportation equipment in the Chicago area, according to a study made by the industrial department of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The findings were reported in a brochure entitled "Progress in Chicago Industrial Area."

Of the workers, 35,000 are engaged in automobile, truck, bus, tractor, and trailer production, more than 10,400 in building railway cars, 3,000 in building locomotives, and more than 6,000 in the production of railway supplies.

The report said that many of the plants employing these workers can contribute to the manufacture of military transport equipment, including tanks. The brochure has been mailed to more than 5,000 companies thruout the country with a view to acquainting them with the advantages of locating in Chicago.

NLRB ORDERS FORD TO ASSURE END OF 'VIOLENCE'

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The Ford Motor company, with branch plants in more than a dozen states, was ordered by the National Labor Relations Board today to post notices to employes in all plants that it would refrain from discouraging unionism by "physical violence" or "espionage."

The order was based, the board said, on a finding that the company had engaged in a "war" against union organization in the Dallas, Tex., plant. This campaign, the board alleged, was "formulated, directed, approved and ratified" by the Ford "policy makers" in the Dearborn, Mich., main office.

HEAVY BUILDING DIPS, BUT TOPS YEAR AGO MARK

New York, Aug. 8 (AP).—Engineering construction contracts awarded during the week ended yesterday, totaling $76,453,000, were smaller than in the preceding week but exceeded their corresponding 1939 values for the fifth consecutive week, Engineering News-Record reported today.

Federal defense spending for increased power output and military housing were largely responsible for the gain over a year ago, the publication said.

Comparisons follow:

	Latest week.	Prev. week.	Year ago.
Private	$11,682,000	$14,388,000	$15,725,000
State and mu'pal	24,213,000	45,778,000	40,235,000
Federal	40,558,000	29,436,000	18,474,000
Total	76,453,000	89,602,000	74,434,000

Engineering construction contracts for July, totaling $347,852,000, were the highest for any month since March, 1930, and the largest on record for July. Federal awards for defense projects made up about half the month's total and were the greatest ever reported.

CELANESE FILES 25 MILLION ISSUE OF DEBENTURES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 [Special].—Celanese Corporation of America late today filed with th Securities and Exchange commission a registration statement covering $25,000,000 of 3 per cent debentures, due Aug. 1, 1955, to be sold thru an underwriting group headed by Dillon, Read & Co., and Glore, Forgan & Co.

Of the net proceeds Celanese will use $10,550,000 to redeem at 105½ per cent $10,000,000 principal amount of 3 2-3 per cent sinking fund debentures due Sept. 1, 1948.

The statement revealed the company expects to spend about 14 million dollars on expansion within the next two years.

Application for Auburn Delisting Set for Hearing

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission today set Aug. 30 for a hearing on the application of the Chicago Stock exchange to strike from listing and registration common stock of the Auburn Automobile company. The hearing will be at Chicago offices of the SEC. The exchange application said that under a plan of reorganization all of the property, assets, and business of the company had been transferred to a new corporation, the Auburn Central Manufacturing corporation.

MONOPOLY QUIZ ON 'BOTTLENECK' IN ARMS BARED

Alleged Price Controls Linked to German Firms.

New York, Aug. 8.—[Special].—Application of the Sherman anti trust laws to at least 10 industries engaged in the production of vital defense materials in an effort to break down an alleged price bottleneck was indicated here today when Samuel S. Isseks, special assistant to the attorney general, admitted that a special federal grand jury has been engaged since July 11 in a wide investigation of industrial monopolies.

The special grand jury is said to be engaged in an exhaustive investigation of practices in "war industries" which allegedly are hampering national defense preparations. Patent exchange agreements with German companies are reported to exist which make it possible to delay and limit the scope of rearmament.

Refuses to Tell Plans.

Isseks refused to discuss any of the matters under investigation.

His commission as a special prosecutor, signed by Attorney General Robert Jackson and filed in a federal court, however, revealed that he and his staff had been authorized to make inquiries into the production of machine tools, glass and glass fabrication, chemicals, insulation, metal and metal alloys, road building supplies, foundry supplies, pneumatic and electrical tools and various other industries whose products are necessary, directly or indirectly, to the rearming of the United States.

Krupp Works Involved.

From other sources it was learned that the investigation has already turned up evidence said to indicate that in at least three of the industries, concerned directly with airplane production, monopoly and price control are made possible thru cross-licensing agreements with German corporations, including the Krupp steel works in Essen.

The Sherman law recently was used to break up a similar alleged monopoly maintained by agreement between Bausch & Lomb Optical company of this country and Carl Zeiss of Germany in the production of military and naval precision instruments. Isseks was in charge of that case, obtaining a consent decree.

The existence of the new investigation also was revealed in Washington by Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold. He mentioned, among other things, the subject of a special magnesium alloy, one-third lighter than aluminum alloys and of special importance to the aircraft industry.

Control of Alloy Charged.

Control of production of this alloy in the United States has resulted in a price which has made its use almost prohibitive on government aircraft contracts, it was alleged.

The federal investigation also is concerned with an alleged monopoly in the production of special high speed cutting tools tipped with a tungsten carbide alloy. Small parts manufacturers with considerable machining to do have estimated that installation of these tools would add as much as 40 per cent to production costs on certain types of government contracts.

These tools are used extensively in various industries and in government arsenals and federal investigators consider the cost too high.

Other subjects being looked into include a certain type of airplane fabric which is controled by one manufacturing group, an aviation instrument which might become a bottleneck on production of planes unless it can be more generally manufactured, and various synthetic materials made under ironclad patents.

RESERVE BANK REPORTS

Monetary gold stocks of the nation climbed another 105 millions during the week to an all time record high of 20 billion 568 millions.

OIL PRODUCTION IN ILLINOIS TOPS FULL 1939 TOTAL

6 New Pools Opened During July.

Illinois oil fields, with less than two-thirds of the year gone, have already produced more petroleum than during all of last year, the state geological survey's monthly oil and gas drilling report showed yesterday.

Production for the first seven months was 92,490,000 barrels, the report estimated. This coupled with the average daily flow of more than 400,000 barrels in the first week of August, raised the total for the year beyond 1939 production of 94,302,000 barrels.

July Output Below June's.

July production was estimated at 14,287,000 barrels, against 14,652,000 in June. Oil exploration during July resulted in the successful completion of 251 new wells, six of them opening new pools, in Wayne, Montgomery, White, Jasper, and Hamilton counties.

After the report was completed, two other pools were opened in Bond and White counties. Of the wells completed successfully last month, 58 were in Marion county, 46 were in Clinton, and 45 in Fayette.

6,898 Wells Completed.

On August 1, 6,898 producing wells had been completed in the new Illinois development, 432 drilling operations were under way and locations for 48 new ventures had been made.

The report said 1,880 successful oil and gas wells have been brought in thruout the state in the first seven months of the year.

SALES, ASSETS OF FEDERAL LIFE CLIMB THIS YEAR

Federal Life Insurance company, 168 North Michigan avenue, yesterday reported sharp increases in sales, assets, and life insurance in force during the first half of 1940.

"Assets reached $17,725,000 on June 30, an increase of approximately one half million dollars during the six months," L. D. Cavanaugh, president, said. He reported 58.4 per cent more life insurance and 20.2 per cent more accident and health insurance was written by the company during the period than in the corresponding period last year.

Cavanaugh attributed the gain in part to new policy plans. Federal recently introduced a policy to insure all members of a family under one contract.

GENERAL MOTORS CONSUMER SALES FOR JULY 154,064

General Motors corporation reported yesterday that sales of General Motors cars and trucks to consumers in the United States totaled 154,064 units in July, compared with 102,031 in July, 1939, and with 172,212 in June of this year. For the first seven months of this year sales to consumers totaled 1,086,885, compared with 802,492 in the first seven months of 1939.

NEAR NORTH SIDE
In summer it's great to get away for week-ends, but when you come back on Monday it helps to know that you have a studio apartment with a porch or balcony overlooking a fountain in the court yard below, or a roof to climb up to where you can still be out in the fresh air. Our living rooms are wonderful—some 2 stories high, others very deep, with north and south light. One apt. is like a little house, with the bedrooms on the second floor. Some of these are furnished. Also some very low cost studio apts. All of these have special prices during the summer, and are down here near the loop, where you can walk to and from your office and where there are so many interesting things which you can enjoy and still have time for a good night's sleep.

TO RENT—FURNISHED APARTMENTS.

NEAR NORTH SIDE
In summer it's great to get away for week-ends, but when you come back on Monday it helps to know that you have a studio apartment with a porch or balcony overlooking a fountain in the courtyard below, or a roof to climb up to where you can still be out in the fresh air. How about a living room 2 stories high with 2 bedrooms and 2 baths, or an apt. that's like a little house where up a little stair are the bedrooms on the second floor. The latter can be rented from Sept. 1st to Dec. 1st, or for a year. Both are down here near the loop, where you can walk to and from your office and where there are so many interesting things which you can enjoy and still have time for a good night's sleep.
